Mercy Probes Deaths Of Two Surgical Patients

Benton Harbor Mercy Hospital announced today that the inadvertent administration of a quantity of nitrous oxide may have contributed to the deaths last month of two surgical patients and the serious condition of a third.

Announcement was made by C.T. Loftus, executive vice president of Mercy, who said the matter remains under investigation.

Loftus said nitrous oxide was administered in surgery instead of oxygen as intended because supply lines of the two gases were exchanged inadvertently during reassembly after repair work.

Nitrous oxide is an anesthetic commonly known as laughing gas.

The deceased patients were Dolores Crayton, 43, of Benton Harbor, who died Oct. 27, and Michael Golden, of Baraga, Mich., who died Oct. 28. Golden had been injured Sept. 6 in a traffic accident.

Loftus identified the patient in serious condition as Octavia

Smith, 66, of Benton Harbor.

Loftus said a surgical equipment column which houses lines that supply oxygen and nitrous oxide for use in surgical procedures had been opened earlier to repair a plugged vacuum line also located in the column.

In the process of reassembling the column, the oxygen and nitrous oxide supply lines were interchanged inadvertently, Loftus said. He added that the manufacturer of the column had not designed the equipment to prevent such an occurrence. The repair work was done by Mercy maintenance staff.

The lines were properly reconnected as soon as it was discovered they had been interchanged.

Loftus said relatives of the three patients have been advised of the circumstances by him and Samuel Henderson, the hospital's legal counsel.

Mercy Hospital has a total of five operating rooms. Four others were not affected.

Medal Of Honor Winners Cheered By Youngsters

By JOHN C. EAGAN
Associated Press Writer

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The 167 men seemed to blend into the crowd for the Veterans Day parade. But what set them apart — and held them together — was the blue ribbon around each man's neck with the nation's highest award for courage in battle — the Medal of Honor.

The men, gathered in San Jose for a semi-annual meeting of the Medal of Honor Society, watched Friday's parade and also took part in it.

They rode in a collection of convertible automobiles, smiling and waving to the 5,000 spectators along an eight-block route of downtown streets.

Children and adults waved back. Two jet fighters and a military helicopter flew by in salute.

Thomas A. Pope of Woodland Hills, Calif., the first Army man to receive the medal in World War I, was delighted with the response of young people in the crowd.

"I'm a patriot, and if we can get the kids to think right about this country, it's going to be a better country," Pope said.

Although the federal legal holiday was observed Oct. 24, many groups throughout the nation held Veterans Day activities on the traditional Nov. 11 date.

It was an especially memorable day for the men who were given the nation's highest military honor by Congress for risking their lives in combat "beyond the call of duty."

Medal recipients, including 61-year-old Leonard A. Fink of Pittsburgh, said the award had benefits other than a feeling of pride.

"It changed my life completely," said Fink, a retired Veterans Administration worker who had been cited for his participation in the Battle of the Bulge Jan. 29, 1945.

"I get into places I never would have without it," Fink said. "I was decorated by Truman and have met every president since then."

But Phil C. Katz, who will be 90 next month, was less moved. "It's just something I did," he said.

What he did, in fact, was climb out of a trench in the Argonne on Sept. 26, 1918, dodging heavy German machine gun fire, he went to rescue his wounded buddy, Phil Page.

When Page told him to go back, Katz recalled that he replied, "Go to hell." He then dragged Page to safety.

Medal winner Maj. Jim Taylor, 39, remains on active duty as executive officer for Army recruiting in San Francisco.

"I'm extremely proud, but I have tried not to let it affect my life," he said, adding: "What makes this country greater than others is that in combat, the American soldier will rise to the occasion."

The society, with 286 living members, will present its Patriot Award tonight to actor James Stewart, who was decorated with the Distinguished Flying Cross as an Army Air Corps pilot in World War II.

Two Head-On Crashes Kill 10

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two head-on crashes in Michigan claimed the lives of 10 people.

Meensta County authorities are attempting to piece together details of a head-on collision on a gravel road that claimed five lives.

Locating and notifying relatives of the victims prevented sheriff's deputies from releasing any names early today.

The dead, all Meensta County residents, included a man in his 30s and four teenagers, deputies said.

The lone survivor of the crash was rushed to a Grand Rapids hospital where his condition remained serious early today, deputies said.

It was not immediately known whether the survivor was among four persons in one of the cars involved, or two in the other.

The accident was the second five-fatality accident to occur in Michigan Friday.

Five Traverse City area residents enroute to a funeral in Muskegon died when their car crossed the centerline of snow-slick Michigan 37 and collided with a truck.

Also Friday, Jacqueline Underhill, 21, Rapid City, was killed when her car was struck broadside by a police car racing to the scene of what turned out to be a very minor fire.

And, a 17-year-old Petoskey youth was killed Friday night when he over-corrected his steering after his car ran off Michigan 131 in Emmet County, slid over the centerline and collided with a second car. State police identified the victim as Timothy Piest.

Sample Of Winter Slicks Area Roads

By ALAN AREND

And ASSOCIATED PRESS

The season's first measurable snowfall hit southwestern Michigan during the night and early this morning, dropping one to five inches over the area and making roads dangerously slick.

Area police agencies reported a rash of minor auto accidents in the wake of the late-effect snow. Over 50 minor tender-benders were reported.

Cass County appeared for the hardest by the storm as road commission officials reported 3.5 inches had fallen in the northwest section of the county and 2.3 in the southeast section. Work crews were out at 5 a.m.

Two to three inches of snow hit the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph area early this morning as near blizzard conditions prevailed. The remainder of Berrien County also received from one to three inches. Van Buren County generally received from one to two inches and western Allegan County about one inch.

At 7 a.m., the state police post at Wayland in northeast Allegan County reported no snow had fallen there.

The winter-like conditions were not expected to last, the Associated Press reported. The National Weather Service forecast a gradual warming trend beginning Sunday and continuing until Wednesday.

The area's first measurable snowfall came one week later than last year's.

The Associated Press reported most of the state was buffeted with snow and high winds Friday as 11 people died in traffic accidents blamed in part on hazardous road conditions.

The highest official snowfall was seven inches reported at Herman in Baraga County on the Upper Peninsula, but estimates at Palmer, a mining community south of Marquette, ranged from 8-12 inches.

Transportation around the Marquette area was nearly paralyzed. Schools there closed Friday. The last scheduled North Central Airlines flight into Marquette Airport was able to get only as far as Green Bay, Wis. Thursday night. Two inbound and outbound flights from Marquette had to be canceled Friday.

Gale warnings were in effect on all the Great Lakes. The Coast Guard was urging ships to use extreme caution in channels in western Lake Erie.

Interstate I-75 turned into a sheet of ice in the Royal Oak, Troy and Madison Heights area near Detroit.

In Milwaukee, 30 searchers planned to resume trading through three-foot snowdrifts looking for two farmers missing since the season's first blizzard raged through the Upper Midwest on Tuesday.

Temperatures overnight were in the low 20s throughout southwestern Michigan. Nationally they ranged from one degree at International Falls, and Warroad, Minn., to 60 at Key West, Fla.

Ohio caught the brunt of an overnight storm that left parts of the state's northeast buried under up to a foot of wind-whipped snow, the wire service reported.

Snow squalls also swept the eastern shores of Lakes Ontario and Erie and the eastern and southern shores of Lake Michigan.

Michigan.

Lake and Genoa counties in Ohio were hit with a foot of snow, winds gusting to more than 40 mph and sub-freezing temperatures.

"It was bad for about four hours... We're still getting cars out of ditches," a police dispatcher in Chardon, Ohio, said.

Heavy-snow warnings remained up today for portions of northeastern Ohio and northwestern Pennsylvania. Travelers' advisories were out for extreme northwestern Indiana and much of western New York.

Skies were generally clear over the remainder of the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

Clouds increased over the West as a new cold front moved into the inter-mountain region. Rain showers, with snow at higher elevations, were scattered over the northern Pacific Coast and in the northern Rockies.

Some other reports: Anchorage 13 cloudy, Atlanta 37 clear, Bismarck 22 fair, Boston

41 clear, Chicago 28 clear, Cincinnati 26 clear, Denver 42 cloudy, Des Moines 27 clear, Detroit 30 clear, Fort Worth 44 fair, Indianapolis 28 clear, Kansas City 29 clear, Los Angeles 61 clear, Louisville 35 clear, Miami 60 cloudy, Minneapolis-St. Paul 22 clear, New York 39 clear, Philadelphia 34 clear, Phoenix 65 cloudy, Pittsburgh 32 cloudy, Rapid City 29 fair, St. Louis 26 clear, St. Louis 30 clear, San Francisco 35 cloudy, Seattle 48 rain, Washington 41 clear.

Dynamite-Filled Train Explodes

By M.H. AHN
Associated Press Writer

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Rescue workers dug through the rubble of 3,500 buildings in the city of Iri today looking for more victims of the huge dynamite explosion that killed at least 52 persons, injured 1,440 and caused an estimated $10 million damage.

President Park Chung-hee flew from Seoul 120 miles south to Iri, where 30 tons of dynamite in a parked freight train blew up Friday night in what officials called the worst peacetime blast in South Korean history. Park ordered an estimated $10 million allocated for relief and reconstruction.

Officials said the explosion left at least 14,000 of Iri's 120,000 residents homeless and 40 percent of the buildings in the city were destroyed or damaged.

Most structures within one-half mile of the railroad station, the scene of the blast, were flattened or suffered severe damage. The station was razed and about 30 freight cars torn apart.

Many of the injured were listed in critical condition and hospitals were faced with a serious shortage of blood. The Korean

Red Cross appealed for donations.

Police said the cause of the explosion was under investigation. Witnesses said the blast, which left a crater 60 feet deep, occurred a few minutes after a train ran from a freight car about 9 p.m. screaming, "Fire, fire."

Police said the train, which was headed by the Korea Explosives Co. of Incheon to oversee its dynamite shipment, told them he saw flames in the engine of a freight car carrying the explosive and other chemicals.

The car had stopped at the Iri railroad station on its way to Kwangju, 60 miles south, where the dynamite was to be sold to mining and construction companies.

All hospitals and clinics in Iri were filled with victims and many casualties were sent to nearby towns for treatment, officials said. About 300 doctors and 1,000 soldiers were dispatched to the stricken city to assist in rescue operations. The army and Korean Red Cross set up medical relief stations in the city.

Gen. John Vessey, the top American Army commander in South Korea, offered assistance to the rescue operation.

The Education Ministry ordered all schools closed temporarily.

The blast, heard as far as 10 miles away, tore the roof from a nearby theater where 700 persons were listening to a Korean singer. Fifteen bodies were found there.

Police limited by the explosion were brought under control in about two hours with the help of firemen sent in from two adjacent cities. Power and water supplies also were disrupted.

NOW YOU'LL KNOW WHERE STATE TAXES ARE GOING

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — It won't make paying your taxes any more fun, but under a new law you'll be told just where all that money is going. A bill signed into law by Gov. William Milliken requires state income tax forms to describe how the state spends taxpayers' money.

The law requires a summary of state spending and revenues for the most recent fiscal year be printed in the tax instruction booklet. It would outline expenditures and revenues by major categories and in dollars and percentage totals. The bill was sponsored by Rep. Gilbert DiNello, D-East Detroit, and cleared the Legislature easily.

"The taxpayers of Michigan — the people who pay the bills — certainly have the right to examine our books," Milliken said Friday.

"This annual report to the people should provide the basic information people want in a manner that is convenient for all involved and is relatively inexpensive," Milliken said the report would add about $80,000 to the current $500,000 cost of printing tax instruction booklets.

Big Brother Leaning On Twin City Hospitals

Last September 23, as part of the Carter Administration's plan to hold the inflation in health care cost to 9 per cent a year, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced 33 goals to achieve that objective.

Goal No. 22 declares a hospital having a sophisticated heart treatment program should perform a minimum of 22 open heart operations or procedures as the surgeon prefers to call his work a year.

No. 22 then goes on to state that if the volume goes past 350 procedures, another surgical unit becomes justified.

The reasoning in the HEW order is that the cost to the patient and to Uncle Sam who foots the bill for medicare and medicaid applicants should be lower in a high volume system than in a low volume unit.

On November 21, the Southwest Michigan Health Systems Agency, an arm of HEW, is scheduled to hold a public hearing on a recommendation by its Health Services subcommittee that Mercy hospital's open heart surgical unit be closed down and its patient load be shifted to Borgess hospital at Kalamazoo.

Health Systems is a regional advisory body covering eight counties from Battle Creek westerly to Lake Michigan.

Currently the Borgess unit is close to the 350 maximum listed in Goal No. 22.

This year Mercy's unit is expected to perform about 70 procedures.

Its patient load comes principally from Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties, although in the past 12 months a number of cases have started to come in from northern Indiana.

While the administration at Mercy and its parent corporation, the Southwest Michigan Health Care Association, which also runs Memorial hospital at St. Joseph, admits the unit can stand more business, the function more than pays its own way now and contributes to the overall financial stability of the Association.

If the opinions from the doctors referring their patients to Mercy and those of the patients count for anything, the local function is delivering a first rate service.

Should the subcommittee's recommendation be finalized, the following results will be inevitable.

Borgess which already has a major building expansion under way will have to find more money for a second surgical unit.

The facility at Mercy which cost several hundred thousands of dollars to build and equip will stand idle unless the Southwest Association can dig up more funds to convert it to another use.

The patients and their families now treated in the three-county area will have to travel farther, spend extra money for gasoline, food and lodging, not to mention the mental anxiety arising from long distance treatment between home and hospital.

The excellent cadre of surgeons, technicians and specially trained nurses now running Mercy's unit will scatter to the winds. With them may depart some of the other medical people attracted to our area because of the unit's availability.

The Southwest Association will lose the revenue generated by the unit. The only way to cover that gap is to raise the rates on the other services left to Memorial and Mercy.

Implicit in Goal No. 22 and the other 32 in the HEW outline is the threat to cut off medicare and medicaid to hospitals defying a closure order.

HEW has yet to state that principle in so many words, but the message is plain to see.

Down the road is the very apparent implication that Mercy's open heart unit is not the only species on the endangered list. Any hospital providing specialized care and treatment will have to measure up to a volume requirement.

If this ridiculous recommendation by the subcommittee stands up, the Twin City area shortly will be receiving poorer medical service and paying more for it.

Private Sector Spending Better For Economy

A member of Congress once noted that the only way high taxes could be cut was simply to cut them and worry about budget spending levels later. That advice was given into the days when the federal budget deficit was less than $5 billion annually.

With the deficit now expanded to between $60 billion and $70 billion a year, the stimulating effect of a tax cut — even without the cut — already is built into the budget. That does not mean that a tax cut now in response to the slower growth of the gross national product in the third quarter should not be considered.

A transition occurs in the spending power of a dollar when it is taken in taxes from the wage earner and handed to government. Most individuals are careful about their spending habits and try to maximize the value of their purchases.

Government spending is less cautious and adds a service charge to boot. It thus has a greater effect on inflationary pressures, and frequently creates new obligations for future expenditures.

Another HUD Reshuffling

In Washington, it is something of a standard joke that when an agency doesn't know what to do, it reorganizes. Whatever critics may think of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, they will agree on one point, the agency certainly knows how to reorganize.

It ought to be. For the 28th time in eight years HUD is reorganizing. This time the chairs may be shuffled a bit more extensively than usual. About 9 percent of HUD's 15,250 employees are to be given new assignments.

As a way of explaining the latest reorganization, Patricia Harris, HUD Secretary, said: "Waste and inefficiency never housed a needy family and never rebuilt a distressed city." That is quite true.

It also is true that an agency which constantly changes the names on office doors and overhauls the organization chart cuts down on incoming complaints. Whoever it is the critic wants to see probably moved yesterday and his telephone won't be connected until next month.

LETTER-WRITING CAMPAIGN URGED

Editor:

The Southwest Health Systems Agency of Kalamazoo is considering eliminating the open heart surgery program at Mercy Hospital and moving it to Kalamazoo.

As a recent open heart surgery patient at Mercy, I am disturbed at this news. The cardiac surgery team and the nursing teams of Mercy Hospital are second to none in the country. We should be proud to have them working for us.

The people who should be disturbed are those who have not needed the cardiac group yet. You'll never know when you will need them until it happens. If we let it go to Kalamazoo, the specialists will be an hour or more away from us. Usually the difference between life and death is 10 or 15 minutes.

The Agency will vote on this program on December 1st. I urge all interested people to write in —

EXCHANGE CLUB OFFERS MESSAGE

Editor:

The Exchange Club of Benton Harbor would like to offer the following message in this month of November during which we observe "One Nation Under God" as our theme.

From the beginning, Americans have talked a lot with God. Mostly they have asked, often demanded, His favors. It was Thomas Jefferson who said: "The God who gave us life, gave us liberty at the same time." And God did. Is it any wonder, then, that George Washington, in his first inaugural address correctly summed up the situation by saying: "No people can be bound to acknowledge and adore the invisible hand which conducts the affairs of man more than the people of the United States."

And much later, Samuel F. Smith, devoted an entire stanza to God when he penned his poem titled "America."

"Our fathers' God to Thee
Author of Liberty,
To Thee we sing;
Long may our land be bright with Freedom's holy light;
Protect us by Thy Might,
Great God, our King."

Even the United States Mint acknowledges this nation's reliance on Supreme intervention by decorating all our coins and currency with that American truth "In God We Trust."

Is God still listening?

DOWAGIAC — Dowagiac high school's new football field will be dedicated this afternoon at the game against Paw Paw.

Higman Park Inn, part of the old Higman Park property, is to be sold by a trustee, according to notice sent out by the Chicago trustee. The Inn was built originally years ago when the late John Higman launched his Higman Park project. Later it was rebuilt and of late years successive managements have tried to make it a popular lakeside resort, but with little or no success.

— 75 Years Ago —

The Morton cemetery, platted in 1856, which in its hallowed confines are the remains of the founders and earlier citizens of the city, is now the property of Benton Harbor, the deed being received by the city cemetery board Tuesday night. The city authorities in taking charge, will have the grounds put in better condition.

About 40 war medals will be given to Spanish war veterans tonight when they meet at the G.A.R. hall.

Horses are decidedly cheap in Austin, Tex., at the present time. Good horses can now be bought at from $60 to $75, and $100 will buy a fine one.

By the Era we learn that the citizens of Berrien and surrounding townships will hold a mass convention in the former township on next Friday evening for the purpose of forming a vigilance society to co-operate with the officers of the town for protection of life and property.

The St. Joseph fire company will procure a key to the Methodist Church which shall be kept at the engine house so that an alarm may be given with the church bell.

Every circumstance goes to show that the largest animal remains have been found by Mr. Henry Woodard, who owns a stock ranch in the Indian Territory, in the Peoria Nation. It took Mr. Woodard and three other men more than four days to remove the remains from the quagmire that surrounds a sulphur spring on his property. Inside of the osseous structure there lay the skeleton of a human being. It is believed this human being was an Indian and was swallowed whole by the flesh-eating beast. All bones indicate they have been buried for an incredibly long period, as they crumble rapidly when brought in contact with the atmosphere.

Martha Angle

Robert Walters

Eastland Stays;

Teddy Loses

WASHINGTON — He didn't actually say it, but he might as well have.

In announcing he will run for re-election next year, Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., was sending a message three-fourths of the lobbyists in Washington had been praying for:

"Teddy Kennedy is gonna be chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee over my dead body."

Eastland, 73, had been privately telling his colleagues for months that he expected to retire at the end of his current term, the sixth he has served.

But that would have elevated Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to the chairmanship of the Judiciary Committee which Eastland has ruled for the past 20 — a prospect which sends shudders through the business world and conservatives of every variety.

For weeks an end, Eastland's office was inundated with letters, phone calls and visitors beseeching the cigar-chomping old senator to spare the nation from the liberal scourge.

Even Jimmy Carter, very quickly and very privately, let it be known he would hate to see Eastland retire. Kennedy, after all, is enough of a potential threat as it is without the added stature and publicity which goes with a major committee chairmanship.

More than half the legislation introduced in the Senate each year is referred to Eastland's committee, including all civil rights bills, constitutional amendments, immigration matters and anti-trust measures.

Conservatives consider the panel so crucial that earlier this year they persuaded Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., to give up the top GOP position on the Armed Services Committee in order to block liberal Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., R-Md., from becoming the ranking Republican on the Judiciary Committee.

At the moment, the 17-member committee is evenly split between liberals and conservatives with Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W. Va., holding the decisive vote.

The committee is no longer the burial ground it used to be for civil rights bills and other major liberal proposals. On really significant measures, Byrd consistently votes with the eight liberals to send the bill to the floor for action by the full Senate.

But with Eastland as chairman and Thurmond as ranking Republican, conservatives still maintain full control of internal committee procedures, scheduling and rules.

As long as Eastland remains in the Senate, his chairmanship is secure. He is scrupulously fair to the liberals on his committee, even when he disagrees with them, and generous with subcommittee chairmanships and staffing allowances.

Senate liberals took a fearful drubbing this year when they tried to wrest the Finance Committee chairmanship away from Russell Long, D-La., who is far more dictatorial than Eastland.

There will be no attempt to oust Eastland from his job so that Kennedy can take over. It wouldn't succeed, and the liberals know it.

Kennedy and his allies have only one remaining hope, a slim one at best — the possibility that Mississippi voters who have been sending "Big Jim" Eastland to Washington regular as clockwork since 1942 will decide that he should retire, after all.

More than a dozen politicians of both parties, including four of the state's five House members, had been gearing up for a Senate race if Eastland pulled out. With the exception of former Gov. William L. Waller, a Democrat, and GOP businessman Gil Carmichael, the Republican Eastland beat in 1972, they are all backing off now.

Great Books

Back In Favor

Something is stirring freshly on the campus these days, and one symptom of it is the renewed interest at several of our leading institutions in the so-called Great Books Idea.

Courses in the Great Books had a vogue during the late 1920s and 1930s, notably at Chicago, St. Johns and Columbia. John Maynard Hutches, Mortimer Adler and Mark Van Doren spearheaded the movement.

At Columbia, the Great Books course, called Humanities, continues to be a college requirement, and all freshmen today take that two-term course as they have for almost half a century. Elsewhere, however, courses in the Great Books tended to give way before other interests.

In part, this happened because of the authority of the social sciences, which claimed to be doing scientifically what past thinkers had only done spottily and impressionistically. Why read Dante or Shakespeare for knowledge of man and the world when such knowledge can be scientifically established?

There existed also during his period a strong movement in the direction of diversification and specialization.

The assumption tended to prevail, though usually in an unstated way, that what you studied mattered less than how you studied it. You would bring the same intellectual disciplines to bear whether you studied "Catch-22," "Portnoy's Complaint," or "Hamlet."

Today, however, doubt seems to be spreading, and out of a growing sense of intellectual formlessness — even a sense of pointlessness — educators are taking a new look at the Great Books Idea.

Characteristically, a course in the Great Books deals with what T.S. Eliot has called the mind of the West from Homer through the present.

Such a course would begin with, say, the Iliad, go on to the Greek historians Herodotus and Thucydides, the Greek philosopher Plato and Aristotle, and the Greek dramatists. It then moves on to Rome with Vergil, includes selections from the Old and New Testaments, and explores the Christian sensibility with Augustine and Dante. The Renaissance can be represented by Shakespeare, Cervantes and Montaigne, the Enlightenment by Swift and Voltaire. Modernity comes in with Goethe's Faust and a more recent author such as Dostoevsky or Yeats.

You can quibble about this or that title on the syllabus, but a student who takes such a course knows a great deal about the Western culture of which he or she is a part. The student sees the mind of the West in the process of formation. The student almost inevitably finds his sense of possibility expanded. One cannot pursue, for example, the theme of human love (eros) and love of God (agape) through Plato, St. John, and Augustine without being profoundly affected.

Moreover, whatever his own philosophical position, a student who has read these books is able to locate himself in relation to the tradition. He comes to have a ground on which to stand, civilizationally speaking.

It is an awareness of that prospect, I think, that is leading educators on a growing number of campuses to look with renewed favor on this kind of a Great Books course.

BRITISH WRITER DIES

LONDON (AP) — Dennis Wheatley, 80, British thriller writer best known for his books on the devil and the occult, died Friday. He wrote more than 60 books including "The Devil and All His Works" — considered a modern textbook on Satanism.

Benton Kroger Biggest In West Michigan

Supermarket To Open Sunday At M-139, Napier

The new Kroger Foods Superstore on M-139 in Benton Township will be the largest Kroger store in operation in western Michigan when it opens Sunday and is twice as large as the Kroger store at Fairplain Plaza it is replacing, according to Terry Griggs, manager of the new store.

The 32,000-square-foot store, the anchor at the new Benton Square Shopping Center located near the northwest corner of M-139 and Napier Avenue, is the first store to open in the new shopping center development.

The store will open at 9 a.m. Sunday with a ribbon-cutting ceremony and grand opening sale.

A 7,800-square-foot Heven Drug store, adjacent to the Kroger store, is scheduled to open in mid-December, according to Griggs. An MC Sporting Goods store is scheduled for opening Nov. 20 and other listed tenants, Fanta-C Records and Stereo Shop and Beneficial Finance Co., are scheduled for opening sometime this winter, Griggs said.

Kroger foods, the third largest supermarket chain in the state, has 1,200 stores in 26 states with 108 stores in Michigan. The chain began as one store in 1887 in Cincinnati, Ohio, where the chain is now headquartered.

The new Kroger store replaces the existing store in Fairplain Plaza which will close at 6 p.m. Saturday. The plaza store has about 15,000 square feet of space, he said.

Griggs said the new supermarket will be stocked with more than 12,000 items and new sections including a delicatessen, bakery, wine department, plant shop and international foods aisle.

The store will be open 24 hours a day Monday through Saturday and 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Sundays, Griggs said.

Griggs was manager of the Fairplain Plaza Kroger store for the past year. He started with Kroger 12 years ago as a bag boy at a Pontiac store and worked as a night stocker, head clerk and manager trainee in several Detroit area stores. A graduate of Oakland University, Griggs and his wife, Lynne, and their two daughters, live in Stevensville.

NEW SUPERMARKET: New Kroger Superstore opening at 9 a.m. Sunday is part of new Benton Square Shopping Center located near northwest corner of M-139 and Napier Avenue in Benton Township. Estimated $2.5 million shopping center is owned by Benton Harbor Associates, composed of brothers Edward and Raleigh Finkelstein of Grand Rapids, and Weatherford-Walker, builders-developers of Southfield.

INTERNATIONAL AISLE: Selection of international gourmet and dietary foods are new addition to Kroger grocery department. Store will be stocked with more than 12,000 items within four departments: grocery, meat, produce and delicatessen.

State To Hold Liquor Hearing

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has announced that a hearing will be held Tuesday in Lansing on a request for a new 12 Months Resort B-Hotel license by the Golden Link Lodge motel in St. Joseph.

The hearing, scheduled for 10:30 a.m., will be on the application by Daniel C. and Penny Brown, 2723 Niles Ave., and also on an objection to the application filed on behalf of the First Church of God, 2627 Niles Ave., by Senior Pastor Lavell J. Sorrell.

VETERANS DAY INDOORS: Chill winds streaming off Lake Michigan forced Veterans Day observance indoors from scheduled site in St. Joseph's Lake Front Park Friday. In nearby Memorial Hall, St. Joseph Mayor Franklin Smith (center) receives plaque from Herbert Trapp, commander of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 206. Plaque was for Smith's regular participation in annual ceremonies. Representatives of various veterans organizations in Twin Cities paid tribute to heroes of past wars with wreath placed beside flag. ## Stockman Vows Action On Dredging Of Harbor

By LARRY MacINTYRE
Congressman Dave Stockman told the St. Joseph River Board of Harbor Commissioners Friday he will move quickly to arrange a meeting with the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to discuss emergency dredging of the St. Joseph River harbor area.

Stockman (R-St. Joseph) said he would contact Col. Melvin D. Reams, head of the Corps' Detroit District Office, to arrange a meeting within the next week or two. The meeting would involve the Corps, the harbor board and Stockman, he said.

Stockman attended the harbor board meeting to discuss harbor problems. He was joined by about 30 officials of government and industry in the Twin Cities area.

Stockman said he had not realized how serious the dredging problem was, and that he would do what he could to keep the harbor open to commercial shipping.

Representatives of five Twin Cities industries that use the harbor told Stockman it might have to be closed next year if it is not dredged in certain areas.

They said ships are plying through mud and silt to get to the docks and are running the risk of becoming grounded.

The Corps has scheduled a thorough harbor dredging for 1981. However, the industrial representatives said emergency dredging would have to be done in certain areas before then if the harbor is to remain open.

The designated harbor area — which runs from the newly built Twin Cities Bicentennial Bridge west to the river mouth — has not been fully dredged since 1969. It is supposed to be kept at a depth of 18 to 21 feet.

The dredging was halted after federal officials declared sand and silt on the river bottom to be polluted.

Once declared polluted, the material could no longer be dumped in Lake Michigan after dredging. Instead, it must be deposited in a land site approved by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The Corps of Engineers is presently studying possible sites to dump the polluted dredgings in 1981.

Stockman said he doubted that the Corps' planning for the 1981 dredging project could be speeded up.

Charles Eckenstahler, secretary of the harbor board, said the board is considering two possible solutions for disposing of material dredged up in an emergency project.

One would be to find a suitable temporary site for dredgings until they could be moved to a permanent site.

The other would be to have the EPA take more samples of the river bottom to see if it can now pass pollution tests. If it were no longer polluted, it could be dredged and dumped in the lake.

A spokesman for the Wheelpool Corp. said the firm would allow the Corps to use a parcel of Wheelpool property next to its Benton Harbor plant as a temporary dumping site for five years.

William Marohn, director of manufacturing engineering at the St. Joseph division, said the firm does not use the harbor but is interested in seeing that it remains open to local industries.

The five firms using the harbor received 270,382 tons of material in 62 cargoes during 1976, Eckenstahler said. The firms are the Huron Cement Co., Ireland and Lester Co., Enterprise Oil and Gas Co., Consumers, Asphalt and Concrete Co., and Horan Koth-Mix.

Eckenstahler said a survey showed 139 jobs with an annual payroll of $1,055,000 depend on the harbor remaining open.

Aiding Veterans

Ernest Boersma, field service officer for the American Veterans of Foreign Wars, has announced that he will be at the Michigan Employment Security Commission Office, 800 Port St., St. Joseph, from 1-4 p.m. on Tuesday to assist veterans at their dependents on any problems they might have.

Makes Flowers From Corn Husks

Featured In Magazine

ORIGINAL DESIGN: Lila Faulkner, whose corn husk flowers are featured in the current issue of Woman's Day magazine, displays an arrangement of mums which she has made. She says finished flowers keep better and are more life-like if sprayed lightly with clear lacquer. Mrs. Faulkner is a member of the board of directors at Fernwood Nature Center where she also has taught classes in corn husk flower making and flower drying. (Staff photos)

DAISIES: Mrs. Faulkner's corn husk daisies were among those flowers photographed and published in the Nov. 15 issue of Woman's Day magazine. Color photographs are also included of poppies and dogwood. She says that wild bergamont makes good centers for the yellow daisies and that leaves, weeds, pods and grasses make good accent items in these arrangements.

While glancing through the Nov. 15 issue of Woman's Day magazine, go back and look again at the article entitled, "Captivating Corn Husk Flowers."

The name of the craftsman, Lila Faulkner, may sound familiar to many area residents.

Mrs. Faulkner of Snow Road, Berrien Springs, is an instructor and member of the board of directors at Fernwood Nature Center, co-partner with her husband, Arnold, in Faulkner Publications, Inc., Berrien Springs, and the mother of four grown children.

Mrs. Faulkner wrote to Woman's Day asking them if they would be interested in using a feature on her corn husk flowers and enclosed samples. Two weeks later, she was contacted by Johanna Bafaro, designer-editor for the popular magazine, saying they were indeed interested.

In May of 1976, Mrs. Faulkner and her husband combined a vacation with business and flew to New York to Woman's Day offices.

In the magazine's studios, before the photo session could begin, designers were assigned to arrange Mrs. Faulkner's flowers using the magazine's storehouse props, she said.

Delays were numerous.

Corn husk red poppies were arranged in a cranberry glass container before someone remarked that the vase was scheduled to appear in a sum-to-be-published Christmas article, so a substitute was needed.

The dogwood was arranged in a white Chinese vase when someone noticed that the same vase had recently appeared in another photo story. A substitute had to be found.

There was also a lengthy discussion about the arrangement of the corn husk daisies which appear in the magazine in front of closed shutters, as a similar photograph had recently appeared in another leading national magazine.

Finally, Mrs. Faulkner said, five enthusiastic editors were asked to look at the three arrangements and give their approval.

All in all, it took three days to photograph the three arrangements.

Mrs. Faulkner said she began making corn husk flowers eight or nine years ago. She took a class in the craft and was shown how to make roses. "I was a flop."

Since then, she has carefully studied details of various flowers and now uses her own original designs. She added that she still doesn't like to make roses.

Mrs. Faulkner offered the following general tips for making corn husk flowers.

— Use husks that have turned straw color.

— Before drying, prepare husks by bleaching in a household bleach solution as strong as that used for cottons. Rinse well.

— Use liquid dye or a powdered soft drink mix, without sugar, to dye flowers. Subtle colors are achieved, she says, by using the powdered soft drink mix.

— Preserve white color from yellowing by spraying with white lacquer.

— Finished flowers keep better and are more life-like if sprayed lightly with clear lacquer.

Following are directions for making mums. Instructions for assembling daisies, black-eyed Susans, dogwood and poppies are printed in Woman's Day.

CORN HUSK MUMS

Materials needed for one flower:

- Two corn husks
- No. 16 (medium) wire
- Scissors
- Darning needle
- Curling iron
- Stem wire
- Needle-nosed pliers
- Plant stem
- Floral tape
- Clear lacquer

Take two wet corn husks and gather them in your hand placing tip or tapered ends together. About 1½ to 2 inches from tip, wind medium wire around twice.

About 3 to 3½ inches above wire line, cut husks straight across with scissors.

Insert a large darning needle at wire line and draw up through the husk to the cut edge. Continue this until all of the husks have been divided into ¼-inch strips. Hang to dry.

To curl petals, use a warm curling iron. Grasp several petals with the iron and turn toward the center. Continue in this manner until there is only a fringe remaining.

Turn the remaining petals to the outside or down. When all the petals have been curled, run your fingers through the curled petals separating and shaping it into a compact ball.

Cut a length of stem wire suitable for finished stem. Work it from the bottom up through the center of the petals.

With needle-nosed pliers, bend a small hook in the end. Gently pull wire back through bottom of petals until it feels secure.

Insert plant stem along with the wire and tape with floral tape.

Spray finished flower with clear lacquer.

Trinity PTL To Meet

Parent-Teacher League of Trinity Lutheran School, St. Joseph, will meet Tuesday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 p.m. in the school social hall.

A program about building strong family foundations is scheduled. Refreshments will be served.

In Ensemble At WMU

KALAMAZOO — Mary Worley of Bridgman is a member of the Vocal Chamber Ensemble at Western Michigan University which will present a program Monday, Nov. 21, at 8 p.m. in Kaudy Memorial Chapel.

The public is invited to the free concert.

Directed by Thomas Harfie, associate professor of music, the 12-member student vocal group will perform madrigals and chamber choir works by Monteverdi, Byrd and Dallasse.

'Grave Peril'

OLIVE BRANCH, Miss. (AP) — A meeting of the United Methodist board of higher education has approved a set of recommendations to try to bolster the financial stability of some of its colleges and universities.

The board's general secretary, the Rev. Dr. F. Thomas Trotter, said many of the church's schools are in "grave peril" and that their assets totaling about $1 billion are gradually being eaten up, without sufficient planning for the future.

Volunteer!

In cooperation with the Southwestern Michigan Voluntary Action Center, The Herald-Palladium will publish needs for volunteers each week. Prospective volunteers may call 683-5464 in Niles or stop in at the VAC office at 317 Broadway, Niles, for further information about volunteer opportunities in the southwestern Michigan area. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, or by appointment. Interviews may be arranged locally for St. Joseph-Benton Harbor area residents. All responses to the following requests for volunteers should be handled through the VAC office.

CASS COUNTY Department of Social Services is looking for a few special people to be volunteers in its Parent Aide Program. Parent Aides are individuals who would work directly with parents involved with cases of child abuse and/or child neglect. The aides are trained by the department and guided by agency staff throughout their period of contact with the parent. The next training session begins in January, so if you are interested please contact the VAC office for further information.

BERRIEN COUNTY Unit of the American Cancer Society is looking for volunteers to fill a number of positions. People interested in educating the public to preventive measures, danger signals, and other general information are needed. In addition to those people who would like to make personal visits and follow-up phone calls to cancer patients. Individuals with background in public relations are needed to help prepare news releases and informative articles for the media. If you would like further information about any of these opportunities, please call us at the VAC.

EASTER SEAL SOCIETY for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., of Berrien County is seeking volunteers to help with its Handicapped Adult Recreation Program. Volunteers would be helping the clients with various activities on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. at the Center in St. Joseph. Presently thirty handicapped adults from throughout the county are registered for the program so the need for volunteer help is great. Please consider sharing one afternoon a month with them.

SOUTHWESTERN MICHIGAN Region IV Agency on Aging needs volunteers to help with its various programs at local senior citizens centers throughout the county. Volunteers are needed in the Escort Service program which provides a companion for a senior citizen who must have help with doing errands, getting to doctors' appointments, etc. If you would be interested in working on an on-call basis, please let the VAC know of your desire. High school students would be most welcome in this program.

SOUTHWESTERN MICHIGAN Region IV Agency on Aging is also interested in gathering a list of all those people in the county who would like to help with its Emergency Bad Weather Preparedness Program. This would include a team of people who have C.B.s, snowmobiles, and/or four-wheel drive vehicles who would be willing to be on call during extremely bad weather to help senior citizens isolated by the inclemency. This would be an excellent entire-family volunteer opportunity. No matter where you live in Berrien County — we need you. If you would like to be included on the list, please call the VAC office.

EASTSIDE SCHOOL library in Niles needs volunteers to coordinate the library's student author project in which students submit their own stories for publication and placement on the shelves. The students write their own stories, illustrate them and bind them so that the project allows them a great deal of creative latitude. It would also be a challenging volunteer opportunity for an adult. The time commitment would be flexible. Please call the VAC.

FAMILY TRIAGEMENT SHELTER is still in need of baby furniture, kitchen utensils, and dressers. Sponsored by Child and Family Services of Michigan, Inc. it is a residence facility which houses families in crisis on a temporary basis. If your youngest has outgrown his playpen, crib or high chair, please consider giving them to the Shelter. Simply call the VAC office and we will arrange to have the items picked up. Thank You.

Mission Sunday Set

Many churches Sunday, Nov. 13, will observe World Mission Sunday.

William G. Milliken, Governor of Michigan, by Executive Declaration has designated Nov. 13 as World Mission Sunday. In the declaration, Gov. Milliken said, "...urge the people of our churches not only to celebrate what has been done in the past but to plan with new vision and commitment their response to the challenge of the future human needs for growth and development.

Among area churches observing World Mission Sunday is St. Peter's United Church of Christ, St. Joseph, where the Rev. B.K. Duda will be the mission speaker for the 10:30 a.m. worship service.

The Rev. Duda is pastor of Beatrice St. Church in Darban, South Africa. He has served as secretary of the Natal Regional Conference and as moderator of the entire United Congregational Church of Southern Africa, which includes Botswana, South Africa, Rhodesia and South West Africa.

The Rev. Duda is visiting the United States to attend the 168th annual meeting of the United Church Board for World Ministries Nov. 13-16 in Grand Rapids. He will also speak to the Disciples of Christ at their meeting Oct. 22-26. The Board for World Ministries is the administrative body that is responsible for promotion of the World Mission program of the United Church of Christ.

SOUTH HAVEN — Mrs. John (Mary Ann) Donaldson, a former missionary to Rhodesia and a member of the United Church Board for World Ministries, will be guest speaker for the 11 a.m. World Mission Sunday worship service Sunday, Nov. 13, at First Congregational Church, South Haven.

Mrs. Donaldson will speak on "Today's Decisions — Tomorrow's Mission," including her experience as a missionary and the foreign mission of the United Church of Christ Churches.

Mrs. Donaldson and her husband, a physician, served in Rhodesia from 1958 to 1969. They and their four children now reside in Anbursdale, Miss.

Guest Speaker

REV. PHIL MCCLAIN

Assembly Of God

The Rev. Phil McClain, director of the Greater Muskegon Teen Challenge, will be guest speaker for the 6 p.m. service Sunday, Nov. 13, at First Assembly of God, Benton Harbor.

The Rev. McClain will be accompanied by students from the Teen Challenge.

Teen Challenge is a ministry started in New York City by the Rev. David Wilkerson to help young men and women find release from drug addiction and alcohol and other problems.

Religious News

In Brief

EXPRESS CONCERN
NEW YORK (AP) — Seventeen evangelical church leaders have voiced "grave concern" at any effort to carve out of the historic Jewish homeland another nation or political entity, particularly one which would be governed by terrorists whose stated goal is the destruction of the Jewish state.

While expressing sympathy for the "human needs of all peoples in the Middle East," the statement declared evangelical belief "in the promise of the land to the Jewish people — a promise first made to Abraham and repeated throughout the Scriptures, a promise which has never been abrogated."

Signers on the statement, appearing as a paid advertisement in some major newspapers, included the Rev. Dr. Arnold T. Olson, past president of the National Association of Evangelicals, and 16 other noted evangelical churchmen. They expressed apprehension at recent trends in U.S. policy toward the Middle East.

VIOLATES CONSTITUTION
NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — A federal court judge has ruled that the "science of creative intelligence" — a booster name for Transcendental Meditation — is religious in nature and that government-sponsored classes at several New Jersey schools are unconstitutional.

Judge Curtis H. Meanor of the U.S. District Court declared the program, which used a $40,000 grant from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, "violates the establishment of religion clause of the U.S. Constitution's First Amendment."

Plaintiffs had charged that TM contains substantial elements of Hinduism and should not be taught in public schools. It has been incorporated in school programs in several states.

SUSPEND CHURCHES
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The American Lutheran Church has suspended two Long Island, N.Y., congregations from the denomination on charges of "subordinating" the Christian Gospel to Jewish religious customs. The suspended churches

OPPOSES HOMOSEXUALITY
NEW YORK (AP) — The president of an Orthodox Jewish body, the Rabbinical Alliance, has appealed to Americans to return to their "Biblical roots" and oppose homosexuality.

Rabbi Abraham B. Hect of Brooklyn said homosexuality is rising in the country, that it threatens the family basis of civilization and that homosexuals need "spiritual and psychiatric help."

Society should not indirectly condone such practice, he said, by guaranteeing their rights to teach.

SEEK SPONSORS
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — American churches have sent out calls for more sponsors to help care for a new wave of Indochina refugees.

Irvin Dawson, director of the Southern Baptist home missions board's office of refugee service, says some 15,000 more refugees from Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos are expected in the new influx.

For their admission, church congregations or other community agencies have to act as sponsors, to help them get resettled.

Church World Service, the cooperative Protestant and Eastern Orthodox relief agency, are gearing up their machinery again to handle the process.

The Rev. Dr. Harry Haines, director of the United Methodist Committee on Relief, called for 250 to 300 churches to volunteer as sponsors for "this second wave of refugees."

"It's an SOS."

Education Center Ceremony

King Darius Masonic Grand Lodge AF&AM will be in charge of laying the cornerstone of the educational center at New Bethel Baptist Church, Benton Harbor, Sunday, Nov. 13, at 3 p.m.

The Imperial Choir of the church will be host choir. The Rev. W.M. Blow, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church, Muskegon, will be the speaker. Dinner will follow the service.

To Attend Assembly

Delegates from the Benton Harbor Congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses will be among those attending the "Endure through Close Association" Circuit Assembly to be held in Holt Nov. 18 and 20.

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of New York is sponsoring the meeting which will feature Bible discourses, on stage demonstrations and a baptism service.

Ray St. Pierre, a local minister, will develop a part of the program on Saturday demonstrating how to keep families spiritually united.

One purpose of these assemblies is to aid the Witnesses to carry out the commission stated in Matthew 24:14, "This good news of the Kingdom will be preached in all the inhabited earth for a witness to all nations."

John Caston, an ordained minister for 18 years, will serve as chairman and principal speaker for the meetings. He is currently serving as District Supervisor in Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and Indiana, and will address 1,500 people on Sunday at 2 p.m. on the subject, "Maintain Your Confidence Firm to the End." The public is invited.

CATHOLIC BISHOPS Considering Guidelines

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — After the most extensive consultative process in the history of U.S. Roman Catholicism, the church's bishops next week are expected to approve new guidelines for teaching the faith.

The 254-page National Catechetical Directory, five years in the making, is the first of its kind to be developed by the American church.

It offers norms and recommendations for religious education of "all Catholics in the United States in our times," from childhood through adult life, says the project director, Msgr. Wilfrid H. Paré of Washington, D.C.

Although still subject to minor alterations before adoption by a meeting in Washington of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops, and later confirmation by the pope, the document already has gone through its long, preliminary stages.

That involved hundreds of meetings with educators, theologians, pastors and people in nearly every diocese, thousands of written criticisms and suggestions, and numerous redraftings and versions.

Altogether, more than 90,000 detailed suggestions have come from more than 280,000 people, nuns, priests and laity, with more than 15,000 diocesan meetings held about the runnings in ironing them out.

A mixed, lay-religious committee of 12 did the winnowing work, with under review of seven bishops, headed by Archbishop John F. Whealon of Hartford. The work now goes to the bishops for finishing touches and acceptance.

It is not a textbook or curriculum, but it sets basic guidelines and principles for imparting devotion to God's truth in the modern world.

Incorporating the insights of modern psychology and the linking of learning with experience at various age levels, the document reflects changes developing for the last decade in church teaching methods.

The approach departs sharply from the 1884 Baltimore catechism, which consists of 421 questions and answers, to be committed to memory.

It was the main influence in Catholic education in this country for nearly 80 years, until the reforms of the Second Vatican Council of 1962-65.

Teaching of the young today "bears little resemblance to the ways in which their parents received religious instruction," the new directory says, noting that this aroused some objections in developing the guidelines.

These complaints, mainly insisting on fixed doctrinal formulas, have received "serious attention" in shaping the directory, it says. But it upholds openness to experiential methods and varying theological emphases.

"The church encourages a 'pluralism of theological tendencies' both for 'pastoral and evangelical reasons, provided always that the pluralism' enriches the 'doctrine of faith' in fidelity to it, the directory says."

"There is one faith but many theologies," it adds, noting that such diversity is reflected in the New Testament itself.

The directory says learning should be integrated into the "total experience" of those involved, taking into account the contemporary cultural situations, with attention to social concerns and ecumenical relations.

Registering the increased Catholic emphasis on Scriptures, the directory says, "the Bible has a special place of honor" in teaching the Christian faith.

NEWS OF RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

Area Churches Plan Special Events

The Usher Board of EBENEZER BAPTIST CHURCH, Benton Harbor, will observe its annual day with a program at 3 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 13, at the church.

Reed Temple Church of God in Christ, Benton Harbor, will be the guest church. The male choir of the host church will provide music.

Three programs are planned this weekend to aid the building fund of OLIVET MISSIONARY BAPTIST CHURCH, Benton Harbor.

The church deacons are sponsoring a program at 7 o'clock tonight at the Sedus Township Hall. Featured will be the Hebrew Singers of Chicago.

At 3 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 13, the Baptist Training Union will sponsor a program at the church and at 7 p.m., the program will be sponsored by Mrs. Ellen Christian.

Annual men's day will be observed Sunday, Nov. 13, at PLEASANT GROVE BAPTIST CHURCH, Benton Harbor.

A special program is planned at 3 p.m. The Rev. Milton McAfee, pastor of New Bethel Baptist Church, Benton Harbor, will be the speaker. The Male Chorus of St. Mark Baptist Church will also participate.

Special services will be held at ST. PAUL CHRISTIAN METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH, Benton Harbor, beginning Wednesday, Nov. 16, to celebrate the eighth anniversary of the founding of the church.

Services will include Wednesday, Nov. 16, at 7:30 p.m., with the Rev. J.A. Simmons of Hopewell Baptist Church as the speaker and the choir of his church will provide music; Thursday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m., the Rev. John C. Watson of Mt. Zion Baptist Church will be the speaker and the choir of his church will provide music.

At 4 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 20, the Rev. George Smith of Zion AME Church, South Bend, will be the speaker and the choir of his church will provide music.

SOUNDS UNLIMITED GOSPEL ENSEMBLE will present its second annual concert entitled, "I'm Blessed," at 7 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 13, at Progressive Baptist Church, Benton Harbor.

The ensemble is composed of members of various area churches. The group has performed in churches, auditoriums and college campuses.

Rodney Lott is the founder and director of the group. David Brock is musician.

Members are Miss Alfreda Randolph, Miss Lynette Clay, Miss Janice Haire, Miss Antonea Gary, Miss Suzanne Gordon, Miss Betty Matthews, Miss Georgia Moss, Mrs. Anthony (Lindy) Williams, Mrs. Peter (Pearl) Herndon, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Rodgers, Kenneth Russ and Ervan Rodgers.

Featured soloist will be Mrs. William (Lodie) Elliott. The concert is being sponsored by the Junior Mission of Progressive Baptist Church.

THE SENSATIONAL SIX will celebrate their 17th anniversary at a program Sunday, Nov. 13, at 3 p.m., in Seeley McCord School, Benton Harbor.

Participating in the program will be the Male Chorus of Hopewell Baptist Church and St. Mark Baptist Church, both of Benton Harbor; the Gospel Echoes of Springfield, Ill., and the Mighty Starlights Gospel Singers of Buffalo, N.Y.

Youth Choir of PROGRESSIVE BAPTIST CHURCH, Benton Harbor, will observe its annual day with a program at 3 p.m., Sunday, Nov. 13.

Participating in the program will be the Vesper Choir of Second Baptist Church, Youth Choir of Pleasant Grove Baptist Church, the Song in The Key of Life and the Voices of Deliverance.

The Inspirational Choir and Youth Choir of the host church will also participate.

THREE OAKS — Totenfest Sunday will be observed Nov. 20 during the 10:30 a.m. worship service at ST. JOHN UNITED CHURCH OF CHRIST, Three Oaks.

The Totenfest Sunday is traditionally observed on the last Sunday of the church year and is to honor those of the congregation who died during the last year, according to the Rev. Richard F. Arent, pastor.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

THE NEW TESTAMENT

No. 25. "Be As Little Children"

When the disciples came to ask Jesus which of them should be greatest in the kingdom of heaven, Jesus did not answer directly. Instead, he called a little child to him and sat him among the disciples.

"And said, Verily I say unto you. Except ye be converted, and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of heaven." (Matthew 18:3-4)

"And whoso shall receive one such little child in my name, receiveth me. But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged around his neck, so that he were drowned in the depth of the sea." (Matthew 18:5-6)

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Save Us From Middle Age

Dear Ann: A long time ago you printed A Prayer for the Middle-Aged. I enjoyed it ten years ago — but I NEED it now. How about a re-run? — B.D. From L.A.

Dear B.D.: Here it is. Happy to oblige.

PRAYER FOR MIDDLE-AGED

Lord, thou knowest better than I would know myself that I am growing older and that some day I shall be old. Keep me from the fatal habit of thinking I must say something on every subject and on every occasion. Release me from craving to straighten out everybody's affairs. Make me thoughtful but not moody, helpful but not bossy. With my vast store of wisdom, it seems a pity not to use it all, but thou knowest, Lord, that I want a few friends at the end.

Keep my mind free from recital of endless details, give me wings to get at the point. Seal my lips on my aches and pains. They are increasing, and love of rehearsing them is becoming sweeter as the years go by. I dare not ask for grace to enjoy the tales of other's pains, but help me to endure with patience.

I dare not ask for improved memory, but for growing humility and a lessening of cockiness when my memory seems to clash with the memory of others. Teach me the glorious lesson that, occasionally, I may be mistaken. Keep me reasonably sweet; I do not want to be a saint — some of them are hard to live with — but a sour old person is one of the crowning works of the devil.

Give me the ability to see good things in unexpected places, and talents in unexpected people. And give me, O Lord, the grace to tell them so.

Bent Friendship

Dear Ann Landers: No big deal but it bothers me a lot more than I should.

I loaned a book to a friend. Several months passed and she didn't return it. Finally I got up the nerve to ask her if she had finished reading the book because I wanted it back.

Her response rocked me. She denied ever having borrowed the book but announced coolly, "I will pay you for it."

I do not believe a person would pay for anything if she didn't think she had borrowed it. Now, hear this: I have an item I borrowed from her. Shall I just keep it and tell her to forget paying for the book? — Miami Beach

Dear Ann: Your relationship is already pretty badly bent. Don't do any further damage.

If the money is offered — take it. Return whatever it is that YOU borrowed — regardless. And let this be the last of Lend-Lease program between you two if you value her friendship.

Clergy Helped

Dear Ann Landers: I used to think you were a square old bat. Whenever you'd advise someone to discuss a problem with their clergyman, I'd say to myself, "what a cop-out."

Well, I got in a jam and decided to try my clergyman. He was so understanding and gave me terrific counseling. I couldn't have gotten better advice for a thousand dollars. This is to say thank you. — Lancaster Teen

Dear Teen: Thanks for letting me know. I hope others who think I'm a square old bat will pay some attention to YOU.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious — lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11895, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Responsible For Holiday

CHICAGO (AP) — America's $501 million-a-year turkey industry has much to give thanks for in postess Sarah Josepha Hale (1788-1879), a prominent magazine editor in the United States during the 1800s and author of the children's poem, "Mary Had a Little Lamb."

Mrs. Hale — who, as editor of "Godey's Lady's Book," helped shape the tastes of thousands of women in this country — is credited with persuading President Abraham Lincoln to declare Thanksgiving a national holiday, according to the World Book Encyclopedia.

celebrated on the last Thursday in November. President Roosevelt made it one week earlier to help Christmas business. Finally in 1941, the fourth Thursday was declared Thanksgiving Day.

Family Film Night

A Disney nature adventure about the alligator and his neighbors in the Everglades and an unusual story about a kite will be featured at family film night at Maud Preston Palenske Memorial Library, St. Joseph, Tuesday, Nov. 15, at 7:30 p.m.

"Prowlers of the Everglades" gives a glimpse of the alligator, his method of stalking prey, reproduction, the eggs hatching and his fight for survival. "The Red Kite" tells the story of a young man who wonders about eternal life and how his doubts are driven away when he succeeds in flying a kite. National Children's Book Week will be observed Nov. 14-20 at the library and the display case will hold a collection of materials featuring the Children's Department.

Story hour for preschool through second grade children will be held Saturday, Nov. 19, from 11 a.m. to noon.

New books at the library are "The Women's Room," by Marilyn French; "Adal Stevenson and the World," John Bartlow Martin, and "Rebecca West," by Rebecca West.

Announce Area Meetings

SOUTH HAVEN — American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) will meet at 2 p.m. Monday, Nov. 12, in the American Legion Hall.

A slide program on northern Michigan will be shown. A coffee hour will follow.

ALLEGAN — Allegan County Retired School Personnel will meet for a noon luncheon Thursday, Nov. 17, at the United Church of Wayland.

A travelogue on Africa will be presented.

Swiss Steak Dinner

GRAND JUNCTION — Ladies Guild of Grand Junction Congregational Church will sponsor a swiss steak dinner at 1 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 13.

The public is invited. Proceeds will benefit the church building fund.

Postpone Story Hours

NILES — Preschool and tiny tot story hours will not meet the week of Nov. 14 at Niles Community Library. Story hours will resume the following week.

The Walt Disney film, "Beaver Valley," will be shown Saturday, Nov. 19, at 3 p.m. in the library auditorium.

Israeli Display

NEW YORK (AP) — Seventy-four color photographs depicting "the full spectrum of Israeli life" will be on display at the Jewish Museum here through Dec. 18.

The show is called "Israel Kaldioscope: Color Photographs by Morris and Edith Jaffe" and the museum says it "captures the essence of an ancient land, while reflecting the influence of contemporary life." The Jaffes took the photos in Israel in 1974.

Your Birthday

Sunday, Nov. 13, 1977

Be patient regarding something that you've been hoping will come through that'll lead to more abundant circumstances. This coming year it could all happen.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You possess a unique talent today for making much from meager opportunities. The crumbs that others ignore you'll bake into a full loaf. Find out more about yourself by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph Letter by mailing 50 cents for each sign and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, P.O. Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify your birth sign.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You are able to make something difficult look easy today because you have valuable past experiences to draw upon, and you use them wisely.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your strong suit today is your talent for helping others get out of tight spots and binds. Put it to good use.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Judgments you make today regarding the true motivations of others are remarkably astute, but keep them to yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Conditions pertaining to significant issues tend to favor you again today. Expend your efforts where they'll do you the most good.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) In situations today where you have to exercise authority, do so with tolerance. Use a firm hand, but not a clenched fist.

Taurus (April 20-May 20) Be sure that all members of the family pull together today to help keep the household budget intact. Exceptions could cause the cookie jar to crumble.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) It behooves you to associate with your more ambitious friends today. Your companions influence your attitude.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — About two months ago I realized that I had breast cancer. At that time, I did not have a family doctor. A friend who is a nurse referred me to the best surgeon in town. I had a radical mastectomy, but when I came to my right upper leg was numb in the flesh, like a local anesthetic would be, yet very painful as though someone was cutting gashes with a razor blade.

My surgeon was out of town and another surgeon took care of me. He wouldn't tell me anything. When I was strong enough to walk I had a terrible muscle cramp. Of course it went away in about four days, but I didn't know it would. He could have saved me some mental anguish if he would have just told me what to expect.

A third surgeon came in to see me and he looked at the place but wouldn't tell me anything to relieve my mind from the torment of things going haywire. There I was "stranded" in a hospital, with the strong feeling that I badly needed a doctor but I couldn't get out to go find one. I needed help, yet there was a doctor coming to see me every day, checking on the surgery.

I keep thinking that if I had had a family doctor perhaps he would have taken care of the side effects these doctors refused to treat. I really don't understand what the score is. The public needs to be educated on simple basic steps they should take when they need medical aid. Do you have any comments?

DEAR READER — You are telling me a familiar story. You and your doctors had a communications problem. This happens to patients seeing the best doctors in the world. Your doctors didn't know you as a person before your surgery, and you didn't know them. You were not professionally neglected, but you did have anxiety because you didn't understand your problem.

Some doctors are reluctant to talk to patients because it takes time which some of them really do not have.

Every ache and pain cannot be diagnosed when it first occurs. With time, the true nature of the difficulty may become apparent. Your doctors may have been concerned that you may have been developing a clot in the leg, but the signs were not sufficient to make such a diagnosis. What should the doctor do? If he discusses all the possibilities, he may alarm the patient needlessly. If he waits a few days, and if need be, takes tests, he may then be able to say exactly and correctly what the real problem is.

Today many doctors, particularly surgeons, practice defensive medicine. Some people look for an excuse to "see the damned doctor. He's got plenty." Anything the doctor says when he takes the patient into his confidence may be held against him, and no one is going to be there to advise him of his rights before he speaks. That is a social problem.

What should patients do? The most important thing is to have a family doctor who does know you BEFORE you have an emergency. He can refer you to a surgeon if you need one, and can help bridge the gap. That will not solve every problem, but it will be a major step in the right direction.

For information on Cough: How and When to Treat It, send 50 cents for The Health Letter number 8-140. Send a long stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Address your request to Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Here is another hand taken from one of Easley Blackwood's articles in the ACBL Bulletin.

Note that South reached seven hearts without using Blackwood. Remember that you should not use Blackwood with either a void or a worthless doubleton in an unbid suit.

So South headed for the slam by his club cue bid. North accepted the invitation by bidding four diamonds to show that ace and right or wrong South closed the bidding at seven hearts.

It turned out to be the winning decision although at first glance it looked as if South could only come to 12 tricks. He found the 13th by a suit-establishment play.

He ruffed the spade lead.

Church Council Favors Abortion Funds For Poor

By GEORGE W. CORNELL,
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Denying public funds to poor women seeking abortions is discriminatory and should be ended by Congress and the states, the National Council of Churches says.

The council's 262-member governing board also voted Friday to voice its concern for the plight of people under repressive regimes, including the Soviet Union, which it named.

The recommendations came as the board ended its three-day meeting.

Board members explained that the council has no policy on abortion. But it addressed an issue raised by two seemingly contradictory U.S. Supreme Court rulings.

The high court has ruled that abortion is a "legal right." But it also has said that the government does not have to provide federal aid to pay for abortions for the poor.

Congress and some states currently are grappling with the question of public funding of abortions.

"A right guaranteed to all by law must not be denied because of economic status," the board said.

The issue is not the "merits of abortion" but whether a Supreme Court decision is to be "applied equally to all citizens," said council President William P. Thompson, head of the United Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Vladimir Berzansky of Seven Hills, Ohio, an Orthodox Church in America delegate, said Orthodox churches could not support the resolution because "human rights should be interpreted not only in favor of women but in favor of humans as yet unborn."

The council, which includes most major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations in the United States, declared that one of its foremost concerns was the plight of "our oppressed brothers and sisters" under repressive regimes.

Citing the Soviet Union's failure to extend amnesty to "prisoners of conscience" in its celebration of the 60th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, the board urged President Carter to "continue to pursue vigorously his policy" supporting human rights everywhere.

"We appeal to President Brezhnev to release, in the spirit of Helsinki, all imprisoned Baptists, Catholics, Jews, Muslims, Orthodox and other believers, as well as political dissenters," the board said.

The board also voted to:

—Support Carter's efforts to achieve peace in the Middle East by bringing together representatives of all parties, including the Palestinians" for negotiations.

—Withdraw all funds in financial institutions dealing with South Africa.

—Call for an end to nuclear weapons production and a halt in funds for development of the neutron bomb.

—Support reconstruction aid to Vietnam.

—Support a boycott against products of the J.P. Stevens Co., saying the textile company has repeatedly violated labor laws and intimidated workers.

—Accept an application of the National Council of Community Churches as the 11st denomination in the council.

Miss Lillian Gets 'Chill' During Her Irish Visit

By TAD BARTIMUS
Associated Press Writer
DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—President Carter's mother braved a downpour to plant a tree, caught a sore throat and then decided she needed a rest today to get ready for an evening television appearance.

"She's caught a chill," explained Tim Ryan, who is hosting the 70-year-old "Miss Lillian" during her stay in Ireland as part of an unofficial exchange program, the Friendship Force.

Earlier Friday, Miss Lillian planted a spindly Norwegian maple tree in Dublin Park. Wearing only a lightweight coat and sandals against a harsh wind and cold rain, she quickly shoveled some mud around the base of the tree, told it to "keep on living now, you hear me," and dashed back to a waiting limousine.

The event lasted less than a minute, but with the vigorous schedule Miss Lillian has been following, it was enough to make her cancel attendance at a Dublin fashion show and call it a day.

"It's not really a cold," said her bodyguard, George "Ray" Hatcher, a Georgia state trooper from her home town of Plains.

"She's hoarse and has a sore throat and since she has a TV talk show on for (Saturday) night, she thought she'd better stay home," he said Friday evening. "She's in bed resting."

There was no indication that a doctor had been called to Miss Lillian's bedside, but officials involved in planning her schedule expressed concern that she was not getting enough rest.

"We hope that Saturday will give her time to recuperate a bit from the pace and relax more," said one official.

Mayor's Off Hook On Perjury Charge

BARAGA, Mich. (AP)—Village Mayor Mike Aleka says he's relieved that charges against him of trying to incite perjury in a deer-poaching case have been dropped.

William Kunstenius, Baraga County district judge, dismissed the charges at a preliminary hearing Tuesday.

Kunstenius ruled that Aleka's rights to a fast and proper trial had been violated because the mayor's lawyer had not received a copy of the grand juror's transcript before Tuesday's hearing began.

The charges stemmed from an incident in October 1976. Aleka was arrested by state officials and charged with killing a doe out of season. He was later acquitted by a jury.

But the Department of Natural Resources asked Kunstenius to call for a grand jury investigation.

Meteorite May Hold Key To Solar System Origin

By PETER J. BOYER
Associated Press Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A meteorite plucked from the wilds of northern Mexico may help prove the theory that the solar system was born in the blast of a dying star. Scientists at the California Institute of Technology said Friday they had found unusual forms of three elements while studying the so-called Allende meteorite, found in Mexico in 1961.

Dimitri Papanastassiou, an astronomer-geologist, said the discovery supports the theory that a supernova — the explosion of a dying star — forged primordial fields of gases and dust into what is now our solar system. "This discovery takes that theory off of the cocktail discussion table and gives us something to work with," he said.

Discovery of new forms of the elements calcium, barium and neodymium in the meteorite means the three samples came from some source outside the early fields of gas and dust that formed the solar system, he said. That source, the scientists speculate, was an exploding star that let out powerful shock waves and caused the creation of the planets.

As further evidence, the Cal-tech group said the meteorite contained Aluminum 26, a rare form of aluminum. This acts as a "clock" on the meteorite, Papanastassiou said, dating the explosion of the supernova to "within less than 2 million years before the solar system was formed."

'Liberated Man' Is Topic Of LMC Program Tuesday

Nationally known lecturer and author Warren Farrell, Ph.D., will tell how the "liberated man" relates to the women's liberation movement Tuesday, Nov. 15, at Lake Michigan College.

Farrell, the only man to be elected three times to the board of directors of the National Organization of Women (NOW), is scheduled to present a four-hour program at LMC beginning at 6 p.m.

The program is free and open to the entire public, according to Donna Kymala, president of the LMC student senate, which is sponsoring Farrell's visit. The program will be held in the LMC blue lecture hall, room D-202.

Farrell is the author of a book titled, "The Liberated Man." He has appeared on several television shows including the Today Show, the Tomorrow Show, the Mike Douglas Show, To Tell the Truth, and the Phil Donahue Show.

He taught urban politics at Rutgers University and in 1965 was recognized by President Lyndon Johnson as one of the outstanding young educators of America.

Farrell's presentation will include topics such as role-reversal dating and consciousness-raising group organizing, according to Donna Kymala. Afterwards, there will be a men's beauty contest.

Disease Deaths Total 16

ATLANTA (AP) — Sixty-four cases of Legionnaires disease, resulting in 16 deaths, have been confirmed by the national Center for Disease Control since an outbreak at a 1976 American Legion convention in Philadelphia for which the disease was named. The CDC said Friday in its weekly morbidity and mortality report that cases occurred in 24 states and the District of Columbia in addition to confirmed outbreaks in Ohio, Vermont and Tennessee. Cases were reported between August 1976, just after the disease broke out at the Philadelphia convention, and last Oct. 31. Twelve men and four women died from the disease, but the CDC said it could detect no clear trend of an age-related fatality rate. Alabama, Arkansas, Connecticut, the District of Columbia, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, New Mexico, Ohio, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin had one death each. California had three deaths, Illinois four and Tennessee two. Other states reporting cases were Colorado, Florida, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

North Korea Frees Boat

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea today released a Japanese fishing boat and 10 crewmen seized earlier in the week for allegedly violating North Korea's military sea zone, Pyongyang radio reported. The broadcast from the North Korean capital, monitored in Tokyo, said North Korea released the 197-ton Chidori Maru No. 87 "in consideration of friendly relations with Japan." A North Korean patrol boat seized the fishing craft on Thursday, five nautical miles inside the zone, the broadcast said. It said more than 76 Japanese fishing boats violated the zone in October. The Pyongyang government established what it called a "military sea boundary" Aug. 2 and said most foreign ships and planes would be banned from entering the zone without permission. Sugaio Sonoda, Japan's chief cabinet secretary, said then that he believed the zone "runs counter to international law and practice."

Smugglers Law Traps Gulf

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 1972 law designed to catch drug smugglers will be used more frequently to prosecute corporations making illegal campaign contributions, a Treasury Department official says. The Bank Security Act requires that any movement of more than $5,000 in cash in or from the United States be reported to the government. The law was used Friday to fine Gulf Oil Corp. $229,500 in connection with illegal contributions. "The Treasury plans to announce, within the next six weeks, a formal program to improve its ability to enforce this statute," Undersecretary Delle B. Anderson said Friday. Mrs. Anderson said the fine, which Gulf paid, "equals 90 percent of the unreported currency believed to have been brought into the United States without proper reporting."

Senators End Panama Trip

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Six U.S. senators are flying back to Washington with notebooks full of first-hand impressions on the Panama Canal and to whom it should belong. The group, headed by Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., was to hold a news conference, have lunch with some U.S. businessmen, then board an Air Force plane for the flight home later today. A seventh senator returned to the United States earlier. A final meeting with Gen. Omar Torrijos, Panama's head of state, also remained a possibility today. In previous meetings, the legislators reported coming away with favorable impressions of Torrijos. Senators also said they were highly skeptical of charges by anti-Torrijos forces in the United States that he is a communist who wants to turn Panama into another Cuba.

State Will Keep Pelts

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Coyote pelts for bounties will be kept by the state Department of Natural Resources to prevent hunters from "double dipping." Under the practice, hunters have been allowed to claim a bounty for the pelt from the state before marketing the hide. Such hides are worth at least double the bounty price on the fur market during months when the pelt is prime. Good hides turned in will be sold to fur buyers. DNR officials said.

Crop Loss Put In Millions

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state has requested the federal government to declare four Michigan counties disaster areas because of crop damage caused by bad weather. Gov. William Milliken said he asked Agriculture Secretary Robert Bergland to declare Arenac, Bay, Genesee and Lapeer counties disaster areas. He said the four sustained crop losses exceeding $28.8 million. Such a designation would make farmers in the counties eligible for emergency federal loans.

But The Meeting Never Happened

WASHINGTON, (AP) — A suggested meeting between President Gerald Ford and Korean businessman now accused of influence-buying was said to be "just a picture-and-handshake meeting," a Ford aide says.

The meeting never took place because of objections by the National Security Council. But the Friedersdorf, Ford's chief congressional liaison aide, said they were requested at least five times in 1975 and 1976 by Rep. Tennyson Guyer, R-Ohio.

Guyer's wife, reached by telephone in Ohio, said he was traveling and could not immediately be reached for comment.

The businessman, Hanjin C. Kim, has been indicted on federal charges of conspiring with the Korean Central Intelligence Agency to influence congressmen and U.S. officials. The indictment said Kim and his San Jose, N.C. firm, ran Operation White Snow, the title name for the effort. Its accomplishment cited in the indictment was the printing of two favorable statements in the Congressional Record.

Guyer acknowledged earlier he had arranged putting the two statements in the record but insisted it was an insignificant favor.

Friedersdorf said Guyer's efforts to arrange the meeting with Ford were "low key," the name kind of request scores of senators and congressmen regularly make. "It was assumed to be just a picture-and-handshake meeting," Friedersdorf said.

Guyer's requests were routed through the scheduling office, but were rejected by the National Security Council for reasons which were not then explained.

"I guess in retrospect I can see why they wouldn't," Friedersdorf said. "Usually only heads of state and high officials visit the president."

"I don't recall any foreign cabinet meeting with the president. I suppose you never know whether they could be terrorists or something like that," he added.

Guyer acknowledged earlier that he did some favors for Kim because they had known each other at Findlay College in Ohio. The indictment said Kim made a $10,000 donation to the college, which both Kim and Guyer attended and which is in Guyer's district.

New Orleans To Pick Mayor In A Runoff Election Today

By DAVID N. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Voters in the nation's 20th largest city choose a new mayor today in a runoff election between the first black ever to mount a serious campaign for the office and a white city councilman.

The candidates are Ernest Morial, a 48-year-old black who resigned his seat on the state's 4th Court of Appeals to stay in the mayoral contest, and Joe DiRosa, 60, a 12-year veteran of the City Council.

The winner will succeed Moon Landrieu, a former president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors. Landrieu is prohibited by law from seeking a third term.

Both Morial and DiRosa are Democrats, but their names will appear without party-affiliation on the non-partisan ballot.

Morial's legal entanglement to stay on the ballot has overshadowed all issues — including race — in the final days of the election.

Morial was a state appeals court judge until last week. To enter the race, he challenged a state law prohibiting sitting judges from running for other public offices and a federal court overturned the state law. When a federal appeals court suspended that ruling, Morial resigned his judgeship.

While still a judge, Morial led an 11-man field in the Oct. 1 election. He got 41,236 votes — 26.7 percent, and DiRosa was second with 30,882 votes — 21.9 percent. Nine other candidates split the remainder.

Because no candidate got more than 50 percent, the runoff election was scheduled.

Morial and DiRosa faced each other in a political contest eight years ago, with DiRosa winning an at-large seat on the City Council by 5,000 votes.

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. (AP) — "I guess that is unusual," said Mickey McKay following the birth of her third child — all born on Nov. 11. She and her husband Darrel had to postpone a scheduled double birthday party for their firstborn, Tucker, 4, and daughter Sioner, 2, when Mrs. McKay was taken to St. Mary's Hospital Friday where a second son, Chandler, was born. "None of them were planned," said Mrs. McKay, "and certainly not all on the same date."

Israeli Peace Appeal Gets Cool Reception; Arabs Parley

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Associated Press Writer

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Arab foreign ministers met today to plan a joint Middle East peace strategy after Egypt, on the eve of the conference, accused Israel's Menachem Begin of trying to divide the Arab nations with a peace appeal to the Egyptian people.

Some delegates arriving here Friday were worried the four-day meeting might bog down in inter-Arab quarrels unrelated to Arab-Israeli affairs, but procedural moves to bar such squabbling were underway.

The foreign ministers were expected to reaffirm the right of the Palestine Liberation Organization to represent the Palestinian people at the Geneva peace conference. Israel's refusal to sit down with representatives of the PLO, whose charter calls for the eradication of Israel, has been a major obstacle to reconvening the Geneva talks.

Sources said the foreign ministers also would meet privately to discuss the "absolute limit" of concessions the Arabs could make to Israel at Geneva. These guidelines will be kept secret for the present, the sources said.

The appeal read Friday by Begin, Israel's 64-year-old prime minister, was addressed to the "citizens of Egypt" and urged them to end bloodshed and "start on the road to friendship." The message appeared to be a spontaneous reply to a speech by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat who offered Wednesday to ignore technical difficulties blocking peace talks and go anywhere, even Israel, to negotiate.

"Let us say to one another, and let it be a silent oath by both peoples, of Egypt and Israel: no more wars, no more bloodshed and no more threats," Begin said, reading his statement to reporters in Jerusalem.

Monks Ask To Return To Russian Monastery

By THOMAS KENT
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — A dozen Russian Orthodox monks have appealed to President Leonid I. Brezhnev to let them resume religious duties at a historic Kiev monastery that was converted into a tourist attraction 16 years ago.

Copies of the petition were given to Western reporters Friday by a Moscow dissident group that deals with religious matters. One signer, 70-year-old monk Akhila Ianneni, met with the correspondents.

The Kiev-Pechersky monastery is an 11th century collection of churches and living quarters on a wooded height above Kiev, capital of the Ukraine. The monastery is thought to be the oldest in the Soviet Union.

Authorities closed the place to religious worship in 1929 but allowed it to reopen in 1942. The monastery was shut down again in 1961 and now houses a museum often visited by foreign tourists.

The dissidents, headed by the Rev. Gleb Yankin, said the monastery was closed "for repairs" during an anti-religious campaign and there is no sign of official intention to restore it to operation.

The group said local petitions to reopen the monastery received the official reply that there are no monks to staff it.

Navy Teaching Reading To High School Grads

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP) — Elijah Foster joined the Navy after three years of high school and one year of junior college. But a Navy test soon determined he couldn't read at the second grade level.

"When the safety of men at sea might depend on someone's ability to read a warning sign, we can't fool around," said Chief Petty Officer T.G. Binkley.

So Foster, 20, a recruit from Chester, Pa., near Philadelphia, was assigned to an intensive, five-week remedial reading program headed by Binkley.

The program, one of three the Navy has developed since 1967, graduates about 975 of the 1,500 recruits entering it each year. About 92 percent of the graduates then go on to complete basic training and become sailors, Navy figures indicate.

"When they told me I couldn't begin basic (training) until I passed the reading course, I was looking for the gate. I wanted out," Foster remembered. "I was very depressed."

But the program, from which Foster graduated last Friday, paid off. Foster's reading level rose nearly three grades. Scores on subsequent exams qualified him for additional schooling. He also was named a leader in his basic training group.

"Chief Binkley and the teachers got on our cases pretty hard," the trainee remembered. "If we didn't learn, they just kept with us till we got it. They were like brothers, they cared."

"That never happened in (public) school. The teachers just said what they had to say and if we didn't get it, too bad."

"I can read now. That's really something," he concluded.

Binkley says the Navy, at times, can do better at teaching reading than public schools because "we have better discipline, we have instructors in front of these kids all the time, we supervise their homework." But he admitted that depression could be a problem.

"But wouldn't you be depressed if you went through high school and couldn't pass a basic reading test?" Binkley asked. "You should hear parents scream when we tell them their son can't read."

The Navy says 3 percent of its recruits can't pass basic reading tests, although most have high school diplomas and some have attended up to four years of college.

"I think much of the problem began in the '60s when school systems started advancing kids too easily," said Cmdr. R.D. Aydt, executive officer of the Navy boot camp here.

Still, 35 percent of recruits who enter the program don't graduate.

"It breaks my heart," Binkley said. "We try everything we can, but there's a point where you have to give up."

Ask Your Dentist

ALFRED E. SEYLER,
D.D.S.

Q: About six weeks ago my 10-year-old son Dave fell off his bike and knocked out his permanent front tooth. He came home carrying it in his hand. I put the tooth in a wet cloth and called my dentist. He told me to put the tooth back in the socket and bring him in. The tooth wasn't broken or damaged and was replanted within 10 to 15 minutes after it was knocked out.

So far it hasn't discolored and a bar is still on to hold it in place. My dentist explained if the tooth "takes hold," sometime in the future he might need a root canal done on the tooth. His bottom teeth also loosened up and one now is starting to discolor.

I worry about the knocked-out tooth and the root resorbing. Have you found a way of successfully transplanting a tooth? Do you know what causes the root to resorb on a knocked-out tooth? Or a means of keeping the tooth in place after it does? Do you know of any successful transplants? Is there a chance that since my son hasn't had a root canal done that the blood vessels and nerves will heal and the tooth come back in life, so he never has any problems that come with knocked-out teeth? Do you feel he'd have a better chance of keeping the tooth if a root canal filling would have been done at once?

I hope you will find the time to answer my letter, Mrs. K.

A: Frankly, Mrs. K., you've posed enough questions in your letter to provide me with an hour-long lecture to our students here at our School of Dentistry in Detroit. However, I'll do my best to answer them in the next several paragraphs.

First of all, you are to be commended for your prompt and proper procedure when Dave's tooth was knocked out. You did exactly what we dentists have recommended to parents for many years. Similarly, the dentist you consulted must be complimented for his treatment of the situation and his explanation to you as to what you may expect in the future. In fact, his use of a "bar" which is attached by plastic to the knocked-out tooth and the two teeth on either side is the best way to support the replanted tooth until it becomes firm in the socket again.

Root resorption of a replanted tooth is to be expected, but the rate of resorption varies in different individuals. I have had several replanted teeth last as long as 15 years. I've also had some that lasted only a few months!

Root resorption of a replanted, knocked-out tooth is probably due to nature's attempt to rid itself of a foreign body, which that tooth is once it has been separated from its socket in the jawbone. There are technical terms to describe the process, but I think my explanation in plain English is proper and understandable.

Successful transplanting of teeth is not uncommon, especially if it is done in the same individual. Usually, the procedure involves incompletely formed teeth, which seem to acquire a new blood and nerve supply in their new socket, and continue to form their root (or roots).

There are several investigations in progress around the country in the field of tooth transplantation. I understand that Dr. James Hayward at the University of Michigan School of Dentistry has established a "tooth bank," and is conducting research in that area.

I doubt that your son's tooth will "come back to life," so that he won't have a problem with his knocked-out tooth. Further, I don't believe the situation would have been influenced if the dentist had immediately filled the root canal of the knocked out tooth. Present-day treatment is to let the replanted tooth become firm again in the socket before attempting to fill the root canal.

U.S. Will Test Diesel Exhaust

WASHINGTON (AP) — New government tests will be conducted to determine if diesel engine exhausts cause cancer, the Environmental Protection Agency has announced.

"We have no data which support the conclusion that there is any present danger from driving diesel vehicles or from having them on the road," said Dr. Robert Barth, deputy assistant administrator for health and ecological effects.

Preliminary tests of diesel exhausts showed "significant mutagenic properties," prompting more research, EPA said.

Barth said that "because of the preliminary findings, prudence dictates that until additional data are obtained, researchers handling concentrated diesel exhaust products should treat them as potentially hazardous materials."

EPA recommended that individuals not eat or drink in areas where diesel exhaust products are stored or handled. The agency also suggested persons wear protective clothing when working with exhaust products.

Baffled Parents Seek Traces Of Son

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Both Ray and Eleanor Cross sensed something was wrong on June 7.

It was their 36th wedding anniversary, the kind of family event they always happily celebrated. And their oldest son, Jeffrey, making his home on an Arizona ranch, hadn't called to share the moment with them as they'd expected.

"He always called, on birthdays, Mother's Day, everything. He never forgot a one," remarks his father, Ray Cross, quietly touching a pile of photographs of his son.

Still, they knew he always was a busy man and might have forgotten. They let it pass then without a thought for several days. Besides, they kept telling themselves, the 34-year-old artisan was supposed to arrive at their Ann Arbor home that weekend after completing a stint at a Maryland art fair.

On June 12 the phone rang, and the baffling mystery began. The Crosses launched a

It was here on a mountainside that bearded, dark-eyed Jeffrey

Deciding to abandon police to their own efforts, Cross and his other son, Harry, headed for the post office for any clue that might lead them somewhere. They found letters postmarked between certain dates that indicated to them that some of Jeffrey's mail may have been taken.

There also was a bank statement with a deposit correction dated June 8. It carried the name of a man who resided at the Cross ranch in an old bus converted into a home.

At the bank, Ray Cross uncovered two crudely forged checks on his son's account.

"They were signed Jeff," he said. "He always signed his name Jeffrey K. It wasn't even close to his handwriting, either."

At least three other forged checks turned up and also the use of Cross' credit card.

The man whose name appeared on the bank statement has been questioned by police, but he insists he had been given permission to use Cross' checks and sign his name.

Maricopa County sheriff's investigators say they are stymied until either Jeff's body is found or he suddenly reappears to dispute the man's claim of granting permission to sign his checks.

Their theory — accepted by the Crosses — is that there was a confrontation stemming from Cross trying to deal with the problem of his checks being forged.

Police have searched 13 mine shafts for Cross, and there have been two air searches.

As a last resort, the family has turned to psychics, from California to Dearborn. It began world of psychics and carefully sifting through a handful of personal items, the only traces now left of their son.

Jeffrey Cross is missing. More than enough signs were there, Cross apparently hadn't been seen since May 19, almost a month before his parents knew. His truck had been found May 20 abandoned at Sky Harbor International Airport, 40 miles south of the ranch in Phoenix. He failed to show up as expected at a Bishop, Calif., art show.

And the goats, mules, chickens and the rest of Cross' menagerie at the ranch had gone unattended, with no arrangements made for their care, something his parents know Cross never would do.

He had simply vanished. But he had told an artist friend on the last day he was seen alive he was going on a dangerous mission.

"Look for me at the bottom of a mine shaft. If I don't show up," he reportedly said.

When Cross hadn't shown up for six days, friends began to believe his ominous premonition and filed a missing person report with police.

Cross came 10 years ago to make bronze bells on a 7.5-acre ranch after graduating from Eastern Michigan University.

"He was a generous person," recalls Mrs. Cross. "Sometimes too generous. People took advantage of him sometimes."

It may have been that personality trait that got Jeff Cross killed — if he was murdered, as police and his parents suspect.

It took some amateur sleuthing and determination on the part of the Crosses to detect that possibility, since police admit they hadn't really done much on the case until the family arrived.

Searching their son's home they found clothes he had been wearing when he disappeared, his rings, eyeglasses and passport, as well as a personal item he never was without, a leather pouch.

In plain sight near the bed was $160 in cash, ruling out the possibility of burglary, they feel.

There was no blood, no sign of a struggle, nothing.

Food Stamp Buyers Will Get A Break If Utility Bills Rise

WASHINGTON — In the face of predictions for another cold winter, Assistant Secretary Carol Tucker Fennell has announced that the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) plans to ensure lower food stamp purchase prices this winter for households experiencing substantial increases in utility bills.

"We're trying to make sure the food stamp program works the way it is supposed to," she said. "Last winter, some low-income families were forced to choose between paying high utility bills and buying their food stamps. Some of these households were unaware that if they took their utility bills to the food stamp office, they would be entitled to a reduction in the cost of their stamps. In other cases, administrative procedures prevented prompt adjustment in food stamp purchase prices."

To remedy this problem, she said USDA's

Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) would shortly issue a notice instructing states to make procedural changes aimed at ensuring adjustments in purchase prices for households bringing in increased utility bills this winter. This includes households currently certified on the basis of a "standard utility allowance."

The forthcoming directive will instruct states to send a notice to all food stamp households describing new procedures and informing them of their right to bring increased utility bills to the food stamp office and receive an adjustment in their purchase price.

Under food stamp regulations now in effect, the amounts households must pay for food stamps are based on their income after deductions. The principal deduction is for high shelter and utility costs.

Californian Sixth Carter Nominee To Be Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Mendelsohn, a former San Francisco county supervisor accused of violating California election laws, is the sixth top Carter administration nominee not to obtain the post to which he was named.

ROBERT MENDELSON
Accused in California

Mendelsohn's nomination to become assistant interior secretary was withdrawn Friday after a California agency announced plans to sue him in connection with an alleged scheme to launder campaign funds.

Mendelsohn requested the withdrawal, but said he was doing so only to free himself to seek exoneration in California.

Interior Secretary Cecil Andrus said he was confident Mendelsohn would be cleared. Andrus said he would ask that Mendelsohn be renominated then.

Mendelsohn is the sixth top Carter appointee to have his nomination withdrawn.

A fifth nominee, nuclear engineer Kent Hansen, was reassigned a post on the Nuclear Regulatory Commission when a Senate committee decided he lacked administrative experience.

The nominations withdrawn earlier included Theodore C. Sorensen, to head the Central Intelligence Agency; Kenneth S.

Axelson, as the No. 2 man in the Treasury Department; George S. Vest, as ambassador in Pakistan; and Don Tucker, to the Civil Aeronautics Board.

Sorensen faced stiff Senate opposition over his handling of classified information during the Kennedy administration. Axelson said his post might conflict with an investigation underway of his former employer, the J.P. Penney Co. Tucker's nomination was withdrawn after senators began exploring his financial dealings.

Vest, a career diplomat, later was named an assistant secretary of state.

A seventh nomination may be in trouble. Civil rights groups say Irby Turner Jr., nominated to the board of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting, worked to keep Mississippi schools from being integrated. A Senate subcommittee has agreed to delay confirmation until the allegation can be investigated.

Asked about the allegation Thursday, President Carter said he would look into the matter, but added he would "have to know more about the circumstances before I would consider withdrawing the nomination."

In the Mendelsohn case, the California Fair Political Practices Commission said it would file suit Monday in Sacramento Superior Court alleging "widespread violations of California's campaign disclosure laws."

The commission said the suit names Mendelsohn, a 1974 campaign committee and five other individuals.

The commission said $25,500 was allegedly laundered before it was funneled into Mendelsohn's unsuccessful campaign for state controller and that "a conspiracy to cover up the true source of the money still exists."

Commission Chairman Daniel Luvenshine said his agency, however, did not conclude Mendelsohn was part of a conspiracy or that he had knowledge of the true source of the $25,500.

In a lengthy personal statement issued through the Interior Department, Mendelsohn denied any wrongdoing.

"I intend to fight it (the commission action) with every fiber of my being and seek the justice which only clear exoneration in a court of law can provide," Mendelsohn said.

"Until that court action has been taken, however, it would be unfair of me to ask the administration to leave pending my nomination."

"Accordingly, I have asked Secretary Andrus to ask the president to withdraw my nomination."

The White House withdrew the nomination, but said it had no comment on the matter.

A spokesman for Andrus said the withdrawal was effective immediately and that Mendelsohn also had been dropped from his $175-a-day consultant's job at the Interior Department.

The Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee repeatedly had delayed a vote on Mendelsohn's confirmation while waiting for the report from the California agency.

Neighbors Die In Ditch

MONROE, Mich. (AP) — Two neighbors who were trying to connect one of their homes to a sewer line were suffocated Thursday when wet sand gave way as they worked in a 10-foot deep ditch, authorities said. Ray Jacobs and Philip Wurster were working alongside the Wurster home when the accident occurred. Another neighbor, Thomas Barton, saw the sandslide and rushed over to try to dig the two men out and was almost trapped himself as the sand gave way again, but he managed to dig his way to safety, said sheriff's deputies. The Frenchtown Township fire department, aided by Monroe County sheriff's deputies, tried fruitlessly to rescue the men but it was 90 minutes before they reached them.

Boy, 16, Bound Over

DETROIT (AP) — A 16-year-old youth has been bound over to stand trial in Recorder's Court for the murder of a Wayne State University professor. The youth, David Savage, was bound over following a preliminary examination Thursday. Judge Joseph Gillis continued an earlier order that Savage be held without bond in the Wayne County Jail. Savage has been waived from juvenile court to face charges as an adult in the slaying of 29-year-old Stephen Hepler. Hepler, a mathematics instructor, was stabbed in the neck and chest and robbed of about $2 inside a WSC parking structure Sept. 28.

Owner: Nothing To Fear

DETROIT (AP) — The Wayne County prosecutor and the Michigan attorney general have been asked to investigate charges that an east side firm may have been cheating the city out of $10,000 a month by taking load weights of garbage trucks. The Detroit City Council asked for the investigation, and also directed the city to see what can be done about recovering the alleged overpayments. The firm is City Disposal Systems Inc. Owner Tony Seve says he has nothing to fear from any investigation. If anything City Disposal did was wrong, it was not intentional, Seve said. The council acted after an auditor's report that city garbage truck weights were consistently high in May, June and July, but plummeted in August after Detroit News columnist DeLo Wadman began an investigation. City garbage trucks take their loads to dumping stations where they are weighed before disposal. Commercial dumping stations, like City Disposal, are paid $7.08 a ton.

Homeowners, Take Interest

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Homeowners would be entitled to interest on escrow accounts established for their homes under a two-bill package which has been introduced by Sen. David A. Flawicki, D-Deerborn Heights. One of the measures allows an escrow account to earn interest from the date of deposit to the withdrawal date — equal to the rate paid by the institutions on passbook savings accounts. The second proposal prohibits the continued requirement of an escrow account as a condition for the home mortgage.

House Calls -- $40 Each

DETROIT (AP) — Remember when doctors made house calls? Deborah Korash will try to revive that practice with an operation to be known as Suburban Detroit House Call Physicians. She hopes to be operating Dec. 1, with a full complement of doctors on call — at $40 a visit. "When you get sick at 2 a.m., you don't want to go to emergency, do you?" Miss Korash asked. "Wouldn't you rather have a doctor who made a house call?" Already about 30 doctors have agreed to participate, Miss Korash said. "Actually they've contacted me," she said. "I don't believe doctors are that hard up, and you've got younger doctors with families just setting up practice...a little cash money never hurts anybody."

School Enrollments Drop

DETROIT (AP) — Public school enrollment is down again in southeast Michigan. As of Sept. 30, school districts in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties reported 3.3 percent fewer students than in 1976. Wayne County showed the largest decline, followed by Macomb, then Oakland. Only 18 of the tri-county area's 85 school districts reported increases. Nearly all those with larger enrollments this year are in outlying, still-developing communities.

Teacher Awaits Verdict

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Macomb County Circuit Judge Edward Gallagher is expected to hand down a verdict next week in the trial of a Warren schoolteacher charged with criminal sexual conduct allegedly involving one of her former elementary school students. Judge Gallagher presided at the trial of Pamela Sue Kellar without a jury. Testimony took eight days, concluding Wednesday. The proceedings were closed to the press and public. Mrs. Kellar was charged last February with having sexual relations on several occasions with the former student, a 12-year-old boy,

POLICE ROUNDUP

Officers Probe Girl's Report

St. Joseph police said a 12-year-old girl reported Friday afternoon that a man questioned her about a sexual act while she was walking in the 600 block of Wayne Street.

Patrolman James Reeves said the girl reported the man was in a dark blue auto and drove off when she ran to a nearby house. Reeves said the man was described as white, in his 20's or 30's and wearing sunglasses. Police were notified at 4:53 p.m.

Benton Township Patrolman Kim Fowler said three people, including a juvenile boy age 16, were arrested after an auto was stopped in the Euclid Plaza parking lot about 11:50 p.m. Friday.

Fowler said he and Patrolman Steve Hansen seized a quantity of suspected marijuana and open containers of intoxicants after following an auto allegedly being driven from lane to lane along Napier Avenue from Crystal Springs Cemetery to the plaza.

Fowler said the driver, Rafael (Rafael) E. Gonzalez, 18, of 3020

Sunset Drive, St. Joseph, was booked for investigation of charges of violating the controlled substance act, possession of marijuana, having open intoxicants in a motor vehicle, and contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Fowler said a girl passenger, Terry Christ, 17, of 3517 Pine Court, St. Joseph, was booked for investigation of charges of being a minor in possession of intoxicants.

The 16-year-old, also of St. Joseph, was to be petitioned to juvenile court in connection with charges of violating the controlled substance act, possession of intoxicants in a car, and minor in possession.

Fowler said Gonzalez was lodged in the Berrien County jail, while the girl posted a $100 bond and was released. The boy was released to his parents, Fowler said.

Berrien Sheriff's Sgt. Jack Knuth said a Sodas Township man, Leslie Hoppler, Friday reported the theft of personal property totaling $1,050 and several rolls of pennies from his home at Meadow Streams Estate mobile home park, 3101 River Road. Stolen property was listed to include a television set, a microwave oven, and a police scanner. The theft was reported at 4:02 p.m.

South Haven

Twp. Issues

Five Permits

SOUTH HAVEN — Five permits for projects estimated to cost $2,600 were issued by South Haven township during October, according to building inspector Ed Post.

Permits were issued to Donald Downum, 604 avenue, pole building, $1,800; Lefroy Erbe, 72nd street, garage, $1,300; Dan Middlestadt, 73rd street, pole building, $500; Art Mielko, 73rd street, garage, $2,000; and Leonard Kaczmarek, 73rd street, garage, $3,000.

Bloomington Will Dock Teacher Pay

BLAOMINGDALE — The Bloomington School Board in special session Friday night approved deducting pay from all teachers who participated in the "blackboard flu" demonstrations here.

The board also directed its superintendent to file letters of reprimand in each teacher's personnel file, if they engaged in what the board termed "this unlawful activity."

Pay deductions would range from $61 to $87 per day depending on the teacher's years of experience and degree status.

Classes were cancelled at the high school Nov. 9 and the elementary school Nov. 11, when a vast majority of the teachers called in sick. The Bloomington Education Association said the action was taken in protest over the lack of a new contract settlement with the board.

Negotiations were scheduled to be resumed today at 2 p.m. after both sides failed to reach an agreement last Tuesday. In a statement tied to the formal action, the board said "The teachers of this district have violated the very act which gives them the right to bargain collectively...by acting in concert and without any lawful approval whatever...by unlawfully absenting themselves from their positions," for the purposes of inducing, influencing, and coercing a change in the conditions of compensation.

The board also cited teacher actions on Nov. 3 and 4 where when the board contended teachers failed to provide proper supervision to students. The board action gave the superintendent the right to change the board order on a per-teacher basis if convinced a justified reason existed for the absence. It also gave a teacher 10 days to appeal.

James Muenzer, school board president, stated in reviewing negotiations that the board had offered the BEA the present increment increase of three to four percent plus additional money in the amount of 2.5 percent of the total salary hike. He said the offer would cost taxpayers an additional $53,000 this year.

Muenzer said the board is also seeking to have the teacher's extra duty pay schedule converted to dollar amounts rather than percentage amounts. A ceiling could then be placed on amounts spent for extra duties.

The board is also asking that teachers agree to make up days lost because of bad weather whenever the total days lost becomes excessive, he said.

Young Giacalone On Trial

DETROIT (AP) — Anthony D. Giacalone, 25, son of reputed Mafia figure Anthony J. Giacalone, is on trial in U.S. District Court on charges of lying to a grand jury and in a trial. The younger Giacalone was accused on four counts of perjury before the Organized Crime Strike Force grand jury investigating tax evasion charges against his father. The elder Giacalone was convicted on three counts of tax evasion in May, 1976. Indictments against the younger Giacalone centered on alleged inconsistencies in his statements to the grand jury and as a defense witness at his father's trial. Government attorneys said the younger Giacalone told the grand jury he received $25,000 in wedding presents, and at the trial changed the figure to $104,000.

Molin Calls 'Em 'Stopgap'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's labor director has blasted federal and state unemployment programs as stopgap measures and endorsed a Senate bill to establish a "full employment plan." Federal and state programs have been unable to make a significant dent in unemployment because they apply "a Band-Aid here and a tourniquet there," Keith Molin said. The measure would require the governor to submit to the Legislature an annual employment plan, including a five-year projection of employment, production and purchasing.

Brandywine District Teacher Vote Set

NILES — The date for a vote by teachers in the Brandywine School District near here on a proposed change in bargaining agents has been set for Nov. 18, according to a spokesman for the Michigan Education Association.

Jack York, executive director of MEA's 5-C Area, which covers south Berrien county school districts, said the Michigan Employment Relations Commission set the date. Teachers in the River Valley School District will also be voting on a proposed change in agents then.

In both school districts, teachers will have the choice of being represented by the regional 5-C Education Association, the local education association which represents them now, or no union at all.

Key Issue Splits Panel On Juveniles

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Sharply divided on a key issue, a special state commission has completed its two-year, $750,000 study of Michigan's juvenile justice system.

The 11 member commission's report, complete with addendums expressing minority viewpoints, has been submitted to Gov. William Milliken, who appointed the panel in 1975. Chairman William Phelps says the disposition of so-called status offenders was the major stumbling block to unanimity.

Status offenders are children like runaways and truants who are treated as criminals in juvenile court, although their offenses would not be criminal if they were adults. Eight commission members said status offenders should be removed from the state's juvenile court system.

"Many of us feel that in the cases of status-offending children, there is clearly a problem in the home or school environment," Phelps said. "We don't feel we can solve the problem by locking the kid up."

The majority recommendation calls for establishing a system of counselors, runaway houses and crisis centers. Three dissenters said if the legislature were to adopt the recommendations of the majority, "unlimited freedom" for children would result.

The minority viewpoints said reporting status offenders from the jurisdiction of juvenile courts would be "destructive of the American family" and have the effect of "allowing any child, of any age, at any time, to leave home and decide whether or no to attend school."

A state legislative committee working for two years on revising Michigan's juvenile justice codes has also been hung up on the status offender issue.

College Day Is Monday At Andrews

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Andrews University's College Day for public high school seniors will be held here Monday, according to the university. Registration for the annual program will be in the lobby of Lansing Hall on the campus here from 9:45-10:20 a.m.

The morning and afternoon program will include talks by a student, teacher and administrator, four of the campus and academic departments: talks by the deans of the departments of arts and sciences and technology, and an appearance by Dr. Joseph Smoot, Andrews president.

A special lunch will be provided and the program is to conclude about 3:30 p.m.

Student Shot In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — A 14-year-old student remained in serious condition today after being shot in front of Kettering High School on the city's east side.

Wounded in the Friday morning incident was Paul Anthony. Police said another youth was arrested in connection with the shooting and lodged at the Wayne County Youth Home pending a juvenile court hearing.

The shooting may have climaxed an argument over a girl, police said.

Niles Nursing Home Sale OK'd By State

NILES — A Battle Creek couple have received permission from the state health director for the purchase of a 34-bed nursing home here. Ronald and Pauline Westman have purchased the former Berea Inn at Niles, Inc., nursing home for $134,500, the State Department of Health announced. The nursing home is located at 133 N. Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Westman will name the nursing home Riveridge Manor. Dr. Maurice Reizen, state health director, said the owners were notified of the approval of the sale by the Michigan Department of Public Health health facility planning and construction division. He indicated there is a need for nursing care beds in the area.

Camp is located just south of Bloomington. Latus has been a camp staff member for past five years. He is son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo "Bud" Latus Jr.

the basis of the sperm count results, and the comparison of the two groups, I don't see any group abnormality; I don't see a problem. What I do see is a group pattern that to me appears normal," Johns said.

Dow said it intended to see how work histories of individual workers were associated with sperm counts. The company at so is trying, through annual experiments, to find out just how often DBCP acts to cause sterility.

Evel Blair, director of health and environmental research, said the results of the Midland tests — which clearly elated company officials — might be explained in three ways:

—Safety precautions and supervision at Midland might have been stricter than they were elsewhere.

—The Midland workers might have become sterile, but sterility caused by DBCP might not be long-lasting.

—Workers at Magnolia might somehow have exceeded Dow's exposure limit of one part per million through accident. Investigations are continuing at Magnolia, Blair said.

Patient Abuse To Be Probed

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state mental health director has appointed a special committee to investigate abuse of patients at state facilities and recommend changes to prevent it.

Donald Smith, director of the Department of Mental Health, said the panel will review laws, policies and procedures which relate to abuse, recommend changes and report to him by Jan. 1.

The action follows reports of abuse in two state facilities in Lapeer and Plymouth.

Smith said the panel will primarily study how to prevent abuse and how to respond to reports of abuse. Its chairman is Raymond Bishop of Ann Arbor.

School Selling Citrus Fruits At Eau Claire

EAU CLAIRE — The Eau Claire Middle School is holding a citrus fruit sale with proceeds to help offset costs of various middle school projects.

Those wishing to purchase fruit may do so by contacting middle school students or the middle school office. Cost for oranges and grapefruit is $1.95 for a 20-pound box, or $0.95 for a 10-pound box. The fruit is to be shipped to the school about Dec. 1.

River Valley Voting Monday On Bonds

THREE OAKS — River Valley school district voters go to the polls here Monday to decide the fate of a $3,715,000 school bond construction issue. If approved, bonds would be sold to finance construction of a new middle school, plus additions and remodeling at the district's three elementary schools.

A maximum of 3.5 mills increase in property taxes would be needed to finance the proposal. The present middle schools at New Troy and Three Oaks are approximately 40 years old and have outlived their reasonable usefulness as well as having building, fire and safety code problems, according to Dr. Charles Williams, superintendent.

Similar bond issue requests were defeated by district voters in 1975 and 1976. Polls at the high school library will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Gas Drops A Tenth

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The cost of a gallon of regular gasoline dropped a tenth of a cent this week to 65.6 cents, according to the Automobile Club of Michigan. But the price is only four-tenths of a cent under the record high 66 cents a gallon set the week of Aug. 1, the club said Wednesday. Prices for regular fuel ranged from 59.9 to 71.9 cents at the 300 major-brand gasoline stations surveyed. Unleaded gasoline averaged 68.6 cents a gallon, up a tenth of a cent from last week, with prices ranging from 59.9 to 73.9 cents. At self-serve stations, regular fuel averaged 62 cents a gallon, the club reported.

Wildcats Leaving Big Ten?

CHICAGO (AP) — Northwestern University President Robert H. Strutz has termed "rather preposterous" rumors that the Nebraska might replace Northwestern in the Big Ten.

"There has been absolutely no discussion of Northwestern leaving the Big Ten," Strutz said Friday night when told of the rumor. "It's not even being considered."

Northwestern will stay in the Big Ten.

Strutz added that he had "heard nothing that even suggests the source or origin of those reports."

Rumors of Northwestern leaving the Big Ten have circulated informally for decades. It is the only private school in a conference of state-supported giants. The Wildcats have lost 19 of 20 football games in the last two seasons.

Nebraska has been a national football power for more than a generation and is a Big Eight mainstay.

Big Eight Commissioner Chuck Nims said of the rumors that he had never heard anyone in the University of Nebraska administration "ever express any dissatisfaction resulting from Nebraska's membership in the Big Eight."

The rumors surfaced Friday at the Nebraska Board of Regents meeting in Lincoln.

Regent Kermit Wagner asked Lincoln campus Chancellor Roy Young if the chancellor had heard anything about the reports.

"I heard that Northwestern might drop out, but nothing about Nebraska joining," Young replied.

Wagner asked Young pointblank if Young knew whether the Husker athletic department was doing any negotiating to join the Big Ten.

"There's no negotiating going on in any formal way," Young said.

White's Return Keys Celts

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now, if the Boston Celtics could only get John White to return every night.

White, the Celtics' leading scorer, quit the team Wednesday night after General Manager Red Auerbach bawled out the team following its eighth loss in nine games, Thursday.

White skipped practice and said he was retiring from the National Basketball Association.

Friday night, White returned and scored 21 points to lead the Celtics to a 109-103 victory over the Buffalo Braves.

"I have no regrets in quitting," White said. "Temperatures are said. I felt I had to make a decision."

"Perhaps what happened will help turn us around. I'm used to being a winner. When we were losing — and sometimes not even staying close — I got frustrated."

It was the Braves who were frustrated Friday as White received help from rookie Cedric "Cornbread" Maxwell, who replaced John Havlicek in the starting lineup. Maxwell finished with 21 points.

The Celtics rushed out to a 17-point lead midway through the second period, then stayed off a Braves' rally in the fourth quarter, offsetting a 34-point performance by Buffalo's Rudy Smith with late baskets by White and Havlicek.

In other NBA games Friday, New Jersey edged Chicago 91-89. San Antonio squeezed past Detroit 107-104. Portland bombed Atlanta 132-92. Cleveland defeated Milwaukee 88-82. Kansas City nipped Golden State 106-105. Los Angeles downed New Orleans 123-107 and Seattle tripped Indiana 117-111.

Cleveland scored the first 12 points of the third period, blunting a 30-17 lead into a 61-47 margin, then hung on to beat Milwaukee.

Wall Frazier paced Cleveland's balanced attack with 16 points. The Bucks were led by Junior Bridgeman's 20 points and Kent Benson's 19.

Bill Walton scored 27 points, Maurice Lucas 21 and Bob Gross 18 as Portland crushed Atlanta, handing the Hawks only their second loss against eight victories.

John Drew paced the Hawks with 24 points before a record Atlanta crowd of 13,455.

A fourth-quarter surge, led by Joe Bryant and Doug Collins, gave Philadelphia its fourth straight victory. Collins paced the 76ers with 30 points while George McGinnis added 23 and Bryant had 19.

Spencer Haywood and Jim McMillian scored 20 points each for New York.

Darrell Hillman scored 28 points and rookie Bernard King added 27 as New Jersey snapped a four-game losing streak by edging Chicago. Artis Gilmore had 27 points and 26 rebounds for the Bulls.

Lake Shore Is Streaking

Portage Central Posts Playoff Victory

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Everybody else could have stayed home. Russ (Rach) was all St. Clair Shores Lake Shore needed.

He scored on a 47-yard run, recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass to lead the Shorelions to a 21-6 victory over Grosse Pointe South in a Class A high school football playoff quarterfinal game Friday.

The victory extended Lake Shore's winning streak to 20, just two short of Utica's monthly record.

Lake Shore advances to next weekend's semifinals along with Friday's other winners.

Ted Lipschultz scored two touchdowns as (un)ranked Portage Central (10-0) defeated Plymouth Salem, 21-3 in a Class A matchup.

Jackson Lumpy Christi defeated Marshall in Class B, 20-6. The two teams had finished the regular season ranked No. 5 and 4 respectively in the Associated Press Class B poll.

John Chapman scored on a 95-yard kickoff return and a 3-yard run to lead Saginaw Sts. 10-0 to a 28-15 victory over Albion in Class C action.

Flint Holy Rosary, 9-1 and ranked seventh in the final Associated Press Class D poll, advanced to the semifinals by edging No. 6 Birmingham Country Day, 14-8. A 15-yard TD run by Mark Zold in the final period decided the game.

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — "We can win. We will win," said Syracuse football Coach Frank Maloney after the university extended his contract.

The Orangemen, under the former Michigan assistant, who succeeded the legendary Ron Schwartzwalder are 4-5 this season.

Hard-Working St. Louis Wins

DENVER (AP) — St. Louis Coach Lou Pini says his National Hockey League team has played better in almost all of its losing efforts this year than it did in a 2-1 victory over the Colorado Rockies.

"We checked and worked hard," Pini said after the Blues' win Friday night. "But believe it or not, in our first nine losses we played better hockey than we did tonight. And we should have played better tonight."

Although the Blues, now 3-10-2, "checked pretty well," Pini said the margin of victory should have been greater. He said one of his players should have scored three goals in the scoreless first period.

In other NHL matches Friday, Toronto defeated Washington 3-1 and Vancouver downed Minnesota 4-2.

St. Louis' winning tally came with less than four minutes remaining in the game when Bruce Affleck picked up his first goal of the season with an unassisted score from near the right faceoff circle.

The Rockies came back to tie the score at 3:23 of the final period when defenseman Barry Beck grabbed a rebound on Bryan Leffley's shot and put the puck high in the net.

A pair of goals by Ron Ellis lifted Toronto past Washington as the Capitals played their eighth straight game without a victory.

Guy Charron put Washington ahead in the second period but Toronto's Errol Thompson tied the score on a breakaway. Ellis then gave the Maple Leafs the lead for good when he scored from in the slot near the end of the second period.

Ellis' second goal of the game capped a 3-on-1 Toronto break.

Vancouver napped a seven-game losing streak on power-play goals by Rick Blight and Dennis Kearns. Defenseman Larry Goodenough and rookie Jere Gillis tallied the other Canucks goals while Pierre Jarry had both goals for the North Stars.

Tiger Stadium Seats Going Fast

DETROIT (AP) — Tiger Stadium seats are selling like hotcakes and the baseball season is still months away. But the club could care less.

A salvage company which got the contract to remove about 100,000 box seats and lower deck reserved seats is busily selling them as souvenirs at $5 apiece.

"We have nothing to do with the sale...we sold the stadium to the City of Detroit for $1 last month," said Tigers public relations director Hal Middlesworth.

He explained that under the contract with the city, the team has no say in disposition of the seats that are removed. They're taken to the office of the Dynamic Construction Co., of Redford which was the successful bidder for the right to remove the old seats.

A separate contract will be let next Tuesday for installation of new seats in the stadium which had a capacity of 34,226 seats for baseball last season.

A spokesman for the salvage company said their phone banks are ringing off the hook all day as souvenir hunters sought to grab a memento of the grand old ball park of Michigan Avenue.

"I had about 20 people write me letters asking how they could get a couple of the seats," said Middlesworth. He said most of those who wrote said they were longtime Tiger fans and that their father had been before them.

The primary target of the first stage of the stadium renewal project was the six rows of box seats which had iron bases and were included in the stadium floor. They are to be replaced with fixed seats of modern design in molded plastic.

The rows of canvas back seats will not be preserved as they are higher than regular box seats and cause some vision problems, the Tigers said.

Detroit sold the stadium to the city with a provision that the city must obtain a $5 million grant from the federal government to aid the renovation project underway. It has been estimated the work to be done updating the ball park will cost nearly $15 million.

Bench Signed To Long Pact

CINCINNATI (AP) — The prospect of continued winning, security and feeling at home were enough for Johnny Bench.

The star catcher signed a five-year contract Friday for an estimated $2 million with the Cincinnati Reds.

"I didn't go into this thing with any great expectations or illusions," said Bench. "I'm not among the highest-paid players nor did I go into this with that in mind. I wanted what was best for Johnny Bench."

Bench said he likes the Reds, the town and his teammates. There was no reason to look elsewhere, he said.

"If I were not a Red, this wouldn't have been so easy," he said. Bench, starting his 11th major league baseball season, will be under contract through 1982.

Neither Bench nor the Reds would indicate the amount of the contract. President Bob Howsam was out of town.

Bench said his contentment with the players and their ability was a factor in his decision.

"Guys like Ken Griffey, Tom Seaver, Joe Morgan and Pete Rose are all staying. If everyone was leaving, I might be tempted," he said.

Although the Reds failed to win the Western Division of the National League in 1977, Bench had his best season in several years. He hit .275 with 31 home runs.

Hubbard's Loss Big Blow To Michigan Cage Hopes

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Coach Johnny Orr had his best basketball team over at Michigan, he felt, until center Phil Hubbard suffered a knee injury and underwent surgery a couple weeks ago.

Now it's anyone's guess how well the Wolverines, defending Big Ten champions, will fare this season.

"We sincerely felt this year, with Hubbard coming back and with our newcomers, this would be our strongest team since I've been here," Orr said at his initial press day gathering.

"The loss of Hubbard was a big blow," said Orr, in his ninth season at U-M.

Hubbard, a 6-foot-7 junior from Canton, Ohio, watched practice in street clothes from the lounge seats of Crisler Arena, crutches at his side.

He injured his left knee in the World Games in Bulgaria in August, then reinjured it in Michigan's first practice of the season last month. It wasn't certain how long he'd be sidelined, but Orr said it now appears Hubbard won't be back at all this season.

Hubbard had his cast changed in the morning.

"It'll be four more weeks and possibly six more, in a cast," Orr said. "Then it'll take six to eight more to rehabilitate, so his chances of playing this year are almost negligible. We're not counting on him being with us this year."

Hubbard was a third team All-American as a sophomore last year. Orr thinks he should have been named the Big Ten's most valuable player, but instead he finished fourth in the voting.

Michigan lost All-American Hockey Green and his backcourt mate Steve Grote to graduation, along with starting forward Johnny Robinson.

His brother Mike Robinson of Chicago, a 6-10, 260-pound junior college transfer, is one of three players vying for Hubbard's spot.

Right now, Orr said, he and two-year letterman Tom Bergen of Mount Prospect, Ill., are about even behind three-year letterman Joel Thompson.

Thompson, from Flint, "will be an adequate player," Orr said.

"His big problem will be fouling out."

Another candidate at center is freshman Paul Fleuryman of Akron, Ohio. Orr said he is a pleasant surprise.

Other newcomers are guards Mark and Marty Bodnar, twins from Barberian, Ohio; forward-guard Mike McGee of Omaha, Neb.; forward-guard Johnny Johnson of Buffalo, N.Y.; and sophomore forward Cornel Williams of Chattanooga, Tenn., up from the junior varsity. Orr said McGee will start at forward.

Other veterans back are guards Dave Baster, Tom Staton and Mark Lutzer, plus forwards Alan Hardy and Len Lilhard.

"We have pushed them very hard — harder than in the past," Orr said. "We've pushed them to show them how important they are without Hubbard."

Hubbard said he'll try to "just make the best of it." He said he expects to graduate with his regular class in two years, which would mean he wouldn't play a fifth season under the "red shirt" rule.

Rebounding Key For Roadrunners

DOWAGIAC — Rebounding! Rebounding! Rebounding!

That's the word that Southwestern Michigan college coach Jim Tansey is drumming in his team's heads.

The veteran Roadrunner coach believes that's the one area in which SMC came up lacking last year and it proved costly. The Roadrunners finished third in the Western Collegiate Conference with a 10-4 mark and were 13-12 overall.

Tansey is counting on improved board work to better last season's efforts.

"We were really hurting in rebounding last year," Tansey says. "But I think this year we can do the job. I'm hoping that some of the newcomers can help us, especially on the defensive boards."

Southwestern returns five lettermen from last year, but one is already out indefinitely with a knee injury. Melvin Carpenter, who averaged nine points a game, is not responding well to treatment on his knee.

Heading the list of returnees is last year's top scorer, guard Joel Skibbe. The 6-2 Skibbe from LaPorte averaged 18 points a game last year.

Also back are 6-7 Paul Daniels, last year's top rebounder, and 6-3 Jerry Thomas, both of whom started much of the season. The other letterman is 6-3 Dave Shellito, who is being plugged as a regular this season.

Tansey is hopeful that 6-11 transfer Dennis Jordan will be able to solidify the middle for SMC. Jordan, originally from LaPorte, transferred in from Western Kentucky.

"Defensively, Jordan is as strong as anybody we've ever had," says Tansey, in his 10th year as Roadrunner coach. "He only weighs 170 pounds, but he does an excellent job of rejecting shots and handles himself very well. He gets good position and jumps well."

Newcomers Dan Wiekinski, a 6-3 guard from Lowell, Ind., and 6-5 Bret Gebele and 6-8 Rusty Griener should also see a lot of playing time. Gebele and Griener are both from LaPorte.

"We have more talent than we had last year," Tansey says. "The key to our season is going to rest with how well our five starters come together as a unit. I've never seen a team with one outstanding player do it. It's going to take the outstanding player plus four others coming together."

"We're switching from a pattern offense to a passing game. Last year we were forced to go with a pattern because we didn't control the boards. We hope to control the boards this year."

"We're bigger than we've ever been. And we're quicker than we've ever been. The big problem is getting some cohesiveness as a team."

Southwestern opens its season next Thursday, hosting St. Francis at 7:30 p.m.

Bunning Wins Seat On Council

FORT THOMAS, Ky. (AP) — Jim Bunning, the last National League righthander to pitch a perfect game, ran a near-perfect political campaign and led all vote-getters in winning election to the Fort Thomas City Council.

Bunning, a registered Republican, polled 3,577 votes Tuesday on the People's Ticket, more than 300 more than his closest challenger in the 13-candidate race. It was the first try at public office for the northern Kentucky native.

Bunning, who had two no-hiters in his career, was a 20-game winner in 1957 with the Detroit Tigers and won 19 games four times. His first no-hitter was in 1958 against Boston while he was still with Detroit.

Dangerous Work

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Center Darryl Dawkins will be the last to the Philadelphia 76ers for at least five games after cutting his right index finger. A team spokesman said the 20-year-old Dawkins was placed on the injured list after Dawkins cut his finger Friday on a piece of glass while he was washing dishes at his apartment in Blackwood, N.J.

BEARS HOSTING KANSAS CITY Payton Seeking Chicago 'First'

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Walter Payton, 180 yards ahead of his nearest challenger (Oakland's Mark van Eggen) for the National Football League's rushing title, stands just 63 yards from a feat never achieved by a Chicago Bears player.

In the club's storied 58 years, not even five Hall of Fame running backs ever have gained 1,000 yards in successive seasons for Chicago. It seems almost certain that Sunday, before a sellout crowd at "Payton Place," Chicago's Soldier Field, the young heir-apparent to G.J. Simpson's title as the NFL's premier runner will do something not even the great Gale Sayers could accomplish.

But to do so, he will have to do it with a team rattled by a 47-0 drubbing in Houston a week ago — and against a fired-up collection of Kansas City Chiefs, riding the emotional high of a 20-10 victory over Green Bay in Tom Bettis' ruidseason head coaching debut.

Payton has 3,066 yards in his 2½ years in the NFL, 1,390 of them last year when he finished second in Simpson in the ground gaining race, and 937 this year.

Far more important than his individual record, though, is the Bears' record, 3-5 in the National Conference Central Division, one game behind Detroit and two back of Minnesota, next week's opponent.

Lions Face Stiff Defense Hoping To Continue Hex Over Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons, still searching for an offense to go along with their amazing defense, will start quarterback Steve Bartkowski for the second week in a row when they face the Detroit Lions Sunday.

Bartkowski, making his first National Football League start in more than a year since being sidelined with a knee injury, completed 12 of 20 passes for 105 yards in a 10-3 defeat by the San Francisco 49ers last Sunday.

A crowd of 50,000 is expected for the 1 p.m. EST kickoff for the tenth contest between the two clubs. The Lions have won the previous nine.

"We aren't concerned about history," said Falcon Coach Lenan Bennett. "What we are concerned about is eliminating the numerous mistakes that we have made the past two weeks."

The Falcons, who have dropped two straight contests, are 4-4, the same as the Lions who registered a 20-0 blanking of San Diego last Sunday, their first shutout since 1973.

Atlanta's loss to San Francisco nullified a record setting performance by the defense, which held the 49ers to 57 yards. The Atlanta defense has allowed only 50 points — best in the league — but the offense has scored just 74 points.

"I don't know of that many things we can change at this point of the season," said Bennett of the lack of offense.

"We must regain the concentration that we had during the first part of the season."

The defense allowed its first rushing TD a week ago and has only given up five all season. The most points it has allowed in one game is 14.

"The defense has done a remarkable job, but our football team is 45 players, and we must think and act as one team," said Bennett.

Woody Thompson, who rushed for 94 yards against the 49ers, will start at fullback again in place of the injured Monroe Eley. Tight end Jim Mitchell, who rushed two games with a sprained knee, is expected to return.

The Lions, who are 4-4 at home and 0-4 on the road, will be without the services of injured running back Dexter Bussey while starting guard Lynn Boden is doubtful with a knee injury. Defensive end Ken Sanders is also doubtful with an abdominal injury.

Denver charges into San Diego to face the Chargers, who went scoreless in two games against the Broncos a year ago. Oakland, tied with Denver at 7-1 atop the AFC West, opposes Houston, which got a pair of Dan Pastorini-floored Pittsburgh scoring bombs in the romp over the Bears.

Tigers Drop Out Of Bidding War

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers have ended all attempts to sign any of the six pitchers they selected in the re-entry draft.

The club's announcement Friday followed by one day news that right-hander Doc Medich, the Tigers' first choice in the draft, had signed with the Texas Rangers for a reported $1 million.

The Tigers quoted owner John E. Fetzer as saying he was in "complete agreement" with St. Louis Cardinals' owner August A. Busch Jr., who last week called the re-entry draft a "completely out of hand" situation.

Fetzer earlier had said he did not intend to get into any bidding wars.

The Tigers selected Medich, Tom Burgmeier, Ron Schuler, Terry Forster, Tom Hausman and Jim Hughes.

"When we got beyond that we didn't think any of the others were worth drafting," said general manager Jim Campbell.

U.S. Netters Eye Wightman Sweep

OAKLAND (AP) — With a 40-0 record, the United States team does into tonight's final three matches of the Wightman Cup tennis series against Great Britain already assured of the championship, but team captain Vicki Berner says there will be no letdown by the Americans.

Ringer Scandal Battle Continues

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite a battle of judicial ping pong, Dr. Mark Gerard still hasn't gained entry to Belmont Race Track, where he is the veterinarian for nearly 400 horses.

On Friday, Judge Eli Wager of State Supreme Court ordered the State Racing and Wagering Board to allow Gerard, chief figure in a huge investigation, to return to work at the track. The judge also ordered the board to appear next Tuesday to explain why it should not be held in contempt of court for refusing to lift Gerard's suspension.

Friday night, James Hoffmann, a New York Racing Association vice president, said another Appellate Division judge set aside Judge Wager's order on the grounds that the state is attempting an appeal to the Court of Appeals, the state's highest court.

The diverse decisions Friday continued a week-long series of court battles between Gerard, accused in a horse switching scandal at Belmont, and state racing authorities.

Gerard was suspended by authorities after it was learned that a Sept. 23 race in which the winner paid $118 was not Lebon, a mediocre runner, but another horse running as Lebon.

man Cup triumphs to 20, against five losses.

A sweep of tonight's three matches would give the Americans the series' first shutout since 1954. This year's victory raised the Americans' margin to 40-0 in the annual event between top women tennis players of the two countries.

Wimbledon champion Wade appeared to have the best chance of salvaging a victory for the British, but the 34-year-old King, who demolished Barker 6-1, 6-4 in singles Tuesday night, seems to have recuperated—after a knee operation a year ago—much of her old brilliance.

Port, who edged Wade 7-5, 7-6 Tuesday as the U.S. team got off to a 2-0 lead, is expected to be strong for the 21-year-old Barker.

The U.S. team, which includes five of the world's top 12 women players, increased its lead to 4-0 Thursday night when Rosie Casals beat Michele Tyler 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 in a two-hour match prior to a doubles victory that assured the Americans of the $63,333 winners' prize. King and newsmaker JoAnne Russell overpowered Great Britain's Sue Mappin and Lesley Charles in the doubles 6-1, 6-0.

USC-Washington Meeting 'Big'

Arizona State-BYU Tilt Also Top Showdown

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
For some expert opinion on just how important today's games were as the college football season winds down, we give you coaches Don James of Washington and Frank Kush of Arizona State.

James was asked about the importance of Washington's meeting against 14th-ranked Southern California since those two teams were tied with UCLA for the Pacific-8 Conference lead and the host spot in the Rose Bowl.

His reply: "How big is big?" Kush wasn't that succinct, but he felt much the same about his 17th-ranked Sun Devils' game tonight against No. 13 Brigham Young in a Western Athletic Conference showdown.

Both teams were 7-1 over-all, with BYU 5-0 in the WAC and Arizona State 4-0.

The WAC champion will represent the conference in the Fiesta Bowl, but this year's game will be played on Christmas Sunday and BYU, a Mormon school, will not play on Sunday. Instead, the Cougars have lined up a post-season trip to Japan.

And if Arizona State makes the Fiesta Bowl, it will be its last one as a WAC member. Next year, the Sun Devils enter the Pac-8, along with Arizona, making it the Pac-10.

First, however, they must find the way to short-circuit Brigham Young's bomb squad, the controls of which have passed from injured Gifford Nielson to sophomore Marc Wilson. And all Wilson did against Utah last week was pass for 371 yards, an NCAA record.

Arizona State is rebounding from last year's 4-7 record, Kush's first losing campaign, while Southern Cal bounced back from an uncharacteristic stretch of three losses in four games with a 40-0 shelling of Stanford last week. Wins over Washington and UCLA would put the Trojans in the Rose Bowl for the ninth time in 12 years.

The only other night game involving a top 20 team takes place at Tallahassee, Fla. where 16th-ranked Florida State entertains Memphis State.

In afternoon games, top-rated Texas entertained Texas Christian, while runner-up Alabama entertained Miami of Florida. Elsewhere, Colorado visited third-ranked Oklahoma. Indiana was at No. 4 Ohio State. No. 5 Notre Dame at No. 15 Clemson. No. 6 Michigan at Purdue. No. 7 Kentucky at Florida. No. 8 Arkansas at No. 11 Texas A&M. Temple at No. 9 Penn State. And No. 10 Pittsburgh faced Army at Giants Stadium in East Rutherford, N.J.

In the second 10, Kansas was at No. 12 Nebraska. No. 18 Texas Tech at Southern Methodist. No. 19 North Carolina at Virginia, and Northeastern at No. 20 Colgate.

The rest of the night schedule included VMI at Furman, Mississippi State at Louisiana State, Lamar at McNeese State, Grambling State at Norfolk State, Louisiana Tech at Southern Mississippi, Northwestern Louisiana at Southwestern Louisiana, Tennessee State at Tennessee-Chattanooga, Central Michigan at Toledo, Langston at Texas Southern, New Mexico at Arizona, Northeastern Louisiana at Pacific, and Long Beach State at San Diego State.

BERGIE BEST
Philadelphia Eagle linebacker Bill Bergie was selected the outstanding football player in the history of his college, Arkansas State.

Spencer Tops MIAA Stars

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Albion defensive tackle Steve Spencer of Armada is the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association's most valuable player of the 1977 football season.

The seven MIAA schools' coaches voted unanimously to give Spencer the honor, which was announced Thursday. The 6-foot-2, 210-pound senior led Albion to its second straight undisputed league championship this fall. Spencer topped the rushing and pass defense categories.

The coaches tied in their vote for quarterback, and gave the title to both Alma senior Ken Biehl and Hope senior Mark Davis.

Repeaters on the offensive team include Albion center Ron Vanderlinden, a senior from Livonia; wide receiver Stan Lyskowski of Alma, a senior from Bay City; and fullback Bill Bluequiere of Hope, a junior from Kentwood.

Repeaters on the defensive team included Spencer; lineman Jim Haskins of Albion, a senior from Battle Creek; linebacker Frank Carr of Albion, a senior from Royal Oak; and linebacker Fred Cramie, an Albion senior from Bloomfield Hills.

Spencer, Lyskowski and Carr earned All-MIAA for three seasons.

Albion, a senior from Battle Creek; tight end Jim Holverson of Hope, a senior from Grand Rapids; wide receiver Joe Biscari of Adrian, a junior from Youngstown, Ohio; and fullback Dexter Davis of Albion, a Grand Rapids sophomore.

Those on the defensive team include end Ty Minner of Albion, a junior; Dave Krieger of Adrian, a senior from Pittsburgh, Pa.; lineman Dave Mark of Adrian, a Toledo sophomore; linebacker Tom Seick of Adrian, a senior from Youngstown; back Todd Harburn of Hope, a senior from Flint; back Fred Bogdan of Albion, a senior from Albion; and back Dave Verduin, a senior at Albion from Flint.

Teams in the MIAA include Albion, Adrian, Alma, Hope, Kalamazoo, Olivet and Taylor.

Ferris, WMU Hockey Winners

At Kalamazoo, a goal from senior right wing Tim Dunlop at 2:11 of the second period proved to be the game-winner as Western Michigan defeated the University of Waterloo, Ontario, 6-2.

Western is 4-0 for the season.

Illinois Man Digs Good Life In Underground Home

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP) — The soil means more to Gary C. Davis than the place where his mind grows. It's his home, too.

"Everything in this house saves energy," says Davis of his 4,068-square-foot dwelling located mostly underground near this southern Illinois community.

Davis, who owns U-Bahn Earth Homes, Inc., estimates he will spend only about $375 a year to heat and cool the house. He says underground homes maintain a year-round temperature of about 56 degrees. "So all we have to do is make up the difference."

Davis says he uses a device called an economizer, which pulls in clean, fresh air heated by the sun in the winter daytime. "The air will warm up the walls, the floors, everything. And when it shuts off, it recirculates the warm air. In the summer, we'll reverse it and turn on the economizer at night so the cool air can be brought in." The desired temperature can be maintained for at least 12 hours, he says.

Davis also has a fireplace which he says can heat the whole house. Light enters the house through a large glass dome in the center, over the indoor swimming pool. "We found out through light readings that we have 20 per cent more light in our bedrooms than did 10 other conventional homes," says Davis. "A full moon brings a lot of light in, too."

Davis estimates that a $100,000 conventional home could be built underground for about $80,000. The cost for an underground dwelling is $12 to $31 per square foot, without luxuries such as the pool. Burglars would have a hard time with Davis' home, he says, because of its few windows and doors. The only windows to the outside are on the front of the house, but they are rounded domes of strong plexiglas.

The front door has an air lock leading to a vestibule and another door. There is a door into the garage, but a special security device is on watch there. The third door is an exit to the roof, and cannot be opened from the outside.

Davis says he can save a lot of money on maintenance because there is no siding to paint or roof to replace. The concrete roof is covered with two feet of soil and sod. "All I have to do is mow the grass," he says.

Flammable? Best To Check

WASHINGTON (AP) The Consumer Products Safety Commission cautions homeowners buying insulation material to evaluate its possible fire hazard. The commission also said deceptions in advertising and promotion of home insulation products are most likely to occur in claims about its flammability.

The insulation industry has voluntary flammability standards, and the government has specifications on materials used in government buildings. Now the commission has directed particular attention to the alleged fire risk in cellulose insulation and started proceedings that could lead to federal flammability standards for this product.

Cellulose, made of shredded materials such as old newspapers and cardboard, is by its nature flammable, the commission said. Flame-retardant chemicals, usually borax mixtures, are added to it to reduce flammability to acceptable levels. The safety commission has directed its staff to prepare for its consideration the background material that would be needed in developing a flammability standard for cellulose.

Insulation, Repairs Top BH Jobs

Insulation of homes and residential repairs through the Community Development loans and grants program dominated building activity in Benton Harbor during the past three weeks.

The two largest projects, however, were for industrial projects.

A permit was issued to Gary Roofing Co. to repair and reroof Building No. 6 of Michigan Fruit Canners, 249 Ninth St., for an estimated $12,250.

A permit B & G also was issued to Concrete Construction Co., to erect a 40 by 50-foot prefabricated metal office building at its plant, 490 N. Stevens St. The estimated cost is $12,000.

The building inspection department issued a total of 52 permits over the past three weeks for varied projects totaling an estimated $91,489.

The department issued 19 permits for attic and ceiling insulation in single-family dwellings. Sixteen of the projects, valued at $250 each, were in homes owned by Owen Moore. The work by Adcock Insulation Co. is at 523 and 748 Columbus; 825, 848 and 934 Ogden; 417 and 125 Vineyard; 394, 405, 541, 784 and 940 Broadway; 630 Pearl; 417 and 755 Pavane; and 1035 Columbus. ## "Care of Animals During Winter Weather"

It is vital if your dog is kept outdoors during the winter that he have a good, well built dog house.

It is further important that the dog house faces either the east or south so that the animal is protected from the direct force of the west or north winds which prevail in the winter.

Provide straw or warm bedding for your animal's dog house. Check from time to time to see that it hasn't become wet. If so, replace.

Make sure the dogs chain has a swivel on each end so that the chain does not have a chance to "kink" which in turn will shorten the chain to the extent that the animal cannot get into his dog house for shelter. Also be sure there are no obstacles where his chain can catch onto or wind around.

Findings May Ease DNA Fears

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recent scientific findings are easing government fears that genetic experiments could accidentally release potentially lethal mutant germs into the environment.

A top government scientist described the new data Tuesday to a Senate subcommittee overseeing federal regulation of experiments on deoxyribonucleic acid or DNA, experiments that have had a profound effect on genetic research in the last few years. They involve taking DNA molecules, the genetic chemical that controls heredity, from two different life forms and recombining them into a new form.

Researchers say such an ability to replace defective genes would be a big step toward eliminating hereditary illnesses. They also believe gene splitting could develop superior crops and important medicines.

At Least No Line

SOUTHBURY, Conn. (AP) — The Heritage Village Branch of Woodbury Savings Bank was closed — at least not open for business — but it was a little hard to tell.

Friday was Veterans Day, so bank employees stayed home and the lights were off.

But the front door wasn't locked.

A couple wanting to make a mortgage payment walked into the bank at 2:45 p.m. and waited for someone to wait on them. There was no one.

They inquired next door and were told the bank was closed. "But the front door isn't locked," responded the woman.

A bank vice president was called from home to lock the door. He said nothing appeared to be missing.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Social Security Is A Great Bargain

By SAM SHULSKY
Q. You've written before — and often — in defense of the Social Security system. What say you now that the system is facing bankruptcy and we're all going to be hit with higher payroll taxes to keep it going?

A. The same thing I've said all along:

1) The system isn't facing bankruptcy, won't go bankrupt, can't go bankrupt because it is a U.S. government program.

2) Those of us who remain at work will pay the higher tax on wages just as we pay higher income taxes, higher real estate taxes, higher prices for gasoline, higher prices for milk, higher prices for cottage cheese, higher prices for shoes, and higher prices for automobiles and houses and neckties, and apples and peaches and, possibly, pears.

3) And, finally, I repeat what I've said all along: call it what you will — insurance, social welfare, annuity, pension — Social Security remains the program by which those still at work help support those who've finished work. And you can't get away from that moral obligation no matter what label you put on the system or how you pay out the money.

There is no doubt in my mind that the founders and early administrators of the program did not foresee the inflation of the last 40 years or the fact that the retired segment of the nation would increase in relation to the number of workers. But I can't see that giving a man and a woman a few extra years to enjoy leisure living constitutes "welfare" or "communism" or any other wild label some scaremongers like to put on it.

As of the moment of writing, there is no way to predict how much the tax rates will be increased. That they will be is, of course, obvious. Meanwhile the Social Security system remains a bargain for everyone who has worked under it.

If you have paid Social Security taxes since the system was launched in 1937 and if you have earned maximum wages under the tax schedule, you have contributed $8,728 to Social Security. (And your employer, the same.)

If you were to quit now you would receive a monthly check for $412.70 and your wife, $206.40 — a total of $619.10 a month and a total of $7,419.10 a year, every year, tax free.

There's no other investment I know of which offers that "yield" — and backed by millions of workers and the U.S. government.

I'd label it an exercise in futility to even attempt to predict the cost or the payout or the "yield" 10 years from now, or 20 or 30.

I don't know anyone who likes to pay higher taxes. I realize that there are, no doubt, discrepancies built into the pay-out system (some people worked more, some worked less for the same benefits, etc.

etc.). But I also know — sitting here at the receiving end of thousands of letters a year — that there has been no other single institution which has done as much to invest old age and retirement with the self-respect and comfort that has been provided by Social Security checks. They may not be large enough to provide luxuries for all. But they have certainly proved to be the difference in many cases between old age self-respect and hopelessness.

If one is going to gripe about higher taxes and the rising cost of living, I should think the SS tax would come at the bottom of his list.

OUT OF SLUMP: Stock market burst out of a 10-month slump this past week and ran up its sharpest gain in more than a year and a half. Dow Jones average of 30 industrials leaped 35.95 points to 1835.95, best week since 52.42-point gain of Jan. 5, 1976. Volume averaged 25.8 million shares a day, peaking Friday at 35.2 million. A number of factors, including President Carter's statement Thursday that he's not at odds with the head of the Fed, were said to be working in market's favor. (AP Wirephoto)

Judge Throws Out Indictment

NEW YORK (AP) — Government attorneys may appeal a federal judge's decision that cut Teamsters union official Anthony "Tony Pro" Provenzano off the hook on kickback conspiracy charges.

Provenzano, a 60-year-old resident of Clifton, N.J., and Hallandale, Fla., and secretary-treasurer of Local 560, International Brotherhood of Teamsters in Union City, N.J., had faced two indictments charging he arranged for a Teamsters loan to a Manhattan hotel in return for a 10 percent kickback of the loan.

U.S. District Judge Dudley B. Bondi threw out both the original indictment and superseding charges, mainly because of uncertainty about the government's key witness, Herman Goldfarb, an undercover informant placed in the garment business.

Foreign Steel Hurts Midwest

CHICAGO (AP) — A 75 percent increase in foreign steel imports in the Midwest this year has caused a devastating impact, David M. Roderick, president of United States Steel, said Friday.

In remarks prepared for a talk before stockholders, Roderick indicated that if the federal government does not adopt a more realistic view of domestic steel problems "a significant amount of this country's steelmaking capability could be forced into a marginal status in the next few years."

He said this would threaten or eliminate thousands more American jobs.

Roderick called on Washington for more aggressive policies both in enforcing existing trade laws and taking a stronger stand on steel trade at international conferences.

He asked for federal tax reforms that would allow faster depreciation of production equipment and permit first-year write-off for nonproduction pollution control facilities to free capital for reinvestment.

"The government must recognize that facilities scheduled for replacement within five to 10 years should not be bound by the same rules that apply to new facilities," he said. "It is this consideration that may force plants into a marginal status that could lead to total close-out of operations."

Roderick said one of the most critical questions involved in the import of foreign steel "is whether it is in the long-term best interest of this country to become hostage to foreign steel suppliers, or to continue to build a strong domestic industry."

He said U.S. Steel's income for the third quarter was $27.1 billion on sales and revenues of $2.4 billion, a return of 30 cents per share. This compares with income of $112.5 million on sales and revenues of $2.2 billion for a return of $1.38 per share in the same period last year.

Roderick said that because of these results, U.S. Steel has reduced its level of new authorizations for capital spending and intensified its search for ways to reduce costs.

Suit Claims Spray Tainting Airliners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aircraft passenger seats, armrests and food are contaminated when planes are sprayed with DDT, a suit against the secretary of agriculture contends.

Use of the chemical to control Japanese beetles on flights to California is exposing passengers to cancer and other health hazards, says the suit, filed Friday in U.S. District Court.

The plaintiffs are the Aviation Consumer Action Project, an airline attendants' union and two individual "women of child bearing age ... each of whom has used and intends in the future to use commercial airline flights."

"DDT is a toxic, persistent chemical that is believed to cause chronic injury to human beings when ingested, inhaled or absorbed through the skin," the suit said.

It added that birth defects could result from exposure of pregnant women to the chemical compound.

Although banned five years ago as "an unacceptable risk to man and his environment," DDT use was permitted for airplane spraying in combination with another chemical, Sevin.

The Agriculture Department has periodically ordered the spraying since the mid-1960s because the Japanese beetle causes an estimated $10 million in annual crop damage.

Before planes are sprayed, all food, water and utensils are removed and all food preparation areas are masked off, an Agriculture Department spokesman said.

But the suit charged that Food and Drug Administration tests in 1976 "disclosed that food contact surfaces in the galleys of commercial aircraft were contaminated with DDT."

DNR DELAY
Lincoln Suit Not Affected

A Department of Natural Resources statement that the machinery for granting sand mining permits won't be set up for months doesn't affect Lincoln Township's legal fight against Manley Brothers Sand Mining Co., the township's attorney said today.

The township succeeded Thursday in Berrien Circuit Court in temporarily blocking Manley Brothers from mining in the Grand More area. The court was asked to decide if the company needs a DNR sand mining permit before it begins mining. Attorney John H. Spelman said.

A DNR news release dated Thursday states: "We are now working on designation of six sand dune areas." After designation, which the release says may come July 1, "any person who wants to remove sand from an area for commercial or industrial purposes must secure a permit."

Spelman said, however, the situation doesn't change the suit because a resolution passed with the new act by the state legislature gave DNR the power to grant "provisional permits" to companies between now and the time the permit process is working.

In its petition, Lincoln Township asked the court to decide whether a permit — provisional or otherwise — is required, Spelman said.

'Smart' Is Not On Bias List

NEW YORK (AP) — A landlord can discriminate against people because of their occupations, a state court judge ruled, and can refuse to rent to "intelligent persons, aware of their rights, who may give him trouble in the future."

Justice Edward Greenfield of state Supreme Court in Manhattan handed down the decision earlier this week, noting that it was "regrettable," but there was no law against such discrimination.

"The only restraints which the law has imposed upon free exercise of a landlord's discretion is that he may not use race, creed, color, national origin, sex or marital status as criteria," Greenfield said.

"He may decide not to rent to smokers because they are noisy, or not rent to bald-headed men because he has been told they are wild parties," Greenfield said.

The decision stems from a suit by Judith Pierce, 33, who said she was denied a Manhattan apartment because she was single and black.

Shutdowns To Slow Car Output

DETROIT (AP) — Temporary shutdowns at four plants will mean fewer cars rolling off the nation's assembly lines this week.

Some 200,000 cars will be produced this week, about 400 fewer than last week but 4.3 percent more than produced in the same period last year, according to the industry journal Automotive News.

Closed for late model changes are the Chrysler Corp. assembly plant in Belvidere, Ill., and the Ford Motor Co. plant in Mahwah, N.J., the trade publication said Wednesday.

Ford's St. Louis, Mo., plant is closed because of a shortage of V-8 engines and Chrysler's plant in Lynch Road, Mich., is shut down while the company takes inventory of fullsize cars.

American Motors Corp. reopened its Pacer and Matador lines at Kenosha, Wis., this week after a one-week halt for inventory balancing. GM plants at Van Nuys, Calif., and Doraville, Ga., reopened after strikes there ended.

So far this year, the nation's Big Four auto makers have produced an estimated 8,159,748 cars, up 9.67 percent from the 7,440,688 assembled during the same period of 1976.

Honeymoon 'High' Has Big Letdown

HOUSTON (AP) — Doug and Gail Harvey were honeymooning in a trailer held 60 feet in the air from a 30-ton crane as part of a sales promotion when their world came drifting down.

A windstorm tipped the rig, and the trailer, counterbalanced by the crane, gently drifted to the ground. The Harveys were unhurt.

"A gust of wind caught the trailer like a sail and tipped over the crane," said Bob Presley, sales representative for KILT radio station. "The mobile home was destroyed. It was really miraculous they weren't hurt."

EDITOR'S MAILBAG

Effect of this horrendous expenditure is the very newspaper which publicly exclaimed "County Coordinator Roger Perie's apparent outrage on expenses incurred by my trial sons in Charlevoix County." I emphatically subscribe to a "free press" just as I do to "freedom of speech," however, believe in criminal cases a fine "line of demarcation" must be drawn. Indeed, the news media should weigh in their journalistic minds the public's right to be informed vs. the fairness, impartiality and presumption of innocence of the defendant. If the gravity of media reporting is so inflammatory as to thwart the sound administration of justice or as in my case, makes a new trial in Berrien County a "farce," then I say to temper local journalism with an air of anticipation that the accused may be found not guilty or acquitted on a subsequent retrial.

If this does not occur the methodology of due process is fettered beyond the scope of prejudice and an acute "double standard" arises, being on the one hand, "equal justice under the law," and on the other potential jurors throughout Berrien County with "preconceived opinions of guilt." The pros and cons of this dilemma are not a matter of first impression of the county, state or country, as evidenced by Watergate and Hearst. But, I believe the "bottom line" should be closely scrutinized, in that if substantial personal rights are involved especially for a capital offense, the media should take a "back seat" to preserve Constitutional guarantees, rather than trying the case in the press.

To do otherwise operates as a threat to justice and works an extreme bias towards the accused. Unfortunately the journalistic pendulum is swinging towards a more liberal courtroom attitude, with the advent of televised trials, video-taped proceedings, etc. While good sensationalism, it is hardly conducive to a fair, impartial retrial or in some instances initial trials saturated with pretrial publicity, whether factual or otherwise.

If these practices should flourish and be adopted by our state, change of venues will be a common occurrence and tens of thousands of county dollars in standard procedure.

Fuel Tank Explodes; 2 Boys Burned

NEW YORK (AP) — Two New Rochelle boys were severely burned by an explosion and fire that was touched off when they apparently dropped a lighted match into an abandoned truck's gasoline tank, police said.

A man trying to help get the boys to a burn center in New York City died of an apparent heart attack while directing an incoming rescue helicopter at New Rochelle in Westchester County, north of here, authorities said.

Authorities identified the boys as Eric Neher and Peter Eggers, both 9.

Slippery Roads Test Motorists

Two Cities area police said numerous vehicles slid into ditches and freeway medians because of slippery road conditions Friday and early this morning, but no traffic deaths occurred.

Four people received apparently minor injuries in two separate traffic accidents Friday. They were among 27 collisions investigated Friday and early today by Berrien sheriff's deputies, state police of the Benton Harbor post and Benton Township police. No count was available on the number of vehicles that slid off the roadway.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said Duane N. Newmeyer, 44, Kalamazoo, received a cut forehead about 7:15 p.m. Friday, when an auto he was driving skidded out of control and collided with a semi truck on I-94 at Pipestone Road, Benton Township. Newmeyer was reported treated and released from Mercy Hospital. Deputy Dan Gustafson said the auto skidded in front of the

WHO'S THE SALESMAN: YOU OR YOUR WIFE?
Who would do a better job at selling your house, you or the Missus? Which of you is better equipped to deal with people? The answer may surprise you: It's probably NEITHER! Selling properties takes more than mere good salesmanship. For more, it takes specialized training and experience in appraising, negotiating, financing, advertising, closing, etc. No one's doing anatomy never made anyone a doctor. And being a good salesman doesn't qualify for handling realty. Consult a professional! It will save you endless time and trouble, and probably bring a greater net result.

AS WOMEN ISOLATE SELVES Midwives Fill A Growing Need

By ELEANOR GERSTENBERGER
HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — Couches, end tables, a few chairs and posters adorn the two-room suite above Highland Park's old Palmer Theatre.

No aura of gleaming medical instruments or sterility greets the visitor to the Birtheater housed here.

But that, in itself, is a communication of the philosophy of the Motor City Midwives — five women who attend home birthings, about 100 of them during the past two years in Wayne and Washtenaw Counties.

The modestly furnished suite is the site of discussions and prenatal care sessions, a "sharing of information and experiences," said Carole Kellogg, one of the Motor City five.

"We teach women to assess their own needs for health care and to have confidence in those assessments," she said, "to know themselves, when their bodies malfunction, to teach an awareness of signals."

The focus of the Birtheater, she stressed, is in teaching women to have confidence in finding out what their bodies tell them.

They encourage women to come for a one-hour prenatal session in which they are taught how to take their own blood pressure, how to check their urine for protein and glucose and what importance good diet and nutrition have in pregnancy.

"But we don't force people into a structure," she explained. "We create a structure they can operate in. Women can come in as they wish. We're not dogmatic. But we do think prenatal care is important."

The security they feel about what they do comes not from knowledge of drugs and technology but from the confidence they have in themselves and in having women prepared for birth, explained Maria Hoetger, another midwife.

"We do use technical information available to us," she said. "We're not 'granny' midwives."

They readily acknowledge their background is not one of formal medical training but an expertise grounded in experience. They are lay midwives.

The five women in the group say they have attended collectively hundreds of births with experienced midwives before they began assisting women alone.

The need for midwifery arose, they say, as women began to isolate themselves more. Few women, they add, have ever seen a birth.

"People are deprived of information about everything," contended Ms. Hoetger. "They have no access to information about their bodies. And women have lost information about birthing."

"I'm not sure how male gynecologists got control of birthing, but it started with rich women going to doctors and hospitals."

That statement isn't meant, however, to convey that the Motor City Midwives are against hospitals in all cases.

"Part of our skill in birthing is in recognizing when someone needs a doctor," said midwife Diane Kozarski.

The need to call on the medical establishment doesn't occur very often, the midwives contend.

Four out of 100 women they have assisted had tearing occur during delivery, one of the tears developing because a midwife wasn't alert to the situation, they acknowledge.

Six of the 100 developed infections following their births. This, they assert, is a relatively small number considering that in two cases, the women were taken to clinics following their deliveries and — as Ms. Kellogg relates it — were made to wait or walk around for hours before receiving medical help.

"We've made a conscious effort to be above ground," said Ms. Hoetger. "We're not embarrassed to be midwives."

"We don't care where you birth," she added. "But we want you to be informed, make your own choices, your own decisions."

"We want women to take responsibility for themselves and their own bodies."

ASK THEM YOURSELF

Send the question, on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

DR. WILLIAM M. LUKASH, physician to the President
Does the President take any special vitamins or do any unusual exercises to keep himself healthy and in good shape? — O.M., Las Vegas, Nev.

● The President's typical diet is nutritious and well balanced, so no specific vitamins are required. In addition to his usual exercise program, I have recommended that he take a five-minute period of stretching and limbering-up exercises prior to rushing out on the tennis court to prevent inadvertent strains.

FOR REP. PATRICIA SCHROEDER (D.-Colo.)
What has happened to your bill regarding pensions? — R.P.L., Little Rock, Ark.

● I take it you are referring to the bill I introduced to entitle divorced spouses of Federal employees to a share of the employees' retirement and death benefits. A House subcommittee recently approved part of my plan by allowing state courts to treat Federal pensions as community property in a divorce settlement.

FOR LEE MEREDITH, actress
I haven't seen you in anything since the movie The Sunshine Boys. Have you retired? — J.R., Asbury, N.J.

● I've a good reason for not being around — I just had my second baby. What aggravates me is that from the moment I became pregnant to the time I delivered I was inundated with stage and screen offers, none of which, of course, I could accept. And I bet that now I'm ready to go back to work, I won't get one! Producers, please prove me wrong.

FOR NICK NOLTE, star of The Deep
Is it true you're a loner and money means nothing to you? — B.K., Montgomery, Ala.

● No. I love being with people. If I have that reputation, I guess I got it because I don't live in Hollywood. Funny thing about Hollywood: if you aren't around, people don't stop to consider the reason. They think you're avoiding them and stamp you as a loner. As for money, of course it means something to me. What means nothing is being an actor just for the money. I wouldn't work for nothing. Nor would I be an actor if I didn't like what I was doing.

FOR PAUL HARVEY, newscaster
Is your wife's real name Angel, or is that an endearing term you use when referring to her on your programs? — Martha Durham, Lakeland, Fla.

● Angel's given name is Lynne. She was the youngest of seven daughters, so it is understandable that the family started calling her Angel at infancy. The name still fits. After 37 years married, after a lifetime of seeing glamor at the ironing board, she is still the daintiest, most feminine creature I've ever met. And this quality remains intact after 37 years of skillfully managing all my business affairs.

FOR ELIZABETH L. POST, etiquette expert
Is it all right to dampen one's thumb to turn a page? — G.G. Crabtree, Lansing, Mich.

● It's perfectly all right, as long as you don't get the page wet. But for your own protection, why not use the eraser on a pencil to turn the pages of a newspaper or a magazine. Anyway, what's so tasty about newsprint or well-worn pages?

FOR RAQUEL WELCH, actress
Who among actresses influenced your career the most? — L.V., Santa Fe, N.M.

● As a child, Moira Shearer, the English ballet dancer; Katharine Hepburn when I grew up. I started by wanting to be a ballerina. When I saw Moira in The Red Shoes, she had a great effect on me. Then I developed a terrific admiration for Katharine Hepburn, whose strength, individualism, talent and moral behavior are unsurpassed. I've never met either of them.

FOR ARTHUR FIEDLER, conductor of the Boston Pops
Why do so many conductors — including yourself — remain active and healthy for so long? — Ruby Michel, Chicago, Ill.

● I think it's because most of us remain active beyond the age of 65. The physical exercise we get while conducting is probably another reason why many conductors live to a ripe old age. However, I have known many colleagues who have died in their 40's and 50's.

FOR THE "ASK THEM YOURSELF" EDITOR
How much younger than Peter Sellers is his new wife, and is their marriage working out? — J.C., Scranton, Pa.

● Peter is 51 and, the fourth Mrs. Sellers — actress Lynne Frederick — is 22. When we last heard they were blissfully happy in their Port Grimaud (St.-Tropez) home, in front of which is anchored a pink boat called The Pink Panther. When Lynne's mother heard Peter was about her own age, she was less than happy. "She'd have more fun with someone younger," she complained to friends. Oddly enough, "too young" is how her own friends rate Mrs. Frederick's current 36-year-old beau.

FOR STEVE NEFF, pro bowler

● There are two reasons: The dust on my left shoe acts like resin and dries my hand. I don't use resin because it causes my calluses to split. The other reason for rubbing my shoe heel is to get a more consistent slide during my release.

PRO Sen. Howard W. Cannon (D.-Nev.) chairman, Aviation subcommittee

The effort to reform airline regulatory practices is primarily an effort to reaffirm a basic American principle — competition. It is an effort to loosen the grip of the Civil Aeronautics Board so new airlines can start flying or existing ones can expand their routes. Not one major trunk carrier has been permitted to challenge the established order since the CAB was created in 1938. From competition will come lower fares and better service to small communities from local commuter airlines designed to meet their needs. Without competition may come Federal takeover, just as happened with the railroad industry.

PRO AND CON

Should The Airline Industry Be Deregulated To Increase Competition?

CON Sen. George McGovern (D.-S.D.)

Adjustments are needed in the CAB rules governing the airlines, but deregulation is not the whole answer. It would permit a relaxation of the rules under which an airline may begin or drop service to a community. A few major carriers, financially strong, with excess fleets, could dominate high-volume markets. Less affluent carriers may be driven out of business. Smaller communities now being served by regional carriers may have to accept the traffic of smaller aircraft, after having spent millions to upgrade their airports. The result could be more competitive service between major cities, but many rural Americans would be denied access to the national system.

THE WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFUL SANDCASTLE

When Norman Kraus goes to the beach to build a sandcastle, he doesn't start with a pail and shovel. He starts with a bulldozer.

By Scot Morris

As Kraus directs, the dozer piles hundreds of tons of beach sand into a huge mound with a volcanolike depression at the top. An hydraulic pump then brings hundreds of gallons of seawater to the top of the mound. The water soaks into the sand, compacting it into a dense block. Then Kraus starts sculpting.

In this case what Kraus wanted to reproduce was Mont Saint Michel, the medieval island-city a mile off the northwest coast of Normandy, France. Not just the famous abbey and spire at the top — which were built in the 13th century, over 200 years before Columbus's birth — but all the outbuildings, too.

Actually, Kraus's preparations for this sandcastle began three months before the first grain of sand was moved. He first had to get permission from the Regional were working on it at once, wielding shovels for hours or carving a building out of the wet, compacted sand.

The mammoth spectacle drew thousands of amazed onlookers to the usually placid stretch of beach, including some celebrities with summer homes in the area.

Burt Bacharach and Angie Dickinson, visiting their daughter at a beach house within sight of the castle, each walked down to view the spectacle and to marvel at the immensity of the project. "I guess I visited it in about four different stages of construction," Bacharach said later. "It was marvelous how dedicated those artists were, knowing how temporary their creation would be. Watching the masses of onlookers was equally fascinating. It was like a five-day parade by here. When I write a song, I record it or write it down, and then I'll always have it. But these people — you have to admire their artistic spirit, their willingness to work for hours, even days, on a creation that, a day or two later, will be just a memory. On the other hand, the decay and collapse of the castle was symbolic of the end of summer."

Coastal Commission, then from the city of Del Mar, Calif., to build a "structure" on the public beach.

Kraus's wife Marilyn, and a close group of designers, architects and sculptors who call themselves Sandcastle Construction Ltd., then combed libraries to learn all they could about Mont Saint Michel. Floor plans were photocopied and studied, and detailed photographs were copied and enlarged so that every buttress, turret and spire corresponded as closely as possible to those on the island-city.

The reproduction is estimated to be on a scale of about 1:150. The sandy sculpture rose 24 feet above the Del Mar beach, within inches of the height-limitation for two-story houses along this stretch of Pacific coast some 15 miles north of San Diego.

Mont Saint Michel-Del Mar was a labor of love. No one was paid to work on the castle, but at times 30 or more people

Dr. Robert Butler, director of the National Institute on Aging, and wife Myrna.

By Rochelle Jones

If the thought of growing old depresses you, an afternoon talking with Dr. Robert Butler, director of the National Institute on Aging, would pick up your spirits fast. Butler, who is in charge of coordinating all Government-sponsored research in aging, probably knows more about old age than anybody in the country. And his views on aging, based on the most up-to-date facts and statistics, are decidedly more upbeat than the commonly held images.

In fact, at age 50 Butler is looking forward to something that most of us dread — old age. He considers growing old an opportunity to experience firsthand something he has studied all his life. As a psychiatrist in private practice, as author of a Pulitzer Prize-winning book on aging called Why Survive? Being Old in America, and now as director of the Institute, Butler has spent the last 20 years researching and writing about older adults.

"I've had the feeling recently," he says, reflecting on his own aging process, "that it would be a shame not to live long enough to experience old age. The secrets of old age are hard to communicate. The old, for instance, are not nearly as fearful of death as the young. It would be interesting to understand why. I've worked hard, and it's possible that I might, because of a heart attack or something else, miss the final chapters of life. But I'd like to be here."

Not everyone can generate the enthusiasm for growing old that Butler possesses, but there are more reasons for a positive attitude toward aging than is generally supposed. Researchers are finding that old age is not inevitably a time of debilitating disease, declining mental ability and sexual neutrality. And although the biological basis of aging is still poorly understood, new research holds the prospect of postponing the aging process.

A long-suspected cause of aging is a steady failure of the body's immune system, the white blood cells and antibodies that are the first line of defense against disease throughout life. With advancing age the immune system, like worn-out combat troops, seems to slow down and to function less efficiently so that the old no longer have the resistance to disease of the young. Now, Butler says, we might be able to "pep up" the immune system with immeasurable benefits.

A researcher at the National Institute on Aging has recently succeeded in rejuvenating the immune system by transferring this youthful capacity of resistance to disease from young to old animals. If the process can be accomplished in animals, there is always the hope of doing it in people.

"This is quite a significant finding," says Butler. "We are still a couple of decades away from an animal to human transfer of this beginning research, but it does show that we can, at least in animals, reconstitute the immune system."

A true "cure" for aging, in the sense of reversing the physical changes that ac-

DON'T GET OLDER—GET BETTER

Researchers are beginning to find that stereotypes of old age, such as inevitable disease, declining mental ability and loss of sexual capacity, are false.

company growing old, seems to be a long way off and depends on further research into basic life processes.

Meanwhile, much can be done to make old age a more productive and creative time of life. The key, Butler says in a recurring theme, is the ability to distinguish between aging and disease, to differentiate between the changes that normally accompany aging and those that are a by-product of disease. Unfortunately, it is not easy to sort the two. In the 1950's, Butler recalls, when he was doing research at the National Institutes of Health, hardening of the arteries was considered an inevitable consequence of aging. Since then, the beginning stages have been spotted in children only a year old. Arteriosclerosis, which was thought to be a sign of old age, may be a pediatric disease after all.

Old people who experience memory lapses, forgetfulness and confusion are labeled with the catch-all tag of senility when they actually suffer from a variety of ailments. "This is a reason that it is so important to get over the stereotype that old people are senile," says Butler. Although an estimated 20 percent have brain damage as a result of hardening of the cerebrovascular arteries, some are simply depressed, and others have what is termed reversible brain syndrome brought on by such things as malnutrition, drugs or congestive heart failure.

The stereotype of senile old folks is just one of the false images of aging. Mental faculties stay clear and sharp until very late in life, and earlier decline is likely to be caused by disease. "It's as if we rediscovered the wheel," says Butler. "The saying 'a sound mind in a sound body' is true after all." Sexual ability also continues well past middle age. "It's abundantly clear," he goes on, "that neither the desire nor the capacity declines."

Too, often, Butler says, the old "collaborate with the stereotypes" to their own detriment. As an example Butler recited the case of an 82-year-old woman who fell in love with a young new minister at her church. Much to her dismay she found herself daydreaming about him, even having fantasies of sexual interludes. Embarrassed and in anguish, she sought help. Fortunately, she was reassured that sexual feelings are normal and natural throughout life.

Butler came by his interest in the elderly naturally. Shortly after his birth, his parents separated, and he was left with his grandparents. They lived on a farm in Vineland, N.J., and every day he and his grandfather, then in his 70's, rose at 4:00 to feed the chickens and to gather eggs. When he was 7, his grandfather, who Butler says in his book "would undoubtedly qualify for resurrection and continued life," died. Together, he and his grandmother weathered the Depression — but not easily. First, they lost the farm and moved into a hotel. Then, when Butler was 11, the hotel burned to the ground and all their possessions were lost. To survive they went on welfare, eating Government-supplied food. His grandmother went to work in a WPA sewing room while he sold newspapers and repaired bicycles for 10¢ an hour. Somehow they made it.

Butler says his relationship with his grandparents stimulated his interest in old age. "I saw both of them as active, resilient and tough, especially my grandmother, who came through the Depression. Because of that, I never acquired a lot of the attitudes that most people have toward the old. I didn't have the deep-seated stereotypes of a lot of people I've met."

Consequently, Butler is acutely conscious of the compensations of the later years. All is not loss. Old age can be joyful. It can be a time of fulfillment, of curiosity, of new experience, of a growing perception of the true meaning of things, of freedom from pressure and competition.

"There are an awful lot of happy older people," he says. "As people begin to count time backward from death, they are able to see the importance of things — like looking out this window and seeing the trees. I don't mean to be maudlin about this, but we encrust life with certain social expectations and think they are all important. There is a re-evaluation, a life review, that people go through as they have to face finitude. Wisdom is not a very scientific term, but life experience does bring a certain sagacity."

The problem, as Butler sees it, is that old age and death have become intimately associated in most people's minds. A generation ago many people never survived infancy, and only the lucky few lived to reach their 60's and 70's. With increased longevity, the majority can expect to celebrate their 65th birthday.

Despite all his knowledge about aging, Butler doesn't claim to know any secret formulas for staying young, but he does have a few suggestions for those who want to live a long and happy life:

"Get off apathy and be a self-starter. Keep mentally fit as a way of keeping yourself alive. I don't mean this in an elitist sense. Take up woodworking and build a cabinet, for example. Stay socially fit. You don't have to be gregarious or have tons of friends, but you need a basic social network. Stay physically fit. That means moderation in habits. It sounds boring, but take decent care of your body. It's the only one you've got."

OLIVIA NEWTON-JOHN: POPULAR, WHOLESOME AND DOWNRIGHT NICE

"As I grow older, I'd like to have a family. I have everything else, and now it would be good to share it."

By Gloria Paternostro

Gold and platinum records are on the walls of her beautiful Malibu home, but they're not featured. Instead, they are hung modestly in the hallway, which says a little bit about the character of Olivia Newton-John. This British-born, Australian-raised singer, winner of three Grammys and just about every other award the music business has to offer, has taken her success in stride and has no pretensions. Nor does criticism bother her. Her sweet, ethereal voice, coupled with her fresh, lovely looks, have made her the darling of the public, but some critics have labeled her as "pleasant" with an undercurrent of "bland." She shrugs it all off with a smile, knowing there isn't too much she can do about it.

Although Olivia seems young (she's 29) and fragile, she is, in fact, a long-time professional who appeared regularly on Australian television from the age of 16. When she won a talent contest and a trip to London, her mother encouraged her to go and went with her. Her first single, Bob Dylan's "If Not For You," became an international success and started her on the road to stardom. Her big break came when she toured with British idol Cliff Richard and became a regular on his TV show.

Her grandfather was British physicist Max Born, 1954 Nobel Prize winner, and her Welsh father was headmaster of Ormond College in Melbourne. Despite such an academic background, Olivia dropped out of school at 15 to pursue music.

Today the independence remains. She and her producer, John Farrar, were the only professionals who liked "Have You Never Been Mellow?" and "I Honestly Love You." Both became hits, the latter winning two Grammys and leading to the Top Female Vocalist of 1974 Award from the Country Music Association. There was some dissension in Nashville about the award going to someone not considered true "country," but Olivia crossed the charts even more successfully than John Denver, and probably did country music a lot of good by attracting new fans.

On stage, she is a low-key performer who totally disarms her audience, winning standing ovations wherever she goes. Even the prestigious New York Metropolitan Opera House did not intimidate her, and despite critics' predictions that the blasé New York crowd would be hard for her to conquer, conquer them she did, keeping her standing-ovation record intact.

Behind her outward charm there is not only warmth but also a quick intelligence and a lively personality that quickly surface as she warms to a conversation, although, she says, "I'm not very good on chat shows — I tend to clam up. Everybody goes on them trying to impress, but I can't talk about myself that way. So people think I'm shy, which I'm not, really, or a bit colorless, with this virginal, white image."

And then she is laughing because she finds the image somewhat ridiculous. She has never hidden the fact that she was romantically involved with her manager, Lee Kramer. Then Lee left the scene, and her personal life was up for grabs. So it wasn't long before rumors linked her with Grease costar John Travolta. (This is Olivia's first starring role in a film. It will be released early next year.)

"I expected those rumors," she says calmly. "We did nothing to encourage them, but there was no point discouraging them. I mean, if you're hanging out together because you're working on the set 12 hours a day, it's bound to happen." And, in fact, although Olivia speaks cautiously about it, Kramer now seems to be back in her life — at least for the moment. "He's managing my business affairs again, and we're sort of seeing each other," she says with a smile.

She has been quoted both as wanting a family but being afraid of marriage. Which is really true? "As I grow older," she says, "I'm beginning to think how nice it would be to have a proper home life and a family. After all, I have everything I want, and now it would be good to share it. If you'd asked me a year ago if I wanted children, Olivia adores animals and has five horses, four dogs and three cats at her home.

I'd probably have said no, but now... Still, there are a few things I want to do first. I know I'm much more fortunate than most people because I could afford to have someone look after the child so I wouldn't exactly be tied down, but I really want to be mentally prepared for it. It's such a big change.

Right now, her family consists of five horses, four dogs and three cats. "My animals make me happy," she says, her face lighting up. "My dogs' faces... they meet me when I come home, and they're so loving and sweet and gorgeous." She likes animals so much that when performing at the Metropolitan earlier this year, she took time out to work on a week-long drive to place stray animals.

"And I love nature — particularly oceans and sunsets and moonlit nights," she continues. "I like romantic settings. But I'm not as romantic about friendships. My close friends are generally those I've had for a long time, and their friendship was there before I was successful. They like me for me, not my success. Maybe that's just playing it safe, but I meet hundreds of people and have to find out every time which ones really are friends and which aren't. Basically, though, I'm the sort that likes everybody and then finds out later I was wrong."

Olivia is most easily drawn to people with sensitivity and a sense of humor. She quickly sees the funny side of almost any situation, and the laughter bubbles up in her, something one humorless writer misinterpreted as "nerves."

Olivia is known to have a shrewd business sense, and it shows in her reasons for declining all offers for a television series. "To keep up the same standard of good work every week for so many weeks... you can't possibly do it," she says. "You haven't got the time to devote to it. It's better to be seen now and again and have people pleased to see you rather than have them say, 'Oh, her again.'"

"I've accomplished most things I ever wanted to do and things I never dreamed I would. I never thought I'd make a film — now I have. I'd love to write one. That would be fun. Directing interests me a lot, too. Whenever I look at things, I tend to think how they would look through a lens. I think it would be a fantastic challenge."

In the final analysis, how would she like to be remembered? "I'd like to know I had made other people enjoy my music. [Her Greatest Hits album was recently released.] I'd like people to be able to say I was good at what I did. As a person, they can't all know me — only a few people really know me. I just hope I give them pleasure, that's all. And I'd like people to say that they liked me. It's important to me to be liked."

Of all the things Olivia Newton-John has wanted to achieve, this would seem to be the easiest.

Merit Sparks Low Tar Boom!

'Enriched Flavor' tobacco seen as major factor in unprecedented smoker move to low tar.

Since its introduction, MERIT has become one of the most popular new cigarettes in twenty years.

A popularity largely responsible for a significant growth in low tar smoking.

The reason: 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco. Tobacco that delivers extra flavor without the usual corresponding increase in tar.

The kind of flavor smokers can switch to—and stick with.

Here are the taste-test results which show why smokers are switching to MERIT. If you smoke, you'll be interested.

Tests Prove Taste

MERIT and MERIT 100's were both tested against a number of higher tar cigarettes. The results proved conclusively that 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco does boost taste without the usual increase in tar.

Overall, smokers reported they liked the taste of both MERIT and MERIT 100's as much as the taste of the higher tar cigarettes tested.

Cigarettes having up to 60% more tar! Only one cigarette has 'Enriched Flavor' tobacco.

Froilan lives in the highlands of Guatemala in a one-room hut with dirt floors and no sanitary facilities. Labor there is so cheap that, for men like Froilan's father, hard work and long hours still mean a life of poverty. But now life is changing for Froilan.

Her name? We don't know. We found her wandering the streets of a large city in South America. Her mother is a beggar. What will become of this little girl? No one knows. In her country, she's just one of thousands doomed to poverty.

The world is full of children like these who desperately need someone to care, like the family who sponsors Froilan.

It costs them $15 a month, and it helps give Froilan so very much. Now he eats regularly. He gets medical care. He goes to school. Froilan writes to his sponsors and they write to him. They share something very special.

Since 1938 the Christian Children's Fund has helped hundreds of thousands of children. But so many more need your help. Become a sponsor. You needn't send any money now—you can "meet" the child assigned to your care first. Just fill out and mail the coupon. You'll receive the child's photograph, background information, and detailed instructions on how to write to the child. If you wish to sponsor the child, simply send in your first monthly check or money order for $15 within 10 days. If not, return the photo and other materials so we may ask someone else to help.

Take this opportunity to "meet" a child who needs your help. Somewhere in the world, there's a suffering child who will share something very special with you. Love.

THE CRAZY WORLD OF ETHNICKIA

Never heard of this town and its far-out people? Read this and you won't forget them — or stop laughing.

By Joey Adams

No race, creed or color has the corner on ethnic humor. The fact is, the same joke can be applied to any nationality or creed.

Now, to prove it, columnist Earl Wilson has invented the mythical town of Ethnickia, which takes the heat off all the ethnic groups and puts the jokes solely in the laugh area.

Ethnickia is inhabited by the befuddled, dumb-dumb, cheap, silly but lovable people who used to be Poles, Scots, Jews, Italians, Arabs, Irish, blacks or a mixture of the immigrants who came to this country just to give material to the comics and ammunition to the bigots. Here are some typical Ethnickian stories.

New Year's Eve is a big holiday in Ethnickia. At exactly midnight last year, one citizen stood on top of the highest building (which is just above the basement) and dumped a big vat of Italian food on all the revelers. His friend looked up at him and screamed, "I told you conetti, you fool, not spaghetti!"

The Ethnickian mother says to her son, "Get out of bed and go to school." He says, "I don't wanna go to school." Mom says, "It's 8:00 — you gotta go to school." "But Mom, I hate school. The kids don't like me, the janitor doesn't like me and the teachers don't like me." The mother says: "You're 45 years old, and you're the principal — go to school!"

The FBI sent all police chiefs four pictures of a wanted criminal: front, back, left profile and right profile. In a few days, the FBI received a wire from the police chief of Ethnickia, which said: "I got your photographs — and have caught all four men."

The baseball star of Ethnickia High School was trying to console his teammates: "We could still win the championship. All we have to do is win 10 out of our five remaining games."

Isn't it terrible what happened to the Ethnickia Free Public Library? Somebody stole the book.

Then there's the story of the two Ethnickian astronauts. One says to the other, "What's the big deal about going to the moon? We're Ethnickians — we'll go direct to the sun." The other replies, "But if we get within 13 million miles of the sun, we'll melt." And the first one answers, "So we'll go at night."

An Ethnickian visiting the big city saw an elevator for the first time. He watched an elderly lady go up in it, and when the car came down, a beautiful young woman skipped out. "It's magic," the Ethnickian exclaimed, and rushed home to get his wife to put her into it.

Comedian Joey Adams is the author of Here's to the Frats: The Heart of Show Business.

I don't care if you believe it — but I know of an Ethnickian who called the bank teller on the phone and said, "This is a stickup — send me $50,000 dollars."

I used to do a bit in vaudeville with five-time world boxing champ Tony Canzoneri. Tony explained that there are certain things you can't do in the ring anymore. "This you can't do," he said as he put his thumb in my eye. "And this is not allowed," he said as he hit me below the belt. "And, of course, you should never do this," he said as he kicked me in the shin. "And most important," he added, "no biting," as he took a bite of my ear.

That's how it is with ethnic humor. We can't use it anymore — especially when one particular group is the target. We all have our share of dumb-dumbs, cheap-skates, drunks, wise guys and slob, much of which has rubbed off on each other.

In fact, there are no typical Americans anymore — or typical anything. A typical American drives home from a French movie in his German car, sits on Danish furniture in his Italian suit, drinking Brazilian coffee out of English china, and writes a letter on Irish linen paper with a Japanese ballpoint pen, complaining to his Congressman that too many American dollars are going overseas.

That's the reason I put all these gags down as coming from Ethnickia — to prove once and for all that we're all in the same boat, even if some of us came over on a plane. It reminds me of the time Milton Berle was heckling his friend Max Asnas, the late owner of New York's famous Stage Delicatessen. "Hey, foreigner," Mil called kiddingly. "What's the matter." Max answered, "your parents was Indians?"

It's the same with ethnic humor. We can enjoy it, if we remember the humor part as well as the ethnic — and the fact that there's a little of all of it in every one of us.

- 1 (12-lb.) turkey
Water
Onion stuck with 2 cloves
1 bay leaf
1 celery stalk
Salt
¼ teaspoon black peppers
Fresh Fruit Stuffing
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon paprika
Fresh cranberries
Grapes
1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Wash turkey inside and out. Pat dry.
2. Place turkey neck, heart and giblets in saucepan; cover with 1 qt. water. Add onion, bay leaf, celery stalk, ½ teaspoon salt and peppers. Heat to boiling, reduce heat and simmer, covered, 30 to 45 minutes, until tender. Save stock for gravy.
3. Spoon Fresh Fruit Stuffing into body and neck cavity. Skewer neck skin to back. Tuck turkey and tie drumsticks together.
4. Place turkey, breast side up, on rack in shallow, open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer in thick part of thigh.
5. Melt butter. Add ¼ teaspoon salt and paprika. Brush turkey with seasoned butter. Place a loose covering of aluminum foil over turkey.
6. Place bird in preheated oven. Allow 2½ to 3 hours for 8- to 12-pound bird.
7. Remove foil during last 45 minutes to brown. Turkey is done when thermometer reads 185°F. or leg moves easily.
8. Remove turkey from oven and allow to stand 20 to 30 minutes before serving. Make gravy. Remove turkey to serving platter. Garnish with fresh cranberries and grapes.

Makes 10 to 12 servings

TURKEY GRAVY

- 4 tablespoons pan drippings from turkey
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 2½ cups turkey stock
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
1. Combine pan drippings and flour smoothly. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until bubbly. Add stock all at once and cook, stirring briskly with wire whisk until mixture boils.
2. Add salt and pepper to taste.

Makes 2½ cups

FRESH FRUIT STUFFING

- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup chopped, fresh celery
- 1 cup chopped onion
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
- ¼ teaspoon powdered sage
- ¼ teaspoon dried leaf thyme, crumbled
- 6 cups dry bread cubes, about 10 slices
- 2 medium apples, cored and chopped
- 1 cup seedless grapes, halved
- ¼ cup coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans
- 2 eggs, slightly beaten
1. Melt butter in large skillet over medium heat. Sauté celery and onions until tender, about 8 minutes.

2. Stir in salt, pepper, sage and thyme. In large bowl, mix bread cubes, apples, grapes and nuts.
3. Stir in onion mixture and eggs; toss lightly. Stuff lightly into body and neck cavity of prepared turkey.

Makes enough stuffing for a 12-lb. turkey

BEEF RELISH

- 4 medium-size fresh beets
- 1 cup vinegar
- ¼ cup sugar
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- 2 teaspoons prepared horseradish
- ½ teaspoon salt
1. Wash beets; cut off tops. (Use tops as vegetable or in soup.) Cook beets in boiling, salted water 35 to 40 minutes or until tender. Rinse in cold water; peel off skin.
2. Shred beets on coarse grater or in electric food processor. You should have about 1½ cups.
3. In a medium saucepan, heat vinegar; add sugar and stir until dissolved. Add onions, shredded beets, horseradish and salt. Boil ten minutes, covered. Chill thoroughly before serving.

Makes 1½ cups relish

PUREED BROCCOLI

- 2 medium bunches broccoli
- 1 cup sliced scallions
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- ½ teaspoon salt
1. Wash broccoli and remove large leaves and tough parts of stalks. Cut stalks lengthwise into quarters or halves.
2. Place broccoli in 1-inch boiling salted water. Cover and simmer 10 to 15 minutes, until crisp-tender. Drain well.
3. Sauté scallions in butter until soft.
4. Cut broccoli into chunks and puree with scallions in blender or electric food processor. Use a little broccoli liquid to start pureeing if necessary.
5. Combine puree with ½ cup cheese, lemon juice and salt. Turn into 1½-qt. greased casserole or baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining ½ cup cheese. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven 20 minutes or until cheese melts.

TALKING TURKEY

Thanksgiving is Turkey Day for most Americans. The tantalizing aroma of the roasting bird fills the house, and everyone likes to take a peek now and then to see just how brown it's getting. The high point of the Thanksgiving dinner is the memorable moment when the golden-brown turkey is carefully carried in on a huge platter to the rapt attention of all.

The Pilgrims ate turkey, of course, but it was nothing like the plump, juicy, broad-breasted birds you can buy today. Our modern turkeys are a pampered lot. They've been scientifically bred to have an abundance of white meat as well as dark, so there's turkey for every taste.

BUYING THE BIRD

Whole, ready-to-cook turkeys are available fresh-frozen or fresh-chilled. The majority are sold frozen, which makes turkey a year-round meat. Sizes of the bird, ready-to-cook, can range from 4 to more than 24 pounds.

Practically all turkeys are retailed young, 3 to 6 months, and are suited to dry-heat methods of cooking: broiling, frying, roasting.

HOW MUCH TO BUY

When buying whole ready-to-cook turkeys under 12 pounds, allow  $\frac{3}{4}$  to 1 pound per serving. For larger birds, allow  $\frac{1}{2}$  to  $\frac{3}{4}$  pound. In most cases, large turkeys are more economical than the smaller birds and are excellent for use in future meals.

THAWING AND STORAGE

Turkeys frozen with neck and giblets inside the body and neck cavities need to be thawed before cooking. If thawing in your refrigerator, place turkey, still in its original wrap, on tray or drip pan. If you want to quick-thaw, place turkey, again in its original wrap, in sink covered with cool or cold water. Change water often to hasten thawing. If you thaw at room temperature, leave turkey in original wrap and place in brown paper bag, or wrap in 2 or 3 layers of newspaper. Place on tray or in baking pan and allow to thaw until turkey is pliable and neck and giblets can be removed easily. Cook turkey immediately.

Family Weekly FOODSHELF

FAMILY WEEKLY'S Foodshelf presents dishes you can make quickly, with a minimum of fuss, using ingredients found in most kitchen cupboards.

QUICK SPAGHETTI SAUCE

In 2 tablespoons margarine or vegetable oil, sauté 1 cup chopped fresh or frozen onion, 1 cup chopped celery and 1 cup sliced carrots 5 minutes, stirring. Add 1 can (1 lb. 12 oz.) tomatoes, 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce, 1 teaspoon garlic salt,  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon black pepper and 1 bay leaf. Heat to boiling, reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes, uncovered. Add  $\frac{1}{2}$  lb. sliced frankfurters, heat to boiling, reduce heat and simmer 5 minutes. Serve over spaghetti or favorite pasta. Makes 6 servings

SAUERKRAUT-FRANKFURTER BAKE

Preheat oven to 375°F. In 1-qt. casserole, combine 1 can (1 lb. 11 oz.) sauerkraut, rinsed and drained, 1 can (1 lb.) potatoes, drained, 1 cup applesauce,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon caraway seeds and  $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon pepper. Diagonally slash 8 frankfurters; place on sauerkraut. Cover; bake 35 to 45 minutes until bubbly. Makes 4 servings

SOUTHERN PORK 'N' LIMAS

In large skillet, brown 6 pork chops (about  $1\frac{1}{2}$  lbs.) in 2 tablespoons oil. Pour off fat. Add 1 can (10 $\frac{3}{4}$  oz.) cream of mushroom soup,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup water,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon pepper and  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon thyme leaves. Cover; cook over low heat 30 minutes or until tender. Stir occasionally. Stir in 1 can (16 oz.) of lima beans, drained, and  $\frac{1}{2}$  cup drained, chopped, canned tomatoes. Heat. Makes 4 servings

TEST FOR DONENESS

There is nothing as accurate as a meat thermometer placed in the center of the inside thigh muscle. When it registers 180° to 185°F., the turkey is done.

If the bird is stuffed, the point of the thermometer should be in the center of the stuffing and register 165°F.

OUR WAY.

1 9-inch unbaked
pastry shell
1 cup brown sugar
2 tablespoons flour
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt

$\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon cinnamon
 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup cooked pumpkin
2 cups MILNOT
2 eggs, beaten

PUMPKIN PIE

Mix sugar, flour, salt and spices together and stir into pumpkin. Add MILNOT and eggs. Pour into pie shell and bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and continue baking for another 25 to 30 minutes or until filling is firm, (when knife inserted in pie comes out clean). Garnish with whipped MILNOT topping.

Our way is pumpkin pie with Milnot richness. The richness that happens when pure vegetable oil replaces butterfat — as it does in Milnot. There's no other product quite like Milnot. And no other richness like the richness you enjoy our way.

For a free Milnot Recipe Book write: Milnot Company, P.O. Box 7143, St. Louis, MO 63177.

TIMETABLE FOR ROASTING

Based on stuffed whole turkeys, chilled or completely thawed at a temperature of about 40°F. The times are for stuffed birds placed into 325°F. preheated ovens. Time will be slightly less (1 to 3 minutes per pound) for unstuffed birds.

THE RUBY RED BERRIES

Cranberry Sweet Potato Bread. Two seasonal favorites combine in this moist, quick bread.

Cranberries, those cheerful, bouncy, ruby red berries that always seem to say "Happy Thanksgiving," are at the peak of their season now. Cranberries are native to North America and are grown in Massachusetts, New Jersey, Wisconsin, Oregon and Washington.

Our tradition of serving cranberries at Thanksgiving goes back to the first Thanksgiving in Plymouth, Mass. The Wampanoag Indians of Cape Cod introduced their treasured berries, which they called "Sassamanesh," to the Pilgrims, who renamed them crane berries because the pink blossoms on the vines in late spring resemble the heads of cranes. Eventually the name was contracted to cranberry.

Our resourceful Pilgrim cooks were also the first to use the berry in puddings and pies. Today, too, we find many varied uses for cranberries that make good additions to our tables.

CRANBERRY SWEET POTATO BREAD

- ¾ cup packed dark or light brown sugar
- ¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
- ¾ cup mashed cooked sweet potatoes*
- 3 eggs, slightly beaten
- ½ cup orange juice
- 2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1½ teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- ¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon ground mace
- 1 cup coarsely chopped fresh cranberries
- ½ cup sliced natural almonds

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Grease a 9- x 5- x 3-inch loaf pan.
2. In large bowl, combine brown sugar, butter, sweet potatoes, eggs and orange juice.
3. In separate bowl, sift dry ingredients together. Add to sweet-potato mixture and mix.
4. Fold in chopped cranberries and almonds; turn batter into prepared pan.
5. Bake 60 to 70 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center of bread comes out clean.
6. Cool in pan for 10 minutes, then remove to wire rack and cool completely. Makes 1 loaf

*To cook sweet potatoes, cook in water to cover in saucepan until tender, 20 to 30 minutes.

CRANBERRY APPLE RICE

- 1 cup water
- 1 cup (8 ozs.) canned whole berry cranberry sauce or 1 cup homemade cranberry sauce
- 1 cup sliced or diced peeled apple
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- ¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon

- Dash salt
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1½ cups quick-cooking rice

1. Combine water, cranberry sauce, apple, sugar, cinnamon, salt and butter in saucepan.
2. Heat to boiling. Stir in rice, cover, remove from heat. Let stand 5 minutes.

Makes 3½ cups or 6 servings

Editor's note: Cranberry Apple Rice is good served with turkey, chicken or pork.

- |                        |                                    |
|------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 1 cup MAZOLA Corn Oil  | 1 teaspoon paprika                 |
| 1/4 cup cider vinegar  | 1/2 teaspoon dried tarragon leaves |
| 1 teaspoon salt        | Dash pepper                        |
| 1 teaspoon dry mustard |                                    |
- Measure all ingredients into jar. Cover tightly and shake well. Chill. Shake before serving. Serve on tossed salad greens. Makes 1 1/4 cups.

CRANBERRY-APPLE SALAD

Blended together with creamy HELLMANN'S®.

- |                                                    |                                  |
|----------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------|
| 2 cans (1 lb each) whole berry cranberry sauce     | 2 tablespoons lemon juice        |
| 2 cups boiling water                               | 1/2 teaspoon salt                |
| 2 packages (3 oz each) strawberry-flavored gelatin | 1 cup HELLMANN'S Real Mayonnaise |
|                                                    | 2 cups diced apple               |
|                                                    | 1/2 cup chopped walnuts          |
- Melt cranberry sauce over medium heat. Drain, reserving liquid and berries. Mix together cranberry liquid, boiling water and gelatin; stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add lemon juice and salt. Chill until mixture mounds slightly on a spoon. Add Real Mayonnaise; beat until smooth. Fold in cranberries, apple and nuts. Pour into 2-quart mold. Chill overnight. Makes 10-12 servings.

SAVORY TURKEY GRAVY

ARGO gives gravy its smoothness.

- |                                  |                                              |
|----------------------------------|----------------------------------------------|
| 3 tablespoons turkey drippings   | 3 tablespoons ARGO®/KINGSFORD'S® Corn Starch |
| 3 cups chicken bouillon or stock | 1/4 cup cold water                           |
|                                  | 1/4 teaspoon poultry seasoning               |

Measure drippings and return 3 tablespoons to roasting pan. Stir in bouillon. Stir and cook over medium heat, scraping pan to loosen browned particles. Remove from heat. Mix Corn Starch and water; stir into liquid in pan. Add poultry seasoning. Bring to boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Boil 2 minutes. Makes 3 cups.

LEMON-PARSLEY STUFFING

Made moist with MAZOLA Margarine.

- |                                  |                              |
|----------------------------------|------------------------------|
| 10 cups (1 1/2-inch) bread cubes | 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind |
| 1 1/4 cups chopped celery        | 1/4 teaspoon pepper          |
| 2/3 cup chopped parsley          | 3/4 cup MAZOLA Margarine     |
| 2 teaspoons salt                 | 3/4 cup chopped onion        |

Mix first 6 ingredients. In skillet melt Margarine over medium heat. Add onion; sauté until golden. Toss with bread mixture. Makes 10 cups or enough to stuff a 10 to 12-pound turkey.

CAULIFLOWER WITH FRESH HERB SAUCE

- 1 large head cauliflower
  - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
  - 2 tablespoons flour
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 2 tablespoons chopped fresh dill or 1 teaspoon dried
  - dill weed
  - 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
  - 1/2 teaspoon grated onion
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 cup sour cream or yogurt
1. Remove outer leaves from cauliflower.

- Trim off any blemishes from flowerets, cut slice off root end, wash well.
2. Cook, covered, in 1-inch boiling, salted water 15 to 20 minutes, or until tender.
3. In small saucepan, melt butter over low heat; stir in flour.
4. Cook, stirring constantly, 1 minute. Remove from heat. Gradually add milk, stirring until smooth.
5. Add dill, parsley, onion and salt. Return to heat; cook, stirring until mixture boils. Lower heat, add sour cream, heat just until heated throughout.
6. To serve, place cauliflower in serving dish; pour dill sauce over.

Makes 6 to 8 servings

CREAMED FRESH ONIONS

- 16 small white onions, peeled
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground white pepper
- 1/4 teaspoon paprika
- Dash nutmeg
- 1/4 cup soft bread crumbs

1. Cook onions, covered, for 15 minutes in lightly salted boiling water. Drain, reserving 1/4 cup liquid.
2. Melt butter in saucepan; blend in flour. Gradually stir in milk and reserved 1/4 cup onion liquid. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture boils and is thickened.
3. Add salt, pepper, paprika and nutmeg. Turn onions into a deep 1 1/2-qt. baking dish; add cream sauce and sprinkle top with bread crumbs. Cover loosely and bake in preheated 350°F. oven 15 minutes. Uncover and bake 20 minutes.

Makes 6 servings

WINNING WAYS WITH FALL FRUITS

BAKED BOSCH PEARS HALF SHELL

- 3 fresh Bosch pears
  - Lemon juice
  - Choice of Fillings*
  - 1/2 cup water
  - 1 cup packed brown sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon butter or margarine
  - 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Halve and core pears. Brush with lemon juice.
  2. Place pears in shallow baking pan. Fill centers with your choice of filling.
  3. Combine water, sugar, butter and cinnamon. Heat to boiling, stirring until sugar dissolves. Pour over pears.
  4. Bake pears for about 30 to 40 minutes until tender. Baste once with syrup. Serve as accompaniment dish at dinner or as dessert.
- Makes 6 servings
- *Fillings:

Raisin: Combine 2 tablespoons raisins, 2 tablespoons chopped almonds and 2 tablespoons orange marmalade.

Mincemeat: Use 1/2 cup prepared mincemeat.

FRESH FRUIT BOWL WITH CRANBERRY CREAM

- 1 cup fresh cranberries, ground
  - 1/2 cup honey
  - 1 cup sour cream or yogurt
  - 1/2 teaspoon orange rind
  - 1 tablespoon orange juice
  - 2 apples, cored and sliced
  - 2 tablespoons lemon juice
  - 2 oranges, peeled and sliced
  - 2 grapefruits, peeled and sectioned
  - 2 pears, cored and sliced
  - 1 cup halved and pitted grapes
1. Make cranberry cream: Pour cranberries into blender. Cover and blend until coarsely ground. Or use food processor with chopping blade.
  2. Mix ground cranberries, honey, sour cream, orange rind and juice. Cover and chill.
  3. Prepare fruit. Toss apple slices with lemon juice. Layer fruits in pretty serving bowl. (Cut glass would be nice.) Cover and chill until ready to serve. Serve with cranberry cream.
- Makes 6 servings

BAKED FRUIT COMPOTE

- 1/4 cup orange juice
  - 1/4 cup maple or maple blended syrup
  - 1/4 cup sugar
  - 1/2 lemon, thinly sliced and seeded
  - 1 cinnamon stick
  - 4 whole cloves
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1/4 cup plus 1 tablespoon lemon juice
  - 3 large baking apples, pared, cored and sliced into 1/2-inch slices
  - 2 large pears: Bosch, Anjou or Bosc, quartered and cored
  - 2 bananas
  - 1 cup seeded, halved grapes: Tokay, Ribier or Concord
1. Mix orange juice, syrup, sugar, lemon slices, cinnamon stick, cloves and salt in saucepan. Heat, stirring until sugar dissolves; set aside.

2. Pour 1/4 cup lemon juice into shallow 2 1/2-qt. baking dish. Add apples and pears; mix well.

3. Pour orange-juice mixture over fruits; cover loosely with foil. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven for 20 minutes.

4. Meanwhile, peel bananas and sprinkle with remaining 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Add bananas and grapes to baking fruit, gently pushing them down into the syrup.

5. Cover loosely; bake 10 minutes longer or until fruit is just fork tender. Serve warm or cold as a dessert or a condiment for poultry or pork.

Makes 6 servings

FALL GELATIN DELIGHT

- 1 pkg. (3 ozs.) orange-flavored gelatin
  - 1 pkg. (3 ozs.) cherry-flavored gelatin
  - 2 cups boiling water
  - 20 ice cubes
  - 1 cup sliced, seeded grapes
  - 1 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
  - 1 cup (8 1/4 ozs.) crushed pineapple, drained
- Whipped cream

1. In large bowl, dissolve orange- and cherry-flavored gelatin in boiling water.
  2. Add ice cubes and stir until partially thickened. Remove remaining ice cubes. Stir in grapes, walnuts and pineapple.
  3. Cover and refrigerate until firm, about 1 hour. Stir once while setting to prevent fruits and nuts from settling.
  4. Top with whipped cream and serve in dessert glasses.
- Makes 6 to 8 servings

HOT SPICED APPLE JUICE WITH ROASTED APPLES

- 8 very small apples
- Whole cloves
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 qts. apple juice
- 1/2 cup firmly packed dark or light brown sugar
- 2 whole nutmegs
- 4 cinnamon sticks
- 16 whole cloves
- 16 whole allspice

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Core apples and remove skin from top 1/2 of each apple. Place in baking pan. Insert cloves in peeled portion. Brush with butter; sprinkle with sugar.
2. Bake 30 to 45 minutes. Baking time will depend on size and variety of apples, but they should be almost as tender as baked apples.
3. In 3-qt. saucepan combine apple juice and brown sugar. Tie spices in cheesecloth bag; crush with hammer or mallet and add to saucepan. Bring to boiling. Cover, reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Remove spice bag; discard.
4. To serve, pour hot spiced apple juice into tureen. Float hot roasted apples on surface. Ladle into mugs and top each serving with a roasted apple.

CRANBERRY POT ROAST

- 1 (4 to 5 lbs.) boneless rolled chuck roast
  - 1½ teaspoons salt
  - ¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
  - 3 tablespoons flour
  - 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
  - 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
  - 2 cups chopped onion
  - 2 cups fresh cranberries, rinsed and drained
  - 1 can (10½ ozs.) condensed beef broth, undiluted
1. Wipe roast with damp paper towel. Rub roast with salt, pepper and flour.
  2. In 6-qt. Dutch oven, heat butter and vegetable oil until hot, but not smoking. Brown meat on all sides in hot oil over medium-high heat.
  3. When meat has browned, remove from pan; pour off all pan drippings. Return roast to pan; add onions, cranberries and beef broth. Bring to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer about 2½ hours, turning once or twice, until the meat is tender.
  4. Remove meat to a platter. Cover with foil and keep warm. Skim excess fat from pan juices with spoon. Pour pan juices into electric blender and blend for 1 minute. Strain juices back into pan. Heat until sauce bubbles. Taste for seasoning, adding additional salt and pepper if desired.

5. Cut meat into slices and serve with gravy. Makes 8 servings

25¢ off on the brown sugar that can go 100% further.

It's true. A 16-ounce bottle of new Domino® Liquid Brown Sugar can go twice as far as a 16-ounce box of regular brown sugar.

That's enough brown sugar for 256 more chocolate chip cookies...or 18 more servings of baked beans...or glaze for two more hams.

And everything you make will turn out beautifully. Of course, new Domino Liquid Brown Sugar is much simpler to use. Because it's liquid, it's easier to measure and blend.

And there are no lumps to pound.

But don't get the idea that it's anything but real brown sugar. It's 100% real brown sugar with no additives, preservatives, or artificial coloring.

And for a short time, you can get it for 25¢ less than usual.

NEIGHBORS' RECIPE EXCHANGE

This month we have a collection of recipes from a cross section of the country. Mrs. Marlene Woods from Anchorage, Alaska, sends Cabbage Casserole. It makes a hearty, low-cost, quick family meal. Marlene reads FAMILY WEEKLY in the Anchorage Times.

CABBAGE CASSEROLE

Brown 1 lb. ground beef in electric skillet or large skillet, stirring to break up meat. Add 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1 cup chopped green pepper, 4 cups chopped cabbage (1/2 head) and 1 cup raw regular white rice. Stir in 1 can (15 oz.) tomato sauce, 1 can (6 oz.) tomato paste, 2 cups water, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper and one bay leaf. Heat mixture to boiling, reduce heat, cover and simmer about 25 minutes or until rice is tender. Stir once or twice.

Makes 4 to 6 servings

Eunice Pirtle of Kilgore, Texas, sends Tasty Fruit Cobbler and Spiced Tea. Eunice says, "These are a couple of quick and enjoyable recipes. Fine in summer, great in winter." Eunice reads FAMILY WEEKLY in the Kilgore News-Herald.

TASTY FRUIT COBBLER

Preheat oven to 350°F. Grease a 13- x 9- x 2-inch baking pan. Drain 2 cans (16-oz. size) fruit — peaches, plums, pears or blackberries — saving 1 cup juice. Pour fruit and reserved syrup into pan. Sprinkle cake mix over fruit. Pour 2 sticks (1 cup) melted margarine over cake mix. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup chopped pecans, walnuts or almonds. Bake 1 hour. Serve warm with refrigerated whipped topping or vanilla ice cream.

Makes 8 to 10 servings

SPICED TEA

Mix 1/2 cup instant tea, 1 pkg. (3 oz.) lemonade mix, 1 jar (18 oz.) instant orange beverage mix, 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon ground cloves and 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon. Add 2 spoons mixture to a cup of boiling water. Store mix in airtight jar.

Makes 1 qt. dry mix

A delicious recipe for Steak Zingara comes from Gil Hodges of Virginia, Ill. Gil is chef-owner of the Virginia Inn. Gil reads FAMILY WEEKLY in the Sedalia, Mo., Democrat-Capitol.

STEAK ZINGARA

Broil 4 to 6 New York strip steaks or club steaks to desired preference. Brush with 1 tablespoon melted butter while broiling. Sprinkle with seasoned salt and ground black pepper.

Meanwhile, in hot skillet or wok, stir-fry in 2 tablespoons oil, 1 large green pepper, cut into julienne strips, 1 medium, yellow onion, sliced, 1 lb. fresh mushrooms, sliced, and 3 to 4 ribs celery sliced diagonally. Cook briskly, 2 to 3 minutes; vegetables should stay crisp. Peel 3 large tomatoes, quarter, remove seeds, add to skillet with vegetables and just heat through. Season with seasoned salt, ground black pepper and nutmeg. Serve vegetables over hot steak. Rice goes well with dish.

Makes 4 to 6 servings

Alma Stunz is a loyal FAMILY WEEKLY reader; she has been clipping recipes from our pages since 1968. Alma sends two recipes: Skillet Corned Beef Dinner and Swirl Coffee Cake. Alma reads FAMILY WEEKLY in the Canton Repository, Canton, Ohio.

SKILLET CORNED BEEF DINNER

In large skillet, combine 1 teaspoon instant minced onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper, 1/2 head cabbage, cut into wedges and cored, 2 large carrots, peeled and quartered. Heat to boiling, reduce heat and boil gently 15 minutes. Add 1 can (1 lb.) whole white potatoes, drained, and 1 can (12 oz.) corned beef, chilled and sliced. Return to boiling and simmer 5 minutes longer or until cabbage is tender. On platter alternate cabbage and corned beef; surround with carrots and potatoes. Sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Makes 4 servings

SWIRL COFFEE CAKE

In large bowl, beat 1/4 lb. (1/2 cup) margarine until creamy; gradually add 1 cup sugar, beating until fluffy. Add 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract and 1 cup sour cream; beat until well blended. Sift together 2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking soda and 1 teaspoon baking powder. Add flour mixture gradually to creamed mixture, beating at low speed just until blended. Pour 1/2 of batter into ungreased 10-inch tube pan. Combine 1/2 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon ground cinnamon and 1/2 cup chopped almonds. Pour 1/2 of this sugar mixture over batter. Top with remaining batter and remaining sugar mixture. Swirl lightly with knife to marble. Bake 45 to 55 minutes in preheated 375°F. oven. Cool 10 minutes, then turn out of pan to cool on rack.

Makes 1 (10-inch) cake

1. OCTOPUS TREE

2. COFFEE TREE

3. ROYAL VELVET PLANT

4. PRAYER PLANT

5. ALUMINUM PLANT

1. South Pacific

Octopus Tree (schefflera). Has long-stemmed, glossy leaves with 6-8 umbrella-shaped leaflets. Grows to 5-8 feet indoors -- a marvelous decorator plant.

2. Genuine Coffee Tree

(coffea arabica). A relative of the gardenia, has starlike white fragrant flowers, then real coffee beans! 3-4 feet high at maturity, grows in shade.

3. Royal Velvet Plant

(gynura). Excellent foliage pot plant with colorful, egg-shaped velvety leaves, closely covered with Royal Purple Hairs! Likes sun.

4. Mysterious Prayer Plant

(maranta l. kerchoviana). Leaves fold in "prayer" each night -- reopen at dawn. Beautiful, luxuriant variegated foliage -- easy to grow on windowsill.

5. Aluminum Plant

By searching for new varieties of plants people want, and offering them at prices they can afford, we have become one of America's largest nursery sales companies. Now we are considering offering a different plant every month to people who enjoy indoor plants. So we need to know which types of plants you want most, and how many of each to tell our suppliers to grow.

It would be very costly for us to send a research worker out to ring your doorbell to get these answers, so we are asking your help through this advertisement. In return, we'll send you all 5 of these living plants -- the Coffee Tree and Prayer Plant alone, at our regular prices, would cost you more than this special price of $2 plus postage and handling for all five. Just send us your answers to the 5 questions and we'll be most grateful. Send us your answers plus your remittance, and we'll reward you by rushing you all 5 of these exotic, living plants already up to 6" high, (pots not included). And for your help, we'll allow you to order extras for gifts at the same money-saving price! Return within 14 days for refund (except postage & handling) if not delighted. Won't you mail your answers to us on the coupon, today!

MARILYN INTERVIEWS PRODUCE EXPERT PETE PURCELL

An active man whose work involves getting fresh fruits and vegetables to your local supermarkets in the best possible condition is Pete Purcell, president of a consulting and marketing firm specializing in the produce industry. We talked to Pete about the fresh fruit and vegetable market situation at this Thanksgiving period.

"First," he said, "what comes to mind is weather, and this year the weather in all growing areas should be completely favorable. The result will be an abundance of all fresh fruits and vegetables. If anything will be in short supply it might be Thompson seedless grapes. The availability of the bronzy red Tokays and black Ribiers, however, will be fine."

We then asked him what he would suggest to consumers about keeping produce fresh at home.

"First, the makeup of vegetables is almost 95 percent water. So, after washing them, put them in plastic bags to prevent dehydration. Keep them in your refrigerator vegetable crisper at a temperature of 33° to 35°F. There are three exceptions: green beans, which should be refrigerated but not washed, and which should be bought only one or two days before using as they decay rapidly, and cucumbers and green peppers, which keep best at a temperature of 45°F.

"Keep all fruits except tropicals (pineapple, bananas, papaya, avocados, etc.) in the refrigerator. Put tropicals in a cool place, but near room temperature.

"The best temperature for ripening bananas is 59° to 65°F. It takes 3 or 4 days for full ripening, and don't place them in the sun. Instead, let bananas ripen gradually.

"Tomatoes should be allowed to ripen at a cool room temperature, 55°-60°F, away from sunlight. Once fully ripened, you can put them in the refrigerator.

"Ripen pears at room temperature, too. They are generally sold underripe and must be ripened at home."

- Boiled potatoes, chopped
- parsley

1. Boil celery in 4 cups water with 1/2 teaspoon salt until tender, about 12 minutes.
2. Remove celery to serving dish with slotted spoon and keep warm.
3. Combine ground meat with onion, 1 teaspoon salt, pepper, sage, egg and 4 tablespoons flour, mixing well.
4. Form mixture into balls using tablespoon. Heat celery liquid to boiling. Drop meat balls gradually into boiling liquid. Reduce heat and simmer 10 to 15 minutes.
5. Lift meatballs from broth with slotted spoon and place in serving dish with celery.
6. On board, blend butter and 3 tablespoons flour with fork until smooth. Heat broth to boiling; add blended butter and cook, stirring rapidly until mixture thickens.
7. Pour sauce over celery and meatballs. Serve with boiled potatoes and parsley.

Makes 4 servings

PERSONALIZED PORTRAITS

Your Child's Name Inscribed in Rich Gold Finish

On Original Children's Paintings Re-created in Glorious Full Color Any Child's First Name Inscribed Free of Charge

Imagine your children's wonder and delight when they see their name on a real printed picture! It's as if they were so important the picture was printed just for them! Yes, we'll inscribe any child's first name in rich gold finish letters in the sampler above the bed so the message reads: GOD LOVES (YOUR CHILD'S FIRST NAME). It will be all part of a magnificent painting (shown in the big pictures on this page) by one of America's most famous children's artists reproduced in glorious full color in a full 16" x 20" size... sure to become an heirloom piece you'll treasure for years to come. Order now, and be sure to indicate the name(s) you want in each picture. Only $3 ea. or 2 for just $5 (please add 50¢ with each order to partially cover postage and handling.)

Now through modern photographic methods and an amazing new process, you may have your favorite photograph of your child placed in the sampler above the bed in either the Little Girl or Little Boy Picture. It will come to you looking like a magnificent "oil painting" heavily textured with brush strokes on canvas but at a fraction of the cost of an original oil.

Simply select your favorite snapshot, slide or negative (in color, of course) any size taken with any kind of camera and mail it to us. We will return both the original photograph and the Personalized Portrait consisting of a 4" x 5" re-creation of your child's picture in the OVERALL full color painting of the little boy or little girl embraced with the words: GOD LOVES (picture of your child). The completed masterwork measures a full 16" x 20" and is reproduced on the finest linen canvas on stretchers exactly like those used with priceless oil paintings to keep your canvas tight and wrinkle-free, ready to hang. This is one of the most beautiful and original ways you'll ever have of preserving for a lifetime the wonders of childhood personalized for the child you love. Each Masterpiece only $29.95 (plus pstg. & hdlg.)

THE WINTER SQUASHES

William S. Smith

Glazed Acorn Rings glisten with orange juice, brown sugar and lemon.

Have you ever stopped at a roadside market and marveled at a group of unusually shaped and colorful vegetables? Chances are you were fascinated by the members of the winter squash family.

By winter squashes we mean those that are harvested in late summer and fall and have hard skins. Examples of this category include acorn (Danish), hubbard, turk's turban, mammoth, cushaw, Canada crookneck, spaghetti and winter crookneck. Pumpkin is also a member of this family. Here are several recipes to try.

GLAZED ACORN RINGS

- 2 acorn squash
- 1/2 cup fresh orange juice
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 1/4 cup light corn syrup
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 2 teaspoons grated fresh lemon rind
- 1/2 teaspoon salt

1. Cut off ends of squash. Slice crosswise into 1-inch rings and remove seeds.
2. Place in a single layer in a large, shallow baking dish and add orange juice.
3. Cover and bake in preheated 350°F. oven 30 minutes. Combine brown sugar and remaining ingredients; simmer 5 minutes. Pour over squash rings and bake, uncovered, 15 minutes longer, basting occasionally.
Makes 6 servings

JAMAICAN SQUASH SOUP

- 2 lbs. peeled, cubed winter squash: turk's turban, butternut, hubbard or acorn
- 1 lb. tomatoes, peeled and diced
- 1/2 cup rice
- 1 large clove garlic, crushed
- 2 bay leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme leaves
- 1/2 teaspoon dried sage leaves
- 1 cup chopped scallions

- 1 tablespoon bottled steak sauce
- Dash ground allspice
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 3 cans (10 1/2-oz. size) beef consommé
- 5 cups water
- 4 tablespoons chopped parsley

1. Place squash, tomatoes, rice, garlic, bay leaves, marjoram, thyme, scallions, steak sauce, allspice, sugar, salt, pepper, consommé and water into large kettle or Dutch oven.
2. Heat to boiling, stir, reduce heat and let boil gently 45 to 60 minutes until vegetables and rice are very tender.
3. Ladle into soup bowls; sprinkle each serving with a little parsley.
Makes about 3 qts.

TOASTED SQUASH SEEDS

Seeds from winter squash: turk's turban, hubbard, acorn or pumpkin
Salt

- 1. Rinse seeds in colander or coarse strainer. Turn out onto paper towels and rub off all fibrous material.
- 2. Rinse seeds again. Spread wet seeds on cookie sheet and sprinkle with salt.
- 3. Bake in preheated 350°F. oven for about 15 to 20 minutes until very pale gold color. Cool. Eat as desired.

Makes as much as you want

GOLDEN SQUASH SOUFFLE

- 1 1/2 cups mashed, cooked winter squash: turk's turban, hubbard, acorn or spaghetti
- 6 eggs, separated
- 1 cup grated natural Swiss cheese
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. and grease a 2-qt. casserole.
2. Beat squash until fluffy. Add egg yolks, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Stir in cheese, salt, pepper and nutmeg.
3. In medium bowl, with clean beaters, beat egg whites with cream of tartar until stiff peaks form.
4. Fold whites into squash mixture, turn into soufflé dish and sprinkle surface with Parmesan cheese. Bake 1 hour until puffy.
Makes 4 to 6 servings

Winter squashes: acorn, spaghetti, pumpkin, turk's turban and butternut.

GIANT MEMO CALENDAR

Now your favorite photo can become a superb, lasting and beautiful wall calendar—to hang all the year long where it will bring you pleasure every day. Or, as a gift to remind a special person of your thoughtfulness and love.

A new scientific breakthrough makes it possible to enlarge, with absolute fidelity and clarity, any color photo and reproduce it in GIANT size. You get all the tones, all the beauty, all the vibrant live colors, so exactly that the giant photo seems actually better than the original!

Any photo—color or black and white—can be used, and will be returned to you in perfect condition. Even a tiny 3" x 4" snapshot becomes a giant 8" x 10" printed on a fine quality linen-look calendar that is 14" x 22" overall. And the calendar is a year-round aide, with plenty of room for notes, reminders, appointments, red-letter days, etc.

The price is super, too. Only $2.99! An incomparable value these days. Just send your favorite photo or slide. We'll even mail calendars for you to any list of people you want to send us.

Use handy order coupon. Prompt service and satisfaction guaranteed.

New Benson & Hedges 100's Lights

Only 11 mg tar

Who could make light of themselves better?

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined
That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Are the elderly the most frequent victims of homicide?
Has an effective means to deter shoplifting been found?

ON CRIME AND CRIMINALS

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. When white-collar petty crime (thefts, pilfering, altering of records, etc.) occurs in an office and is detected by fellow workers, whether it's reported to the boss depends on both the sex of the observer and the sex of the culprit.
2. Most criminals are quiet loners.
3. Elderly people are the most frequent victims of homicide.
4. No really effective way has been found to deal with shoplifting.
5. It's the rare youngster who isn't tempted occasionally to commit delinquent or antisocial acts, and it only takes a minute to tell how likely he is to yield to such temptations.
6. Most crimes would not be committed if criminals were more intelligent.

ANSWERS

1. True. Studies conducted by Purdue University investigators show that in such circumstances female wrongdoers are more likely to be reported than males: that females report females most often; and that males report males least often.
2. False. A University of London study shows that the opposite is true, that the typical criminal likes to have people to talk to, does not like to be alone for any length of time, craves excitement, takes chances, is aggressive and restless, likes to keep moving, loses his temper quickly and is given to acting impulsively. The study also shows that people who attempt to satisfy their ambitions by criminal rather than legal means "tend to be athletic in body build, that is, stocky and muscular."

3. False. A statistical study of the general population reported by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company showed that if you make it through your 34th birthday without being fatally slugged, shot or otherwise rendered a candidate for the obituary column, your chances of suffering such a fate diminish dramatically. It was found that "mortality from homicide is highest between ages 25 and 34 for both men and women." And current FBI crime reports are cited showing that in a substantial percentage of cases the person who pulls the trigger, wields the knife or whatever is neither a stranger nor someone you'd be likely to view with suspicion.

4. False. University of Kansas and Middle Tennessee State University investigators conducted a series of experiments in a large downtown department store. They found that the placing of conventional anti-shoplifting signs appeared to reduce but not eliminate shoplifting. So special signs were devised and placed in departments where shoplifting was a serious problem. The signs read: SHOPPERS & SHOPLIFTERS: The Items You See Marked With a Red Star Are Items That Shoplifters Frequently Take. Results: "When merchandise was publicly identified (by these signs) as frequently taken by shoplifters, shoplifting was virtually eliminated." One explanation offered for the effectiveness of the signs and red stars is that because they indicated that merchandise was under close surveillance, potential shoplifters and dishonest employees realized the increased threat of apprehension.

5. True. University of Alberta sociologist Gwyn Nettler cites evidence in his treatise, Explaining Crime, that shows delinquents "are more impatient and impulsive than nondelinquents. Time seems longer to them. That is, when you ask youngsters to 'guess a minute' — to tell you when a minute has passed — the delinquent guesses sooner." Other studies bear out this finding.

6. False. Noted criminologist Hans von Hentig has concluded from his Studies in the Sociobiology of Crime that "Intelligence does not appear to reduce criminal tendencies; on the contrary. It seems to play a considerable role in protecting the shrewd perpetrator from the grip of law-enforcement agencies. Intelligence, then, may be called a crime-furthering element in contrast with dullness or stupidity."

Observations

What's in a star? Well-traveled gourmets eagerly await the publication each year of the new Mobil Travel Guide, with its coveted handful of ★★★★★ restaurants. Over the years since the Guide's inauguration in 1958, this annual unveiling of the nation's crème de la crème of culinary emporia has become an event of growing significance among America's restaurant owners and chefs.

Star trek. For months prior to the Mobil Travel Guide's publication, its 80 incognito inspectors visit thousands of restaurants across the nation, rating them on the basis of food, service, atmosphere, and cleanliness. When the inspector feels a restaurant's quality warrants an "inside look," he identifies himself, discusses menus and food preparation with the chef, then checks the kitchen to see if meat and fish are stored separately, whether canned or frozen vegetables are used, and so forth.

Reaching for the stars. The inspectors' reports, plus letters from thousands of Travel Guide users, form the basis for a selection committee's ratings. Space limitations alone keep many good restaurants out of the Guide (but there's always next year). Those which do make it—more than 4,000 in the seven volume 1977 edition—are ranked: ★ good, better than average; ★★ very good; ★★★ excellent; ★★★★ outstanding, worth a special effort to reach.

"He heard a rumor that the Mobil man was in the area."

Five-star final. In the course of the rating process, a handful of restaurants is nominated for possible ★★★★★ acclaim. Each of these receives a second anonymous visit from a Mobil Travel Guide inspector before the committee decides which—if any—qualifies for the rating, which translates into the simple statement, "One of the best in the country." Only nine restaurants presently display the ★★★★★ award.

★★★★★ What can you expect in a five star restaurant? Perfectly served culinary masterpieces, not just cooking, for one thing: a wide selection of meat, poultry and fish dishes, plus appealing appetizers and imaginative desserts. The wine list will be studded with famous chateaux and exceptional vintages. Breads and pastries will be hot and fresh; the table settings and decor, outstanding.

Star struck. If you're lucky, you live just around the corner from one of the current ★★★★★ greats: Cafe Chauveron, Miami; Ernie's, San Francisco; Le Perroquet, Chicago; Le Ruhl's, New Orleans; Luile, New York; Maisonette, Cincinnati; Petite Marmite, Palm Beach, Fla.; Rancho Del Rio Tack Room, Tucson; Tony's, St. Louis. Will they repeat next year? Are there ambitious young restaurants climbing toward future ★★★★★ glory? Stay tuned; the 1978 Mobil Travel Guide will be of the press in January.

KNOW YOUR RIGHTS AS A PATIENT

By Jean E. Laird

Here's what you must understand to get the very best care from your doctor and hospital.

What are your rights as a patient? Today you, as a patient, can — and should — exercise the following rights concerning your medical care.

The Right To Be Selective. Doctors will not be offended if you check their training.

You also might contact your local or county medical society, or your community hospital. These will give you as many names of qualified and accredited physicians as you desire.

The Right To Change Doctors. Remaining with the same doctor has obvious advantages; he has recorded your past health problems and the results of all tests you have taken. And if you have been seeing him for a long time, he knows you as a person, as well as a patient, which can be valuable when you seek medical advice.

But the mere fact that one doctor has your medical history in his files shouldn't stop you from seeking outside help if you aren't completely satisfied with his care.

The Right To Full Information. Fifty percent of the persons queried in a national survey said that their doctors didn't tell them enough about their condition. Yet you not only have the right to ask questions but you also have the right to expect truthful answers and explanations you can understand.

That means you have the right to know as much — or as little — as you want about your condition, care, treatment, the purpose and results of tests and the name and possible side effects of medications your doctor may prescribe. If the doctor believes it is medically inadvisable to give information to the patient, it must be made available to an appropriate representative of the patient.

The Right To Privacy Concerning Your Medical Care Program. Those not directly involved in your care must have your permission to be present during case discussions, examinations or treatments. Your remarks and revelations also must be accepted in the strictest confidence. In addition, your health records are your private property and should not be made available to anyone not directly involved in your care.

The Right Not To Settle For A Single Opinion. Two opinions — that of your family physician and a surgeon's — are a must when it comes to surgery, and a third opinion, obtained independently of the other two, makes good sense.

Except in a life-or-death situation, there is usually ample time to consult another surgeon, a procedure which, says Dr. Lawrence P. Williams, prominent West Coast surgeon, could reduce the number of operations anywhere from 20 to over 60 percent.

Be sure the surgeon is qualified. According to an editorial by Dr. Eric W. Fonkalsrud, in the American Medical Association's Archives of Surgery, about half of the operations performed in the U.S. are being done by doctors not certified for surgery by an American Specialty Board. While this does not necessarily mean these doctors are not qualified to perform surgery, it does indicate that they haven't taken the rigorous examinations required of surgeons who want this certification.

The Right To Know Medical Costs And Fees. In fact, the President's Price Commission has asked that signs indicating willingness to discuss fees be displayed in doctors' offices. And you have the right to ask exactly what your medical care will cost.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined

Viceroy

Rich, full flavor is the promise that Viceroy makes.

And it's a promise that Viceroy keeps.

The method for delivering flavor is as simple as it is smart.

Instead of using stronger tobacco,
Viceroy uses more tobacco, and a lower "tar" blend
than Winston or Marlboro.

The result is a mild, fully packed cigarette with an extra satisfying taste. And, yes, lower "tar" than Marlboro or Winston.

More Tobacco, Less 'Tar'
than Winston or Marlboro.

"Formula T-M" Therapeutic Multi-Vitamins With Minerals

To acquaint you with the amazing savings on our formula, comparable to national brands, we want to call your attention to our "Formula T-M," which has identical potency and formula to Squibb's Theragan-M. But, compare the prices! Many physicians recommend this type of formula because it has high therapeutic vitamin potency—plus added benefits of minerals.

What's Your Credit IQ

Who knows more about credit — men or women? According to a national survey by American Express, the answer is neither. Although men have legally been managing the family assets far longer than women, they proved equally ignorant when asked to answer 10 basic questions about credit.

Questions most often missed by respondents, most of whom carried credit cards, were those concerning which charge cards do not have a preset spending limit and a cardholder's liability for lost or stolen charge cards. (In case you're not sure of the answers, bank cards set a spending limit while travel and entertainment cards don't. And if a card is stolen, you're only liable for a maximum $50 per card regardless of how extensively it is misused.)

If you think you could use a brushup on credit facts, here are 2 booklets that, despite their titles, are not for women only. For a free copy of Women: To Your Credit, write: Commercial Credit, Baltimore, Md. 21202 or call toll-free (800) 638-1900. If you'd like a copy of American Express's free booklet, The Credit Handbook for Women, write: American Express Co., Dept. 115-FW, P.O. Box 927, New York, N.Y. 10010.

Toys That Teach Kids

When is a toy not a toy? When it's a learning aid like Scamper the Climbing Squirrel, a "toy" designed to encourage deaf children to speak. As the child attempts to speak into a telephone headset, the squirrel climbs the fiber-glass tree by means of a voice-operated relay. And since he climbs in proportion to the sound the child makes, a teacher can use the squirrel to elicit the desired voice level.

Scamper was developed by Donald Swarthout of Biloxi, Miss., with the help of fellow members of Telephone Pioneers, a club of telephone-industry employees involved in community-service activities.

Charles Gammel, director of the Magnolia Speech School for the Deaf in Jackson, Miss., one of several schools using the animals, says, "Since we start working with children around age 2, we try to approach everything through the use of play. The squirrel works so well that we have one 2-year-old who will do anything just so she can work with it."

The Biggest Thanksgiving Dinner Of Them All?

When it comes to Thanksgiving dinners, Refer Switchboard believes the more the merrier. Last year 900 people joined volunteers from Refer, a 24-hour crisis intervention center in Albany, N.Y., for a soup-to-nuts Thanksgiving feast (500 dinners were also home-delivered). Spokesperson Jeff Katz says that during the dinner Refer served 531 lbs. of turkey, 70 lbs. of donated butternut squash and scores of homemade desserts.

"Ours isn't just a charity affair," says Katz. "If someone wants to come to have Thanksgiving dinner with their neighbors, they're welcome." Katz thinks last year's dinner was the largest in the country and called Guinness only to find that they don't have a record for the largest Thanksgiving dinner. But this year Refer expects to break its own record — word of mouth has talked the dinner up enough so that they plan on serving somewhere between 2,500 and 3,000 meals.

Chances are your community won't be having as large a celebration, but if you're interested in helping someone else have a happy holiday, check with local service groups to find out how you can pitch in.

Late Again

Why are some people never on time? According to Chicago psychiatrist David Dean Brockman, "Lateness is a serious problem with certain persons that requires a concerted effort by therapist and patient to deal with." Brockman says that for some people lateness may be an expression of unconscious hostility; the person shows how unconsciously angry he is by making the other person wait.

What should you do if you're habitually stood up? "There's no ready-made answer," says Brockman. "Many people just accept it as part of the relationship." But he adds that if you're willing to risk a breach, confronting the person about what he's doing might prod him to change.

How Art Is Helping Some Hospital Patients

The colorful pictures on the walls of New York's Hospital for Joint Diseases and Medical Center are doing a lot more than looking pretty — they're providing medical care for needy artists. The hospital is the first health-care facility to participate in a new nationwide program organized by Change Inc., a nonprofit corporation.

Anonymous donors are providing $10 million worth of art work, which will be given to participating hospitals. When needy artists receive care in one of the participating institutions, the cost of their care will be deducted from the value of the art.

However, artists won't be the only ones to benefit from the program. Harvey Machover, exec. director of the Hospital for Joint Diseases, says, "Art in the corridors will attract patients out of rooms, encouraging them to become ambulatory."

Quick Takes

An eye-opening statistic from a survey conducted by a major optical-products manufacturer — women with contact lenses are significantly more likely to have full-time careers than those who don't wear contacts....Advertisers appear to believe that women should be seen and not heard — men do more than 90% of the lucrative, off-camera voice-over roles in TV commercials. And the number of women in TV commercials has increased only slightly during the last 3 years, according to a study by the women's committee of the Screen Actors Guild.

Working may be hazardous to your health says a survey by the National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health. The study, conducted by trained inspectors who visited 4,636 plants across the country, concludes that 1 out of 4 American workers is exposed on the job to some substance suspected of causing death or disease. Your car is the most expensive member of your family to maintain on a daily basis. The Labor Dept. says expenses for cars eat up 1/5 of the money spent by the average American family.

The family physician is going out of style, according to a Roper poll, which reports that 2 out of 3 Americans now regard hospital emergency rooms as interchangeable with their doctors' offices for general treatment. Most of those surveyed said they would take a broken arm to an emergency room before calling a doctor, and 14% would choose an emergency room even for minor medical complaints like chills and fever.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined
That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

I'm realistic. I only smoke Facts.

FACT 1: We don't want your taste buds to go to sleep.

FACT reduces the aldehyde* gases that we believe muddy the flavor of fine tobaccos so you can enjoy wide-awake taste.

FACT 2: We have smoke scrubbers in our filter.

These Purite® scrubbers work like magnets to reduce these same aldehydes and let the fine flavor come through.

FACT 3: We have a patent on flavor in low 'tar' cigarettes: #3828800.

Our Purite filter helps deliver flavor in a way so new we've been able to patent it.

Add it all up. Low gas, low 'tar', great flavor.
That's a FACT.

*Aldehydes include formaldehyde, acetaldehyde.

Available in regular and menthol.
